ENVOY, WOMAN FREED ON BEER MAKING COUNT

Mexican Consul and His Sister-in-Law Not to Be Prosecuted.

BREW CONFISCATED AS HOME IS RAIDED

Immunity Question Raised; Official Active in Probe of Student Deaths.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 16 (A.P.).—City officials tonight dismissed charges of possession and manufacture of beer, which were lodged against Senor Hermenegildo Valdez, Mexican consul, following an investigation last Monday.

Decision to dismiss the charges came a few hours after Senor Valdez had been booked at police headquarters and released on his own recognizance. Miss Kay Barrett, his sister-in-law, in whose home the alleged beer was found, was booked on similar charges, and it also was decided not to press the charges against her.

Decision to drop the case was reached after John McClelland, city manager, had conferred with John Watt, chief of police.

Members of the police vice squad, said they found "46 pints of beer and eight gallons of beer making," at Miss Barrett's home, where they found Valdez.

Prominent In Slaying Probe.

Senor Valdez was one of his government's investigator's in the recent slayings at Ardmore of two Mexican students, Emilio Cortes Rubio, kinsman of the Mexican president, and Manuel Comez, son of a Mexican lawyer. W. E. (Bill) Guess, a deputy sheriff, later was acquitted of a murder charge in connection with the slayings.

Senor Valdez, when taken to police headquarters late today with Miss Barrett, maintained that as an official representative of the Mexican government, he was immune from the prohibition laws of this country.

O. A. Ragland, member of the police vice squad that visited Miss Barrett's home, i na report filed today said the raid occurred Monday night.

The charges against Senor Valdez were made by Walter Benson, former justice of the peace and a neighbor of the consul. The complaint was signed by Mike Foster, municipal judge, shortly before the two were taken to police headquarters.

Other Charges Dismissed.

Mr. McClelland and Police Chief chief Watt ordered the charges dismissed after they had been informed by Albert McRill, municipal attorney, that it would be impossible to obtain a conviction in a city court. Senor Valdez possessed immunity under diplomatic relations statutes, even if guilty, the attorney said.

Although police station records listed Senor Valdez and Miss Barrett as having been arrested, McClelland and Watt said no "official charges" had been filed against them.

Senor Valdez was booked at headquarters as lying at the same address as Miss Barrett. He gave a different address today.

"I don't understand the situation," Senor Valdez said tonight. I have done nothing."

"Monday night I was visiting at the home of Miss Barrett with another couple. We were drinking beer and eating sandwiches when the officers walked in. They searched the house and found the beer which they poured out, over my protest."

Did Not Know of Arrest.

Senor Valdez said he did not know he was being arrested this afternoon. Miss Barrett telephoned him, he said, and told him she had been asked to go to the police station, and asked him to go with her.

"I have never been served with a warrant," Senor Valdez said, "and didn't even know I was booked at the police station."

A. A. Crossley, one of the Police Squad, said they carried a search warrant to Miss Barrett's home, but Senor Valdez asserted he was not served with any warrant at the time of the raid.

Miss Barrett, a nurse, and sister of Senor Valdez' wife, who died two years ago, tonight attributed the police raid to "spiteful, busy-body neighbors."

She also said the police failed to produce a search warrant. They arrived at her home shortly after she and Senor Valdez, with another couple, had returned from a swimming party, Miss Barrett said.

Mexico City Informed.

(Associated Press.)

Information that H. Valdez, Mexican Consul at Oklahoma City, and Miss Kay Barrett were boked by police on charges of possessing and manufacturing beer was given Ambassador Tellez of Mexico yesterday by telephone.

Mr. Telles communicated his information to Mexico City and sought further details from Oklahoma City.

The State Department had received no formal advices on the arrests.

Legal officials cited the international law providing that in the absence of a treaty, foreign consuls are not immune to arrest. The United States and Mexico have no such treaty.

U. S. Court Has Jurisdiction.

Mr. Valdez could not be tried, however, in a State court, the law giving

Army Officer Injured In Polo Contest Dies

Col. Willis V. Morris, Hurt Last Saturday When Pony Fell on Him During Match With Meadowbrook Club Vipers, Succumbs.

Mineola, N. Y., July 17 (A.P.).—Col. Willis V. Morris, Army polo star, injured by a fall of his pony in a match at Meadowbrook Country Club on Saturday, died tonight in Nassau County Hospital.

The game last Saturday was between an Army team headed by the colonel, and the Meadowbrook Vipers, captained by Bradley Martin. Both captains were playing back.

Col. Morris and Mr. Martin collided and both were thrown from their mounts. The colonel's pony then rolled over on him. When the injured Army man was picked up he was unconscious and suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Although 55 years old, Col. Morris, often referred to as "the father of U. S. Army polo," still was rated as one of the country's best backs. He had been playing for nearly 30 years.

His career as a polo player started when he was a young lieutenant with the Sixth Cavalry, in 1903. He played for four years at West Point, two years in the Philippines, three years with the Eighth Corps Area Team at Omaha, Nebr.; a year at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and three years with the War Department Team in Washington.

Last year Col. Morris was in charge of the American Army Officers' Team that visited Argentina, winning one tournament and finishing high up in another.

He was born in Indiana January 12, 1876. He entered West Point from the State of Washington in 1896 and was graduated in 1900 as a second lieutenant of Cavalry.

In 1917, when the United States entered the World War, he was a major of cavalry serving in the Philippines. He was given the rank of lieutenant colonel, assigned to the inspector general's department and sent to Vladivostock as inspector general of the American troops in Siberia in 1918.

He returned to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., in 1919, served three years with the Eighth Corps Area in Omaha and in 1923 was assigned for a year to the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth.

He was transferred to the office of thec hief of Cavalry in Washington, where he was stationed three years. In 1928 he attended the Army War College in Washington. He received the rank of colonel in January, 1929, and was placed in command of the Second Cavalry at Fort Riley, Kans.

Later that year he was brought to Governor's Island as assistant chief of staff for military training in the Second Corps Area.

Col. Morris is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Clark Ruffner and Mrs. L. F. Thompson, both of Fort Riley, Kans., and one son, William Morris, of New York.

INQUIRY OF REPORT CAUSING ROW ASKED

Lamont Urges Fair Study of Method Denounced in Hall Attack.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont yesterday asked the American Economic Association to make a thorough and impartial investigation of the department's methods in preparing a report on the balance of international payments of the United States for 1930.

Accuracy of the report was sharply criticized recently by Dr. Ray O. Hall, whose dispute with his superiors in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce over the report led to his dismissal.

Action of Secretary Lamont in asking that the American Economic Association appoint a committee of recognized economists to study and report on the methods used in preparing the disputed sections of the report was taken on recommendation of F. M. Feiker, director of the finance division of the bureau where Dr. Hall had been employed in preparation of the report.

Mr. Feiker's recommendation was contained in an eight-page public reply to the criticism made by Dr. Hall, in the course of which admission was made that revisions had been made of the Hall report, but this revision was declared necessary because of the arbitrary procedure used by Dr. Hall in his effort to prove his contention.

Dr. Hall had sought, Mr. Feiker said, to have incorporated in the report an expression of his personal views "on such unrelated matters as private banking and foreign investment policy, criticism of other Government departments and the assumed effect of prohibition."

"A Government department," the statement continued, "is not a collection of pulpits from which its staff may lecture promiscuously other Government departments or criticize accepted national policies. For that variety of 'academic freedom' there is opportunity elsewhere, where restraints of collaborative responsibility do not apply.

"The Department of Commerce has had and will have no difficulty in enlisting the cooperation of scholars of the highest standing whose common sense recognizes this very obvious requirement of public service.

"When temperamental eccentricities lead any employe of this department to use official publications as a vehicle for expressing publicly personal opinions and to embarrass our relations with other Government units unnecessarily, his separation from the service is clearly in the public interest."

There was no falsification of figures in the report published, the figures published being Dr. Hall's own, it was said. One item of $175,000,000 mentioned by Dr. Hall in the public criticism, Mr. Feiker said, "was a last-minute adjustment made by him in an effort to reduce a discrepancy of $374,000,000 in his final balance" and "the sole issue is a rejection of this item on the grounds that the investigation upon which the adjustment was based was entirely inadequate and the method by which he arrived at the estimate was unsound and unsupported by facts." It is "obviously unreasonable" for any specialist to seek to put his personal views on private banking, prohibition effects and other matters in an official publication, Mr. Feiker said.

"One specific study, referred to by Dr. Hall as 'suppressed,'" Mr. Feiker said, was deferred in recognition of the temporary responsibility borne by the United States Government for avoiding, during its service as mediator in a boundary dispute, any appearance of influencing a difficult negotiation. A second study, asserted by him to have 'brought about the overthrow of the Colombian government,' can not be identified in view of the fact that there has been no such unsettlement of a Colombian government within the last 25 years."

MILLION SLUSH FUND CHARGED IN CANADA

Ottawa, Ont., July 17 (A.P.).—Testimony was given before a parliamentary investigating committee today that approximately $1,000,000 was contributed to the campaign funds of political parties in Canada by the Beauharnais Power Co. and its president, R. O. Sweezey.

The largest contribution—between $600,000 and $700,000—was made to Senator Haydon and Senator Raymond for the Liberal party by Mr. Sweezey himself, Sweezey testified.

Other contributions which he told of having been made were: Approximately $100,000 from the company to the Liberal party; $125,000 in Victory bonds to John Aird, jr., of Toronto, for the Ontario Conservative party, and $30,000 to the Conservative party of Quebec.

All payments were made a short time prior to the last general election, Sweezey said. He also told the committee he had been asked to contribute $200,000 to Gen. McCrea, the Federal Conservative organizer, but had not done so.

Mr. Aird testified that the $125,000 Victory bonds which Mr. Sweezey had said were intended for the Ontario Conservative party was a personal payment which he kept as a fee for advice he said he had given Sweezey.

At Montreal, Jacques Cartier, Conservative organizer-in-chief in Quebec Province, said he knew "nothing about" an alleged donation of $20,000 to Conservative campaign funds in Quebec by the Beauharnais Power Co.

Studio Blast Injures 8 in Gang Row Filming

Los Angeles, July 17 (A.P.).—Eight motion picture actors and spectators were recovering today from slight injuries received last night during the filming of a gangster picture when a shell exploded prematurely. Bits of steel showered actors and spectators.

G. P. Lloyd, brother of Harold Lloyd, film comedian, a spectator, suffered an eye injury. Others returned home after being released from a hospital. Caddo Productions, Inc., officials said they were filming the reenactment of the Valentine Day massacre in Chicago.

Alfonso Hopeful Of Return to Spain

Will Not Abdicate Rights to Infante Don Juan, Friends Learn.

Santander, Spain, July 17 (A.P.).—A Spanish marques and retired lieutenant colonel, who refused to allow his name to be made public, returned today from a visit to former King Alfonso at Fountainebleau, France, and quoted the king as saying he would come back to Spain when justice was accorded him.

"I will not abdicate my rights to the Infante Don Juan, because that would admit an uncommitted crime," the marques quoted Alfonso. "I am willing to give my palace in Santander to the city on condition that it serve a social purpose.

"Those attributing to me a great fortune are mistaken, because I am suffering the economic difficulties of all political exiles."

WHEAT DUMPED IN FIELDS, DUE TO PRICE DROP

MORATORIUMS AID FIGHT OF GROWERS

Elevators and Markets Get Less Grain; Local Merchants Extend Credits.

Hutchinson, Kans., July 17 (A.P.). Heaping of great pyramids of golden grain upon the ground is the answer of many Kansas farmers to offers of 25 cents a bushel for their wheat crop.

As the mounds of threshed grain daily grow in number and size, the determination of the producer to withhold his grain from a depressed market is further reflected by dwindling receipts at both rural elevators and important terminal markets. Kansas City received only 1,043 cars today, compared with 1,292 yesterday and 1,320 a week ago. Only 220 cars reached Wichita, compared with 377 last Friday. Hutchinson's arrivals dropped from 972 to 711.

Elevator men said further declines might be expected, as receipts today represented cars loaded on the wheat frontier several days ago. Normally, with harvest drawing to a close, receipts rise sharply.

Moratoriums Aid Dumping.

The dumping of grain upon the ground instead of the market has been made possible in many localities by individual debt moratoriums, arranged by chambers of commerce, bankers, merchants and other business leaders.

Where no general moratoriums have been entered upon to prevent the necissity of farmers' selling immediately to meet pressing obligations, many individual merchants have made offers of succor, accepting grain in trade and in payment of debts at prices from 10 to 20 cents in advance of local markets.

Among such offers is that of a Larned, Kans., barber who announced he would trade his home for wheat at the rate of 50 cents a bushel.

At other points, however, against popular approval perhaps, farmers are being forced to sell by holders of mortgages on their crops.

Collector Hauls Wheat.

At Dighton, Kans., yesterday a collector for an implement company found it necessary to haul a farmer's grain to market himself.

He was unable to find anyone regularly in the hauling business, who would accept the job.

Due to the semiarid climate of much of the wheat belt, grain men say, the outdoor storage will not be as wasteful as might be supposed.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Stone, of the Farm Board, issued a formal statement yesterday to emphasize that stabilization wheat is not being sold in the Southwest in competition with the new crop.

"The board is doing and will continue to do everything it can under the law to help farmers meet their present difficult situation," he reiterated.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department said present prospects and indicated demand point to another

NATION IS HELD THREATENED BY RAIL DECREASE

L. & N. President Makes Assertion to Bolster Rate-Boost Plea.

INDUSTRIAL AID SEEN IF PRICE IS INCREASED

(Associated Press.)

Dwindling railroad earnings were represented as "a potential threat to the entire financial and industrial structure of the Nation" yesterday in testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

W. R. Cole, president of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, made this assertion to bolster the plea of the carriers for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

While hearings on the petition were in progress, the commission ordered a revision of live stock rates on Western roads, including numerous decreases.

Scandret Is Questioned.

H. A. Scandret, president of the Milwaukee, was questioned yesterday on the condition of the Western roads. He read masses of statistics into the record.

An effort to inject the railroad wage situation into the hearing was blocked by Commissioner Meyer, who is presiding. An attorney opposing the increase asked Scandrett if he did not think railroad wages were too high.

Before the executive could answer Meyer interposed that the present case should be considered on the basis of present wages as railroad wages are under jurisdiction of "another body." The United States Mediation Board handles such questions.

Situation In South.

Cole read a prepared statement outlining the situation of the Southern carriers. Credit standings, he said, are controlled by railroad earnings and fixed charges. He called attention to the statutes of some States requiring railroads to earn one and one-half times their fixed charges for five out of six years immediately preceding before they are legal investments for insurance companies and mutual savings banks.

Earnings of Southern railways in 1930 were only 1.35 times fixed charges, he said, adding that when the investment requirements are considered, "this figure of Southern earnings assumes the gravest importance."

"With the enormous decrease in railroad earnings during the past year below those of 1930," he continued, "it is evident that the availability of most railroad bonds for such investments is not only seriously threatened but will certainly be destroyed in some way is not found to improve railway earnings.

Difficult to Overestimate.

"It would be difficult to overestimate the potential threat to our entire financial and industrial fabric which this situation discloses."

Commissioner Lewis suggested while Cole was testifying that a good deal of the troubles of the roads might be due to "a surplus of transportation."

"If it were not for trucks, buses and other forms of transportation," Lewis asked, "would this so-called de-

Small Potatoes, Comment Of Police on Uniform Rule

Philadelphia Naval Reserve Officer Dismissed for Wearing U. S. Service Clothing in Rum Raid, by Order of Secretary Adams.

Philadelphia, July 17 (A.P.).—Director Lemuel B. Schofield, of the department of public safety, said today the action of the Navy Department in dismissing a Philadelphia policeman from the Naval Reserve because he wore a naval uniform in doing police duty, was to his mind, "small potatoes on the part of the United States Navy."

Rear Admiral L. A. Bostwick, commandant of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, today called on Mayor Harry A. Mackey with a message from Secretary of the Navy Adams asking his cooperation to prevent misuse of the Navy uniform. The mayor said it was not done with the sanction of the city administration and would not happen again.

Director Schofield, in a formal statement, said: "This is a mountain in a molehill. It was stirred up and engineered by wet propagandists and their pleas fell upon sympathetic ears when they reached Bostwick and Adams."

The policeman is Charles T. Lang. A statement was made in court recently when an alleged bootlegger was being tried for a liquor law violation that Lang wore the uniform of a petty officer in trapping the alleged offender, and the incident was reported to the Navy Department.

Schofield said there is no policy in the police bureau to use Army or Navy uniforms, and that he had "seen no evidence that it had been done in this case."

"We are trying to enforce the Snyder act in Philadelphia," said Schofield, referring to the State liquor enforcement act, "but violations of that act are also violations of the Federal law. It seems to me the United States should help to enforce the United States laws, rather than attempt to hamper the Philadelphia police by pecking at them in this way."

In reply to a question, the director said he would not take steps to discharge the policeman.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Adams of the Navy has ordered the discharge from the Naval Service of Charles P. Lang, Philadelphia policeman and member of the Naval Reserve alleged to have worn his naval uniform in obtaining prohibition evidence.

The department yesterday made public a letter sent to Rear Admiral Lucius A. Bostwick, commandant of the Philadelphia Naval District, announcing this action and directing him to confer personally with the mayor "to endeavor to secure his cooperation in preventing a recurrence of this episode."

The Secretary also requested that the department be informed of the result of this interview.

DAWES WILL ATTEND LONDON DEBT PARLEY; GERMANY GAGS PRESS

5 POLITICAL PARTIES SCORE PARIS TERMS

Berlin, July 17 (U.P.).—President Paul von Hindenburg clamped a censorship on the German press tonight in an attempt to prevent the distribution of alarming stories about Germany's financial crisis.

The aged soldier and statesman, who has served his country in turbulent times before, issued a decree providing that newspapers must publish statesments from the Reichsbank and state government just as they are given out and without editorial comment or elaboration. The government may specify not only the page the statement is printed on, but the size of type in which it appears.

Publications disobeying President von Hindenburg's decree will be subject to confiscation.

Announcement of this latest in the series of drastic decrees by which the president hopes to avert a nation-wide panic was made soon after Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius left for Paris. There they hope to negotiate terms with the French under which Germany can make a financial recovery.

Parties Demand Rejection.

The chancellor and foreign minister boarded their train at a heavily guarded railroad station. Germany's economic recovery may be decided by their conferences with international statesmen at Paris.

The statesmens' train was scarcely out of Berlin when five political parties issued warnings tht France's "humiliating political demands" must be rejected. The parties published a statement saying that any German government would be ousted that agreed to abandon Germany's customs union with Austria or to curtail Germany's battleship program.

The parties signing the statement were the Peoples Party, Christian Social Party, Gottfried Treviranus' Party, Economic Party and Landvolk Party. Three of them are represented in the cabinet.

Statement of Bruening.

Berlin, July 17 (A.P.).—As he left tonight for his momentous negotiations in Paris, Chancellor Bruening issued the following statement:

"Now that the government of the Reich has adopted the necessary measures to meet the dangers threatening from the heavy perturbation of the German money and credit systems, the possibility offers itself to me to bring to realization my wish, already expressed in my last radio talk, for a personal exchange of opinions with the French statesmen.

"The foreign minister and I are proceeding to Paris with the firm will to enter upon an open mutual interchange of views, the result of which,

Blast Rocks Broadway Theater, Hotel District

New York, July 17 (U.P.).—A violent explosion in the basement of a midtown garage rocked the entire theatrical district late today. Several persons were knocked down or struck by flying glass. Scores of windows were shattered.

The Mansfield and Forrest hotels were shaken by the blast. Members of the House of David Baseball Team were in the Mansfield, but were not hurt.

Detroit Battles Blaze Sweeping Auto Factory

Detroit, July 17 (U.P.).—All fire-fighting equipment in Detroit was summoned to the Studebaker Motor Co branch factory in the center of the city tonight, where flames were reported sweeping the auto plant, the Michigan Central Railroad station and five other factories.

One Hurt as Squall Smashes Dirigible

Traverse City, Mich., July 17 (U.P.). A sudden squall wrecked the Goodyear dirigible Puritan late today at its mooring mast on the Fairgrounds of the National Cherry Festival reducing it to a tangled mass of fabric and twisted metal.

One man whose name could not be learned was injured when he was thrown from the control car. Pilot H. S. Shepard and two copilots were in the gondola, but escaped unhurt.

The blimp had been carrying passengers half an hour before the accident. It was landed and moored when a storm threatened. Despite efforts of a ground crew of 50 men and dozens of volunteers, the ship was smashed by the wind against the mooring mast.

Goodyear officials said the craft could probably be salvaged. Damage was estimated at $12,000.

CHARLES G. DAWES

ENVOYS OF GERMANY REACH PARIS TODAY

First Visit by High Officials Since Versailles Will Deal With Crisis.

Paris, July 17 (A.P.).—For the first time since the days of the Versailles Treaty negotiations a German chancellor and his foreign minister are coming to Paris tomorrow.

Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius will be met at the train by Premier Laval and Aristide Briand. Almost immediately they will go into conference with the French officials in connection with Germany's financial situation.

Premier Laval will give them an outline of the plan decided upon today at a meeting attended by French, American and British representatives. On Sunday morning there will be another session of the four powers, and if these conferences result satisfactorily, all hands will go on to London for a conference of seven nations on Monday evening.

Tomorrow the German statesmen will hear at first hand the conditions which France imposes upon her participation in extending financial assistance. Those conditions have not been made public, but it is understood the background of the French proposals will be that any loan must be guaranteed by German customs receipts and that some sort of international controlling committee must supervise Germany's expenditures somewhat in the fashion of the Dawes plan.

The plan presented at today's three-cornered conference had been worked out by the French, but was agreed to in its final form by Secretary of State Stimson and Foreign Secretary Henderson. In main outline it calls for an immediate loan of $500,000,000 to the Reichsbank.

This sum would be advanced in the same manner as the $100,000,000 lent last month by the Bank for International Settlements and extended last Monday. The participants in that loan were the Bank for International Settlements, the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve Bank. Italy and Belgium would be expected to participate in the new loan.

Both loans, totaling $600,000,000, will be repaid as soon as possible by the proceeds of a 10-year foreign loan launched by Germany and guaranteed by the United States, France, England, Italy and Belgium, under the provisions of the plan.

It was also reported that the French plan contained a guarantee for future reparations payments after the Hoover holiday year from customs receipts.

Even without this condition, it was admitted here, the renewal of financial control in a more strict and more direct manner than was exercised by S. Parker Gilbert, as agent general for reparations, was a difficult pill for Germany to swallow.

It was believed here that political guarantees would play a lesser role in the conversation with the Germans than financial guarantees.

Andrew W. Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, arrives in Paris tomorrow and is expected to sit with Mr. Stimson and Walter E. Edge, American Ambassador, in the negotiations.

An equivocal situation still existed tonight regarding the French answer to the British invitation for a conference in London Monday and it was not expected the question would be settled before Sunday.

This gave added importance to tomorrow's meeting of the French and German statesmen, as the representatives of the other powers were in the position of waiting for them to shake hands politically and come to an understanding which would permit political truce so that the hard facts of Germany's financial difficulties might be dealt with.

Tomorrow's conversations between the French and Germans are expected to begin with an explanation by the Germans of the financial aid the Reich expects. Thereupon the French will present their plan and will develop whatever political considerations are entailed.

3 Illinois Bank Bandits Captured After Slaying

Buckley, Ill., July 17 (A.P.).—Three hours after they robbed the Buckley State Bank of $5,200 and killed a deputy sheriff today, three robbers were captured, the money recovered and officials of several counties were searching for the fourth man.

Ambassador Leaves Next Week to Strengthen Representation.

U. S. SHUNS TANGLE IN POLITICAL TALK

America Will Confine Participation to Economic Problems.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday enlisted the assistance of Ambassador Dawes to strengthen still further America's representation at the London conference of ministers.

In addition the Chief Executive has taken the position that active American participation must be confined to economic problems. This was made known after several transatlantic telephone conversations between Mr. Hoover and Secretary Stimson, at Paris.

While a wide range of attending political questions is expected by the administration to be raised in connection with the formulation of a plan for economic relief for Germany, any suggestions which the American delegates may put forward on such issues will be wholly informal.

The President's taboo on active American participation in political commitments or guarantees was described by a high administration authority as a specific application of the general American policy against entanglement in Europe's politics.

U. S. Part Emphasized.

Acting Secretary Castle of the State Department emphasized yesterday that the part of the conference's work in which the United States was interested was that of banking and economics.

He added that Ambassador Dawes would sail for Europe July 22 on the Mauretania. The Ambassador was one of the principal formulators of the original Dawes plan of reparations which was supplanted by the Young plan. He has been on leave from his post attending to private affairs in Chicago.

Besides these, Ambassador Gibson, American Envoy to Belgium, is in London attending a conference of experts called to adjust the unsettled details of the Hoover moratorium plan.

In one of his telephone calls, Secretary Stimson told the Chief Executive without comment of the French position on political guarantees in connection with economic relief for Germany.

Thre Principal Demands.

Unofficial reports from Paris have outlined guarantees in connection with economic relief for Germany.

Unofficial reports from Paris have outlined three principal French demands. They included a customs guarantee for a projected $500,000,000 loan; maintenance of the present level of the German military budget for ten years and maintenance of the status quo in political questions for a similar period.

While there was no official comment on the plan's political aspects, it was broadly hinted today it would be rejected by Secretary Stimson if it involves official American participation.

One role which officials here expect the United States to play is that of endeavoring to get the French and Germans to an understanding of questions which have increased in intensity during the past few weeks. Several times recently, the administration has hinted broadly that it feels a Franco-German understanding is necessary.

Senate Republican leaders received with gratification the announcement by President Hoover that American participation in the London conference would be limited strictly to economic questions.

Confident of Adherence.

Senators Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Bingham, of Connecticut, both expressed confidence that this limitation would be adhered to. Senator Bingham warned that any involvement in European politics would be a mistake.

The State Department, which is always meticulous in its choice of words, said it did not regard the President's making known his position to the Secretary as an "instruction." A high department official said, however, that the President's stand had been made known both by telephone and formal cablegram.

Chicago, July 18 (A.P.).—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes will leave for London next week to assist Secretaries Stimson and Mellon at the minister's conference, it was said at his office at the Central Trust Co.

Will Leave Next Week.

Ambassador Dawes was not in the city, but his secretary said he had received President Hoover's request to return to London and would leave for his London post about "the middle of the week."

The former Vice President returned to this country from England late in May, with the announced intention of attending to personal business and looking over the plans for the 1933 world's fair, of which he is chairman of the finance committee.

Not long after his return Ambassador Dawes took a prominent part in the night-and-day deliberations of Chicago's leading financiers, which resulted in the First National Bank absorbing the Foreman-State Bank and in the merger of the Central Trust with the National Bank of the Republic. The Central Trust has long been known as the "Dawes" Bank, and the ambassador retained a title in the institution even after he went abroad.

Appeal for Annulment Denied by Mrs. Church

Newport, R. I., July 17 (U.P.).—Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church tonight denied she will appeal to the Holy Rota in Rome for an annulment of her marriage to Frederick Church, of Boston, in 1927.

Mrs. Church's statement was in contradiction to recent reports that a petition for annulment would be made prior to her proposed marriage this fall to Henry D. Phelps, of this city. Mrs. raham Fair Vanderbilt, mother of Mrs. Church, was reported to be in Rome at this time.

""Th'is impending exchange of views can be the more fruitful since at the same time we shall have the opportunity also of meeting the American Secretary of State and the British foreign minister.

"From Paris we shall, at the invitation of the British government, proceed to London in order to continue the exchange of ideas there.

"I hope that these persona contacts will help clear the situation and give a visible proof of international solidarity.

Drastic Edict Against Flight of Capital Due

This assurance was broadcast tonight by Gottfried Treviranus, cabinet minister without portfolio, who announced the cabinet had decided to relax the bank regulation beginning Monday.

Under the new ruling 20 marks may be withdrawn daily from savings account and a maximum of 100 marks from checking accounts.

Herr Treviranus appealed to his fellow countrymen to be patient and to remember that the crisis can not be overcome in a few days. After the disastrous and persistent withdrawal of foreign credits, he said, Germany is like a man who has suddenly lost 40 pounds in weight and needs a period of rest and quiet in which to get back on his feet.

To expedite this upbuilding process the government will issue tomorrow a drastic decree against the flight of capital. The decree will grant amnesty to all who nervously bought foreign currencies in fear the German mark was headed for decline, providing they immediately declare their holdings of foreign money.

But those who don't will be punished with heavy fines, imprisonment and loss of citizenship.

At the same time, to emphasize that now it is the duty of the good German to keep his money inside the country so far as possible, a special passport tax of 100 marks (about $23) will be levied, beginning tomorrow, on all outbound citizens who feel they need recreation abroad.

Herr Treviranus said the government knew this was stern treatment, "but without stern measures we won't pull through."

He warned that Germany must not expect that after a short recuperative period prewar prosperity would return again "for the war and the postwar period has cost us two-thirds our national wealth."

Only recently the State Department expressed formal regrets to the Mexican government over the sentencing of that country's consul in Chicago to jail for contempt of court. He was released shortly after being confined.

HITCH THREATENING LONDON CONFERENCE

France May Not Send Men Unless Present Terms Are Accepted.

London, July 17 (A.P.).—Great Britain views with some apprehension the French proposal that a $500,000,000 loan to Germany be guaranteed by German customs receipts, and in some authoritative quarters it is said that the French terms in their present form may not be acceptable here.

Arrangements for Monday's meetings of the principal debtor and creditor nations are proceeding, but a serious hitch threatens the plans for that conference.

Reports from Paris indicate the French are unwilling to come before Germany agrees in principle to the terms to be presented when Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius arrive there tomorrow. The absence of French representatives would seriously impede the work of such a conference, although all the other nations invited, including the United States, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Japan have accepted.

It is emphasized that there is no intention of staging the Monday meeting so that what the Berlin Nationalist press has called "second Versailles" would be imposed upon Germany.

No definite program for the meeting has been drawn and the conferees merely hope to come to an agreement on some form of aid for Germany so that the economic crisis in that country may not spread to others.

It is possible that this aid will take the form of a large credit, and certain political aspects are likely to enter into the negotiations, but at present the plans are vague.

Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, had a long talk with Prime Minister MacDonald about the German situation this morning, but neither disclosed what course their conversation had taken.

This morning also a committee of Young-plan experts met to consider that plan in relation to the Hoover moratorium, but adjourned after organizing a subcommittee to examine the question of German payments in kind. Sir Frederick Leith-Ross was chosen as chairman. Hugh S. Gibson, United States Ambassador to Belgium, is sitting in on the experts' sessions as an observer.

Mackay Wedding Today To Singer Is Rumored

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The New York Herald-Tribune says it was reported today that Clarence H. Mackay, chairman of the board of the Postal Telegraph & Cable Corporation, and Miss Anna Case, former soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co., will be married tomorrow morning at Mr. Mackay's Long Island estate.

Prague, July 17 (A.P.).—A church, school and 350 houses in the town of Vazeo were destroyed by fire today.

Soldiers undertook rescue and relief work. No casualties have been reported.

Front Pagers Step Aside For London's Conference

By JOHN J. DALY

HISTORIC London on Monday will welcome the greatest gathering of statemen since postwar treaties were signed, front pages of the world turned over to them.

To the American ear, finely attuned to the megaphoned voice in the ball parks, the international line-up has a familiar ring. Batteries for Today's Game are:

Great Britain—Henderson and MacDonald.

Belgium—Hymans and Renkin.

America—Stimson and Mellon.

That is as far as the national pastime will be recognized in London. If these gentlemen play anything it will be cricket.

Soon as the Secretary of the Treasury left the Riviera for London a better tone prevailed on the stock market. The pound sterling improved on the exchange. The bank rate continued at 2½ per cent.

Thus was the stage set.

These makers of history are meeting to ease Central Europe out of its economic travail.

Naturally, everybody in this country—including Texas Guinan and Al Capone—will watch the proceedings with interest, whatever the rate.

* * * *

THE big idea, however, is to clear the decks, get the work done, send these statesmen from the several nations back to their own desks, and turn the front pages of American newspapers over to their rightful owners—the racketeers, the murderers, the divorcons, and other accustomed occupants.

It was a courteous gesture for Ma Kennedy to give up her husband—What-a-Man Hudson—and for her daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson, to issue no statements. It was considerate of "Legs" Diamond to remain in his mountain retreat, and not expose himself to the danger of being shot, while the London conference makes ready; but the public must have action.

The First Page Calls.

'Twas mighty fine, too, of Charlie Michelson, press representative for the Left Wing, to keep down the rat-a-tat of machine-gun fire on the tariff wall while the King of England prepares a speech of welcome to the visiting firemen. However, it cannot always be quiet on the Potomac.

Chicago gunmen have been more than gracious. The only noise from that sector came from the whirring propellors of ships inaugurating the fastest airline schedule in the world—Chicago to Washington in 3 hours and 45 minutes; getting away from danger in a hurry. There was, too, an apparition on a stable wall that somewhat excited the usually calm nerves of the Chicagoans. As a whole, though, the city has been really exemplary, its citizenry representative of the best American traditions. Chicago will undoubtedly hear from the Lord Mayor.

NEW YORK gangdom, in honor of the occasion, declares a moratorium on murder. Brokers kept the bottom from falling out of Wall street. Broadway responded nobly. The theatrical district was practically deserted, only a slight movement in the movie houses; but this was to be expected. Not even a world flyer was welcomed by the Mayor's Welcoming Committee. This keeps radio channels clear and front pages open to world statesmanship. No wise-cracking from Jimmy Walker, no shooting in night clubs, no speech by Al Smith to delegations visiting the tower of the Empire State Building, no disturbance of the stratosphere.

From Reno comes word of room shortage. Since the six-week divorce and wide-open gambling laws went into effect, the boys and girls have been swooping down on the banks of the Truckee, seeking alimony. Until the pay off, house and apartment hunting is the big game. However, the divorcons are wearing rubber heels. The mayor of Reno has ordered extra layers of felt on the gaming tables, and forbids the snapping of fingers after the roll of the dice. This is supreme cooperation. Should the London conference fail the conferees can not blame it on Reno.

From the West Coast, information is that all press agents have been deported from Hollywood. They have gone to the Mexican bathing beaches and to quieter resorts along the border. Not a typewriter will click while Stimson and Mellon meet with the parchesi players of London. Thus are American statesmen assured of their countrymen and women's patriotic support and first-page notice.

How long this will last is problematical. Americans are an impatient people. They stand now like the Lacedaemonians in the gap of Thermopylae. They will stand so long, and no longer. After that they've got to get back their front pages.

Miss Kresge Is Bride Of Baron Carl Wikj

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The News says Catherine Kresge, daughter of the chain store magnate, and Baron Carl Carlson Wikj have been married in London and are honeymooning at Antibew, France.

The ceremony, at St. George's Church, on June 8, was attended only by the immediate families. The five Kresge children each received $5,000,000 from their father, and their mother $10,000,000 when the parents were divorced.

Service at the Cherrydale Baptist Church tomorrow will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. M. R. Japhet. At the morning service his subject will be, "A Great Wedding." In the evening he will preach on "A Great Allegory."

Alexandria Firemen Will Parade as Unit

The Alexandria Fire Department will participate in the parade at the Winchester convention of the Virginia State Firemen's Association in August as a department rather than in separate companies, but will not be eligible for prizes unless the Winchester Fire Department officials and the executive committee of the association reverse their decision.

Potomac Company No. 2, the only company which had agreed to march as a separate organization, has decided to join the other companies and form one unit.

Wind Fells Trees; 2 Killed, 8 Injured

Tenessee Storm Strikes Just After Governor Quits Ceremony.

Johnson City, Tenn., July 17 (A.P.). Two persons were killed and eight injured late today as a windstorm blew down several trees under which a crowd attending a road dedication program near here had taken refuge.

Gov. Henry H. Horton and other officials had left shortly before the storm broke.

Mrs. George H. Hughes, of Kingsport, wife of the general superintendent of the Borden Mills, and John Hamilton, Johnson City merchant, were those killed.

The injured are: Mrs. Charles A. Eberhart, Mrs. P. E. de Groat, Elliott Yancey and Miss Pauline Thompson, all of Kingsport, and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Boy, John Harwood and Edward Gate, all of Boones Creek. Part of the injured were taken to Kingsport and the others to Johnson City.

Mann Act Complain Lodged Against Soldier

John Duffy, 24-year-old soldier attached to Walter Reed Hospital, was charged with violation of the Mann act yesterday, following his arrest in company with another soldier and a 13-year-old girl. The trio were picked up by Thirteenth Precinct policemen three hours after the girl's mother reported her disappearance.

After being booked for investigation, the other soldier was released and Duffy subsequently charged. They were in an automobile when found.

Senate's Snuff Boxes Missing; More Slated

(United Press.)

The Senate's snuff boxes have disappeared.

This furniture is regarded as so essential to maintain the Senate's austere dignity that both of them will be replaced as soon as Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms John J. McGrain is able to find another pair.

McGrain does not know whether senators used them, but he had them filled sometimes as often as twice a week when the Senate was in session.

One was placed on the Republican side, near the exit from the chamber; the other on the Democratic side, and they have been there since senators have been there. Clay and Calhoun and Webster had snuff available, just as do the great ones of this day. The boxes are replaced every few years anyway.

The Supreme Court goes in for old-fashioned quill pens, and purchases quite a few, too, for they are popular as souvenirs.

Chinese Forbid Removal Of Antiques From Nation

(Associated Press.)

The Chinese government has moved to protect its ancient wonders by barring scientific expeditions which want to take them out of the country.

Yung Kwai, charge d'affaires of the Chinese Legation, said this was why the Chinese government had refused to allow further Mongolian explorations by the Central Asiatic Expedition, which Roy Chapman Andrews has headed for the American Museum of Natural History for the past ten years.

Yung Kwai said his government has no objection to scientific explorations purely for the purpose of adding to the world's knowledge, but that China wanted to protect its antiquities.

"They are trying to keep as many of those valuable antiquities in the country as possible," he said. "It is the same principle as the Italian government's refusal to allow its valuable paintings to be taken out of the country."

Gene Lamb, organizer of an expedition to northern Tibet to study the medicine of the Lamas, under whom the country remains unusually free from disease, announced recently that his plans had not been changed by the bar against Mr. Andrews.

JOBS AND PAY ROLLS DECREASED IN JUNE

Labor Department Statistics Indicate Conditions in Industry Are Worse.

(United Press.)

A 2 per cent drop in employment and a 4½ per cent decrease in industrial pay rolls during June were reported yesterday by the Labor Department. Employment is now estimated to be 72 per cent of the 1926 level, and wages in the aggregate 62 per cent of those paid in 1926.

These figures were based on statistics from fifteen major industrial groups. The largest and key group, manufacturing, showed a 2.6 drop in employes and 6.2 drop in pay rolls. Textiles dropped 2 per cent in employment.

The greatest decline in pay rolls, 11.6 per cent, was shown in the factories making automobiles and other vehicles.

Heavy Drop in Exports.

The Commerce Department meanwhile reported a further heavy drop in exports for June, with imports almost holding their own. Exports were $187,000,000, compared with $204,000,000 in May, while imports were $176,000,000, only $3,000,000 under the previous month. Exports have been falling off steadily since January.

This country's hoard of gold, held by some to affect buying power of other countries, continued to grow in June, with a net import of $63,848,000 of the yellow metal.

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department, in a new study of past and present depressions, showed that in the last five periods of hard times, business improvement advanced for 24 months and then receded for 12. The figures showed, according to the study, that the 1930-31 depression lasted as long or longer than other sharp declines "and it apparently reached lower levels than any of the others."

Suggest Slow Recovery.

The factors of the present situation suggest a slow recovery of business similar to that of 1894, it was stated.

"'It appears here," said the study, "that business revivals do not always bring about a cyclical rise in commodity prices in general." It is the changing industrial activity, affecting buying power, which is "the most important single factor" in causing short-time changes in the domestic demand for farm products, it was added.

REBUILT WARSHIPS WILL BE STEAMERS

Turbines to Be Used Instead of Electric Power Plants in Modernizing Craft.

(Associated Press.)

Three battleships, about to be modernized at a total cost of $30,000,000, will be driven by steam turbines, instead of the electric power plants with which all the large fighting ships since the war have been equipped.

In making this announcement yesterday, Rear Admiral Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the Bureau of Engineering, emphatically denied that this means the Navy is abandoning the electric drive for battleships.

Under the decision, the New Mexico, the first battleship in the world to be propelled by electricity, will be changed back to steam. The Mississippi and Idaho, the others slated for modernization, have always been steam driven

Reasons given for choosing steam were that $300,000 can be saved by installing the same type of steam propulsion machinery on all three ships and that reconstruction of interior hull arrangements to provide for electricity would be "prohibitively expensive."

Admiral Robinson added that the move would give the fleet a division of three ships of homogeneous engineering characteristics without undue sacrifice of funds or efficiency.

Sing Sing Chef Loses Job as Holdup Fails

Ossining, N. Y., July 17 (U.P.). George Geiger, civilian chef for the 2,400 inmates of Sing Sing Prison, lost his job today, but the chances are strong that he will continue his affiliations with the prison.

In the course of serving meals to the prisoners for the last four years, Geiger heard many tales of holdups and last night, it is charged, he decided to give it a try.

He walked into a butcher shop at Orangeburg, police said, and brandished a butcher knife as he demanded money. But a butcher knife is a poor weapon to use in holding up a butcher, especially when the butcher has a gun. Geiger was subdued and captured and charged with robbery.

Carol Again Snubs Helene As She Leaves Bucharest

Helene's departure was believed to mark the end of attempts at reconciliation which have delayed Carol's coronation. She left "with the consent" of the king, but neither Carol nor his government was represented in the small group that bade her farewell.

Helene took leave of her son at the station at Sinaia, obviously fighting to restrain her tears.

She intends to visit her mother in England and then proceed to Italy, possibly returning to Bucharest in October.

Carol's failure to send a representative to bid his wife good-by was the final humiliation he has accorded her in recent months. In the official communique announcing her departure from the country, Carol referred to Helene as "her highness," a title she enjoys as a Greek princess, and not as "her majesty," meaning the queen.

Helene was not invited to the wedding of Ileana and Count Anton. It was believed that Carol sought to embarrass her so that she would agree to an annulment of their divorce and be crowned with him. But Helene would not give in, and forbade members of her entourage to address her as the queen.

Helene divorced Carol after he had left Roumania to live in Paris with Mme. Magda Lupescu. When he returned to regain his right to the throne, Helene refused a reconciliation.

ITALY AND VATICAN SEEK BOMB-PLACER

Church and State United in Effort to Find Perpetrator of Outrage.

Vatican City, July 17 (U.P.).—The explosion of a time bomb in the Vatican Gardens today brought state and church closer together in a search for those responsible for the bombing. The bomb caused no damage and did not disturb Pope Pius XI.

It was discovered in St. Peter's Church by the sexton. It was in a tin box near the tomb of Pope Rezzohico Clement XIII. The Pope's guards carried it to the Belvedere section of the Vatican Gardens and stood watch over it at a safe distance until it exploded harmlesaly at 2 a. m. The explosion was sufficiently loud to arouse the Vatican neighborhood.

Premier Mussolini was informed of the explosion when he officiated at the start of the around-Italy air race this morning and ordered the prefect of Rome and Chief of Police Cocchia to take charge of the investigation.

Chief Cocchia conferred immediately with Col. Arcangelo de Mandato, chief of the Vatican police. A thorough search of the Vatican grounds failed to reveal any more bombs.

Pope Pius XI was informed of the explosion this morning by his private chamberlain. Members of the Pontifical Court said that the Pope was not awakened by the blast.

Anti-Fascist extremists were blamed for the bombing by Fascist leaders, while Vatican circles believed that Communists or Terrorists were guilty.

Rebel Killed, 3 Shot By Nicaraguan Guards

(Associated Press.)

A dispatch reporting a skirmish between a Nicaraguan guardia patrol, under Second Lieut. Cecil H. Clark, and a group of insurgents was received yesterday at the Navy Department.

One insurgent was killed, three wounded, and arms and other articles captured in the action, which took place near Tesonero, in western central Nicaragua, on July 9. There were no guardia casualties.

Swedish 2.2 Beer Is Praised by Hull

Peoria Representative to Propose Use in U. S. on Return, He Says.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 17 (A.P.). Impressed with the Swedish system of liquor restriction, Representative William Edgar Hull, of Peoria, Ill., announced tonight that on his return to America he would propose to Congress that beer, 2.2 per cent alcoholic by weight, be permitted in the United States as it is in this country.

"This beer should be sold at a cheap price with no restrictions or taxes," he said. "Such beer can not be considered intoxicating, as the experience of Sweden shows.

"After all, I have found the method which, without being prohibitive, acts strongly in favor of increased sobriety. This isn't only my impression, as the results of the Swedish system have been proved to me by figures showing that drunkenness has decreased two-thirds since 1913."

MEN FIGHT POSSES AND ONE IS KILLED

Alabama Governor Threatened Unless He Frees 8 in Attack on Girls.

Camp Hill, Ala., July 17 (A.P.).—A meeting of Negro radicals near here last night at which Gov. B. M. Miller was threatened with violence unless he liberated eight Negroes sentenced to execution for attacking two white girls led to clashes with posses today in which one man was killed, five wounded and seventeen arrested.

All was quiet here tonight after a hectic day in which officers and citizens searched the countryside for those suspected of having a part in the disorder.

Church Is Burned.

A church in which the meeting was held was burned soon afterward. Officers are investigating to determine if incendiarism was involved.

A posse of eight men reported from Notasulga, Ala., late today that they were still trailing a Negro from Chattanooga, Tenn., who for two months has been organizing Negroes in this section in what confiscated minute books described as "The Society for the Advancement of Colored People."

Chief of Police J. M. Wilson said late last night's meeting was in protest against the death sentence imposed against the eight Negroes at Scottsboro, Ala., in April for the attack on two girls near there.

This disorder, in which more than 200 shots were fired, were precipitated as Sheriff J. Kyle Young, Deputy Sheriff Jack Thompson and Wilson approached the church where the meeting was in progress.

Fired on Officers.

Ralph Gray, Negro, was on picket duty near the church, and fired on the officers as they sought to question him.

Sheriff Young was struck in the side by a charge from a shotgun, and Thompson was wounded in the wrist. Gray dropped under a volley from the officers and was left for dead. Later he was picked up by an unidentified motorist and taken home.

A physician who was called to treat him, notified a posse, and at the Gray home they were met with another volley. In the exchange Gray was struck several times and died en route to jail with eight companions who had taken refuge in the house.

CRASH IS AVERTED; WORLD HOP TO BEGIN

Pangborn and Herndon to Fly to Harbor Grace Before Daring Sea.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 17 (A. P.).—A tortoise of the skies is due to leave tomorrow on an attempt to beat the time of an aeronautical hare around the world.

The tortoise is the Red Bellanca of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, who dodged death this morning when the plane failed to rise with its heavy load of fuel.

The aerial hare is the Winnie Mae of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who girdled the globe in 8 days 15 hours and 51 minutes. The Bellanca is far slower than the Post-Gatty Lockheed, but Pangborn and Herndon expect to win the race, and for the same reason that the tortoise beat the hare in Aesop's Fable.

No Time to Be Lost for Sleep.

For though it had great speed the Winnie Mae is a one-man plane, its second occupant being entirely a navigator. For this reason time had to be taken out for sleep and so almost as much time was spent on the ground as in the air during the world flight.

But the Bellanca has dual controls, and when Pangborn wants to sleep Herndon can pilot, and vice versa. Like the tortoise of the fable they expect to keep plugging away, and so eventually beat the time of their fleeter opponent.

Until the mishap today Pangborn and Herndon planned to fly nonstop from New York to Europe, starting due east across the ocean. But that plan was revised when it was found they could not get in the air with enough fuel to accomplish this purpose. Now they plan to follow the same route as Post and Gatty, with a fuel stop at Harbor Grace.

To Follow Great Circle.

By their present course Pangborn and Herndon will fly from Newfoundland along the great circle route across the ocean and then to Moscow by way of London and Berlin, at either of which points they may stop again for fuel. And it is likely they will make other more frequent stops along the world course than they had planned, although they do not expect to equal the Post-Gatty schedule of thirteen intermediate stops.

When Pangborn saved the day, and incidentally the lives of his companion and himself, by dumping gasoline and so averting a crash this morning, they first thought of starting again within a few hours. Later, however, they decided to wait another day to try it again.

Their plane cruises at about 125 miles an hour, as against the 150 to 175 miles of which the Winnie Mae was capable.

Sightseeing Driver Is Held in Attack

Wide Acquaintanceship of Detective Leads to Arrest of Suspect.

Detective W. C. Grooms' wide acquaintanceship among Capital livery men and sightseeing drivers resulted in the arrest yesterday of Henry C. Robertson in connection with the criminal assault of an 18-year-old girl from Uniontown, Pa., Thursday. He was held for investigation.

Margaret Elizabeth Sclotney told police the driver of a sightseeing sedan had accosted her near the Capitol, induced her to join him on the pretext that he would help her find a job and then attacked her when they reached a lonely patch of woods near the city. She was taken to the Women's Bureau after making the report.

Detective Grooms, working on the description of the girl's assailant, narrowed the list of suspects down to two sightseeing drivers. One proved an alibi and the other, Robertson, was arrested early yesterday by park policemen after a lookout had been broadcast. He said that he lives at 325 East Capitol street.

Woman Urges Parents' Reform in Aiding Youth

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. Rushmore Patterson, prominent prohibitionist of New York and Washington, today admonished parents to mend their own ways "before we slander or even criticize youth." In a statement commenting on the proposed petition to Congress by the Women's moderation Union for the Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Mrs. Patterson said:

"When I read of women who say they want the eighteenth amendment repealed because they wish to improve conditions for young people, my first thought is that either they only say that is the reason, when the actual one is quite different, or else they have not thought deeply upon the consequences of repeal."

6 in Court Cellroom Collapse From Heat

Five Men and Woman Are Removed to Gallinger Hospital.

Five men and a woman waiting in the crowded "bullpen" at Police Court collapsed yesterday and were taken to Gallinger Hospital for treatment. All were up before Judge Ralph Given for minor infractions of the law.

George Gregg was the first to topple over. As his case was called, he half arose, and then fell sideways into the arms of the man next to him in the pen. Four others, Jack N. Seville, James S. O'Brien, Clarence Richmond, Marie Johnson and Paul Lindsay, quickly went down in a heap, and all were sent to the hospital.

The "bullpen" is small, but fairly well ventilated. It is often crowded far beyond its estimated capacity and the combination of hot weather and cramped moving space is believed to have resulted in the collapses. None of the six was seriously ill, hospital authorities said.

Publisher Hangs Himself.

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—Bernard Edelhent, 51-year-old publisher of the American Hebrew Magazine, a monthly, hanged himself today in a clothes closet of his home. He recently suffered a nervous breakdown.

U. S. War Flier Plans Hop To Cuba; May Seek Record

James G. Hall, Former Wall Street Broker, Plans Jaunt to Havana as Dry Law Protest; Reticent On Details of Trip.

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—James Goodwin Hall, former war flier and Wall street broker, announced today that he would fly to Havana tomorrow and there were indications that he might take a round-trip flight, perhaps no more than spinning his wheels against the ground of the Cuban capital.

Mr. Hall brought his fast Lockheed back from the West Coast, where he has been grooming it for long-distance work, with the announced intention of trying to better the transcontinental records of Frank Hawks. But today he revealed that he had changed his destination to Havana. Hawks also holds the records between New York and Havana in both directions.

Mr. Hall, 34, single, is the son of Maj. James G. Hall, U. S. A. He fought in a French escadrille in the early part of the war and later with the American Army, and was a member of the New York Stock Exchange until a year ago.

He plans to take off from Roosevelt Field at 1 o'clock tomorrow morning, Eastern standard time.

Capt. Hawks flew to Havana last year in 9 hours 21 minutes flying time and came back in 8 hours 3 minutes. He made two stops on the way for refueling in each direction. The only nonstop flight on record was made in 1928 by Charles A. Levine, Mabel Boll and Wilmer Stultz, the latter being the man who piloted Amelia Earhart across the ocean. The Havana flight was made in Levine's Columbia, in which he and Clarence D. Chamberlin flew to Germany. The time of that Havana flight was 14 hours.

The airline distance from New York to Havana is 1,400 miles but it was estimated that Capt. Hawks and the Columbia crew flew about 1,600.

Mr. Hall, who is making the flight as a protest against prohibition, has said nothing about a return flight, but the fact that he set his take-off time so early in the morning gave rise to persistent reports that he planned to start back as soon as he got there. Mr. Hall declined to comment in any way on these reports.

HUNGARIAN FLIERS MAY RECROSS SEA

Budapest, Hungary, July 17 (A.P.). Refreshed after one transatlantic flight, Capts Alexander Magyar and George Endres tonight considered flying back to New York from Budapest in their monoplane Justice for Hungary.

Among the many congratulatory telegrams that arrived today, mostly from America, Capt. Endres said, were offers of financial backing from undisclosed enthusiasts for a return flight.

"The plan to fly back from Budapest to New York with the Justice for Hungary appeals to me, as I hope it will appeal to the world," Capt. Endres said.

"Our machine is so good that I am convinced we could overcome the difficulties on a return flight.

"I am encouraged by the number of financial offers we have received in telegrams of congratulations. Most of these came from America and I would rather not divulge the names of the backers at the present time.

"I can not help thinking today of my good friend, Dr. James M. Kimball, of the meteorological station in New York, who so earnestly urged me to postpone the start in view of the terrible weather conditions. I did not listen to his advice, but I am grateful for his consideration."

All day crowds of sightseers, led by a Gypsy orchestra, stood around the Justice for Hungary, which came down last night near the village of Biscke, 14 miles from Budapest, after a nonstop crossing of 3,239 miles from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

As a reward for their exploit, the two fliers were informed by M. Gombos, Hungarian minister of war, that he had recommended that the highest order, the service medal; first class, carrying the title of excellency, be conferred on them at the official reception Monday.

After submitting to the kisses of Minister Gombos, the fliers, with Admiral Nicholas Northy, regent of Hungary, paid a visit to their plane.

They wanted to repair the damaged propeller, wheel and undercarriage and fly to the Budapest airdrome themselves, but they were persuaded by officials to have the plane towed to Matyasfold airdrome, as it was unsafe to take off from the uneven maize field in which they landed.

White House News Leak Quiz Failure

Probe Is Called Off to Determine if Sleuths Were to Blame.

The investigation to determine whether Secret Service men were responsible for news leaks at the White House has been called off, Theodore Joslin, secretary to President Hoover, announced yesterday. He added that the investigation had been unsuccessful.

The investigation was ordered after publication of stories telling how President Hoover hurried from Rapidan to Washington to break a Franco-American deadlock over his debt moratorium plan.

Later it developed that the investigators not only were trying to find out who told newspapermen about that incident, but were seeking to determine the source of some fifteen stories, including the one about Mrs. Hoover's dog having bitten a Marine at the Rapidan camp.

In the course of the investigation, Secretary Joslin announced that all White House news would have to come from "stated official sources," these evidently being himself and the President.

FREE BRIDGES CAUSE WAR IN SOUTHWEST

Denison, Tex., July 17 (A.P.).—Texas rangers and crews of the Oklahoma highway department manned the Denison-Durant bridgehead in the "battle of the Red River" tonight under direction of their respective commanders-in-chief—Gov. Ross S. Sterling and Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray.

The Texas forces were deployed to block the action of Murray, who cut through a roll of red tape and threw open to motorists three free bridges across the river without consulting Texas officials.

On the Oklahoma side the highway crews were tearing up approaches to toll spans near two free bridges so that the pay bridges would be put out of commission.

Rangers Put Up Barriers.

Texas rangers threw up a new barrier at their end of the Denison-Durant free bridge here, replacing one torn down on Murray's orders.

Then Gov. Murray, threatening use of the National Guard if his men were molested, directed that traffic be shunted to the Preston free bridge in another county. His State's highway workers were ordered to plow up 200 feet of the Oklahoma approach to the Denison toll span.

Mindful of a Federal injunction obtained recently by the Denison toll bridge owners to prevent opening of the free bridge, Gov. Sterling told Adjt. Gen. W. W. Sterling, of Texas: "Close the highway bridge at Denison and keep it closed."

Telegrams Carry Fight.

Then Gov. Sterling, former highway commission chairman, who took the executive chair after a meteoric rise from modest circumstances to millionaire oil man and publisher, wired Gov. Murray:

"I feel you have extended your jurisdiction beyond all reason. Certainly I can not join you in attempting to make a Federal Court injunction inoperative. I have sent Texas rangers to protect Texas highway employees endeavoring to obey the court injunction on request of the Texas Highway Commission."

Back across the telegraph wires came a reply from Gov. Murray, the cotton patch worker, who became the most picturesque political power in his State. In part it said: "I assumed you desired the opening of this bridge or Texas would not have gone to the expense of construction. Please remember the eleventh amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which precludes the dragging of a sovereign State into a Federal suit by private citizens."

Policeman to Face Rum-Charge Trial

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., July 17.—Arrested by two civilians on a liquor charge and held by them until taken into custody by a regular peace officer, E. A. Mumper, suspended Washington policeman, today was released in $500 bail for Federal Court action after a hearing before J. Frank Supplee, United States Commissioner.

The charges against Mumper were transportation and possession of whisky, the former being a felony.

Because of this Garnett Y. Clark, 22, and his brother, Otway Lee Clark, 20, were legally within their rights in placing him under arrest after Mumper told them he had liquor in his car which crashed on the grounds of the youth's home near Ellicott City, July 10, it was ruled by Commissioner Supplee.

Features in the Sunday Post

One of the most timely articles a person can imagine in this 90-degree weather will appear in tomorrow's Sunday Magazine Section of The Post. Has the heat bothered you lately? Well, read "Science Helps You Keep Cool," by Ira L. Smith, and suffer no longer.

David Rankin Barbee takes Washington to task for its treatment of Thomas Law, a British subject, who was one of the Capital City's greatest benefactors. Law's bones are interred in an unmarked and unknown grave in Rock Creek Cemetery, and few of the city's present residents ever heard of him.

Lane Carter, in an interesting article on the history of aviation, tells how Washington residents played a prominent part in conquering the air.

In addition to several other special features the magazine will present its regular attractions, including The Junior Post, H. I. Phillips' humorous feature, "McGoofey's First Reader," book reviews by Elisabeth E. Poe and other interesting bits.

GREEN PAID TRIBUTE ON EVE OF JOURNEY

Revenue Commissioner Will Seek to Regain Health on Vacation.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

On the eve of leaving for a vacation to regain his health, Harry K. Green, for twelve years commissioner of revenue of Arlington County, and who seeks reelection in November, was given a cherry send-off by more than 300 friends at his home in Clarendon last night.

Fletcher Kemp, county school superintendent, praised Green's loyalty as a public officer and predicted his reelection. He urged Mr. Green to "go away, rest and have peace of mind. Your friends will take care of your campaign. Come back a well man."

Green, in reply, said in part:

"It has been said by State officials that the office of commissioner of revenue in Arlington County is a standard that other counties might well follow. If that be true, it is due to the loyal support of my deputy, Ben Laycock, and my assistants.

"When I return we will get into the campaign and give my opponent the real old-fashioned political spanking that I have in the past three campaigns."

Other speakers were Mrs. George L. Chandler, Thomas J. Crack, Robert N. Anderson, G. Frank Allwine and Joseph Fought.

Poultrymen Tour Farms in Fairfax

Modern Plants Inspected by Delegates Making First Visits of Series.

Four Fairfax County commercial poultry plants were visited Wednesday under the direction of M. C. Kilpatrick, secretary of the State poultry federation, and County Agent H. B. Derr. Representatives of poultrymen from Madson, Culpeper, Rappahannock, Green, Stafford, Midlothian and Fairfax Counties made the tour, the first of a series.

The delegation, visiting the plant of Dr. Welford, near Dogue Run, inspected modern ventilation equipment and poultry buildings, while at the plant of the Gaillot brothers, at Potters Mill, methods of grinding and mixing poultry feeds on a large scale were demonstrated.

During the afternoon the modern plant of E. D. Vosbury, president of the Fairfax Poultrymen's Association, was visited at Merrifield.

Woman Hurt When Auto Shies on Pike

A Washington woman was seriously injured late yesterday when the auto in which she was riding on the Marlboro Pike skidded at a sharp turn and crashed into a pole. Removed to Casualty Hospital, Ethel Lamont, the victim, was said to have a fractured skull, fractured hip and lacerations.

Garrett Lamont was driving the car, according to Prince Georges County police. He was only slightly hurt. Both live at 1118 Rhode Island avenue northwest.

ALEXANDRIA LEADER, LEOPOLD RUBEN, DIES

Veteran Merchant and Civic Worker Heart Victim at Age of 75.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

News was received in Alexandria yesterday of the death, in Clifton Springs, N. Y., of Leopold Ruben, prominent Alexandria citizen. He had been in failing health for some time past, but his condition did not become serious until about a week ago. Heart disease was the cause of death.

The body arrived in Alexandria last night and was accompanied by his sister, Miss Sarah Ruben, and Raymond Blumenfeld, of this city. His home was at 204 South St. Asaph street. He went to Clifton Springs three weeks ago.

Mr. Ruben was born in Alexandria 75 years ago and was the son of M. Ruben, whom he succeeded in the furniture business, being engaged in this for 32 years. He retired in 1919, since which time he has traveled extensively. He was always active in civic affairs, and in 1924 he made a donation to the city for the erection of a municipal swimming pool, which bears a plaque in his honor. The flag at the pool was flown at half-staff yesterday.

Several years ago Mr. Ruben was honored by the local Kiwanis Club by presentation of a medal for the most outstanding civic service of the year in making possible the swimming pool.

He was actively identified with the Masonic fraternity, being a past master of Alexandria-Washington Lodge, a member of Washington Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite, a Shriner and a thirty-second degree Mason. He was also a member of Alexandria Lodge of Elks and of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Firemen's Carnival Extended.

Robert E. Kendrick, president of the Falls Church Fire Department, announced last night that the firemen's carnival scheduled to close tonight will continue through Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week.

Firemen's Carnival to End.

The annual carnival of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department, which has been in progress during the week, will come to a close tonight.

New Bridge to Be Begun Soon.

Work will be started within ten days on the new concrete bridge on Central avenue near Capitol Heights. The contract has been awarded to Jarboe & Houghton, at a cost of $3,896.

INFORMER METHOD IN DRY DRIVE SCORED

Hart Says Change Needed, After Two Are Discharged for Testimony.

The informer method of apprehending violators of the prohibition law was criticized in Police Court yesterday when Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart, in charge of all liquor cases in Police Court, declared "there would have to be some change."

His statement came when he was questioned by reporters after two special employes or informers had been discharged by the special investigation squad as a result of their testimony in court.

Judge Robert E. Mattingly openly castigated two informers for careless testimony. Two cases were dismissed by Police Court juries because of conflicting statements made by them.

The present system of having paid informers make purchases and swear to warrants has been in vogue for several years. The informers are picked after a cursory investigation of their record. The informers have been the king pins in the liquor enforcement field because warrants have been issued on their word, and almost all bootlegger arrests are based upon their investigations.

A plan which would enable use of rookie policemen and prohibition agents was suggested as a means of doing away with the informer system.

SMALL LOAN ARREST IS AIDED BY CLERKS

Complaints Against G. T. Ash Reported Instigated by Printing Workers.

George T. Ash, 46 years old, who has an office at room 203 in the Southern Building, yesterday submitted to arrest by Assistant Corporation Counsel Thomas F. Cameron on a charge of violation of the small-loan law. He was released after posting a $1,000 real estate bond.

A warrant was obtained against Mr. Ash only after he had been under surveillance for a month by the corporation counsel's office following receipt of several complaints, chiefly from employes of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Formal complaints, used as the basis for the arrest, were made by Daniel A. Bigley, of 4323 River road, and Edward M. Mahoney, of 3824 Tenth street northwest. The case was set for next Friday in Police Court.

Complaints charged Mr. Ash with conducting a small-loan business on a note basis and of obtaining an excessive rate of interest. On a loan of $50 for a month he is said to have required a payment of $62.50.

Renewed activity against so-called loan sharks is contemplated by the corporation counsel's office. The authority of District officials to enforce the small-loan law was recently sustained in court, and Corporation Counsel William W. Bride subsequently appealed to victims of loan-shark operators to bring complaints to his office.

Police Asked to Find Mother of 2 Children

Fearing that his wife, who disappeared from their home at 1314 Tenth street northwest, on July 2, has either met with foul play or is being held a captive, Luther G. Kirk, a chauffeur, yesterday asked police to locate her.

The wife, Mrs. Mabel Estelle Kirk, 33 years old, disappeared a short time after she was said to have been struggling with a man at the intersection of Tenth and N streets northwest. Her two children, Marian, 11 years old, and Estelle, 14 years old, declare they saw their mother forced into an automobile by a man who drove past the intersection and accosted her.

Coin Lost in Grating Leads to Rum Cache

Chicago, July 17 (A.P.).—A mere flip of a coin led today to the discovery of liquor worth $15,000.

A squad of Federal prohibition agents raided a near North Side garage on information that whisky was stored there, but a diligent search revealed only empty bottles.

The agents stood around perplexed, and one idly tossed a coin in the air. It slipped through his fingers and rolled into a grating near the wall.

He lifted the grating to retrieve the coin and found that the hole broadened out into a 12-foot chamber which contained the liquor.

RAIN COOLS CAPITAL; SHOWER DUE TODAY

Thor, the god of thunder, cooperated with St. Swithin again yesterday, sending down a shower on sunbaked Washington. The good work of keeping up the legend of St. Swithin that it will rain for 40 days, in view of the fact that it rained on Wednesday, the day dedicated to the Saint, will continue today, when another thunder shower will visit the National Capital late in the afternoon, according to the prediction of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Between the rains Washington manages to raise a healthy temperature. The thermometer went up to a high mark of 90 degrees yesterday, falling a few degrees after the rain began. The humidity maintained an average of 50 per cent, which is about as humid as it ever becomes with a 90 degree temperature, the weather man said.

The kiosk on Pennsylvania avenue across from The Post Building registered a maximum temperature of 96 degrees and a humidity of 60 per cent. The warmest part of the day was between 2 o'clock and 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Last night's rain will not prevent the weather from getting just as uncomfortable this morning, when the temperature is expected to reach 90 degrees or more, the forecast revealed.

No heat prostrations were reported in Washington yesterday, but one man collapsed as a result of the warm weather while helping to remove electric light poles from a street being widened at Cottage City, Md. He was Richard Sunday, of 2031 Benning road northeast. He was given first aid by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad and taken home.

(Associated Press.)

Rain, hurried by cool winds from the Northwest, is hastening today to the relief of sun-baked North Central States.

The welcome respite from three days of parching temperatures was promised by Government observers last night for not later than today.

Minnesota and North Dakota already breathe freely as showers and the winds drive the heat ahead of them. The death toll in the two States increased by two yesterday to 13 for the week.

Illinois, Wisconsin, Southwestern Michigan, Indiana, Northern Ohio, South Dakota and the Middle Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys continued to cringe under temperatures of 100 degrees and over.

In Chicago the thermometer reached 98 degrees in the afternoon, within seven-tenths degree of the highest mark of the year. Two deaths were reported. Sporadic puffs of air off Lake Michigan and a freak rainfall in the Loop were helpless against inroads of the sun. Thousands sought relief at beaches and a large theater corporation threw open its houses to cool the city's orphans.

Cities sweltering under 100 degrees or more were Huron, S. Dak., 106; Pierre, S. Dak., 102; St. Paul, Minn., 100; North Platte, Nebr., 100; Valentine, Nebr., 100; Davenport, Iowa, 100; Goodland, Kans., 100; Cincinnati, Ohio, 100; Green Bay, Wis., 100; Lacrosse, Wis., 100, and Peoria, Ill., 100. Indianapolis had 96 and Detroit, 90.

The Pacific Coast and the South, cooled by rains along the Gulf and in Arkansas and Tennessee, enjoyed normal weather.

Ten new heat deaths occurred in Wisconsin yesterday, making sixteen for the week. Sheboygan baked under 105 degrees, Kenosha and Fond du Lac, 100, and Milwaukee, 97.

Overnight showers in western Kansas and Nebraska brought but little relief and heavy storms over Colorado and Montana caused heavy crop damage. In Davenport, Iowa, temperatures dropped 8 degrees in fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon from a maximum of 99.

Street Fighting Occurs Again in German Town

Gelsenkirchen, Germany, July 18 (A.P.).—Street fighting broke out again tonight in the district where last night Communists looted and set up barricades.

Three Communists were seriously wounded by gunfire. Police announced they had the upper hand, although an hour after the trouble started quiet had not been restored.

MRS. HENDERSON'S BODY HERE AT NOON

Rites for Social Leader to Be Monday Morning, Says Attorney.

With arrival today at noon of the body of Mrs. John B. Henderson, 90-year-old widow of Senator Henderson, famous Civil War general and member of Congress from Missouri, from Bar Harbor, Me., where she died Thursday night, definite plans for funeral arrangements will be made by the family.

George E. Edelin, Mrs. Henderson's attorney, said last night that the body would be taken direct from the train to the Henderson Castle on Sixteenth street, where it will remain until funeral services are held there Monday morning at 11 o'clock. It was said that the clergyman who will probably officiate at the last rites will be the Rev. Maurice White, assistant pastor of All-Souls Unitarian Church.

The body will probably be placed in a vault in Rock Creek Cemetery for a short while, but will later be sent to repose beside the body of her husband in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Frances Arnold and Robert Arnold, of New York, only remaining blood relatives of the Washington society leader, will probably be among the funeral party who will arrive today. Mrs. Beatrice Henderson Wholean, adopted daughter of Mrs. Henderson, and her husband will also arrive with the train.

Hillig and Hoiriis Given Keys to New York City

New York, July 17 (U.P.).—Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis, who flew the Bellanca monoplane Liberty across the Atlantic and to Copenhagen, were given the honors of City Hall today.

They were guests at a luncheon given by the advertising club, at which various dignitaries complimented them on their flight and welcomed them home.

World War Body Home for Burial

Seaman Ernest Gregg Is Brought From Ireland for Interment Here.

Thirteen years after he gave his life for his country in the World War, the body of Second Class Seaman Ernest H. Gregg came home to America yesterday, and will be brought here for interment in Arlington National Cemetery.

Gregg was a member of an armed guard of the U. S. S. Rochester, when she was torpedoed November 2, 1917, off the coast of Ireland. With other members of the crew Gregg took to a boat and rowed and drifted for four days and 18 hours, finally being picked up by an Irish fishing boat and taken to Port Tortatloy, where he died of exposure a few days later.

The President Roosevelt brought the body to America after it had rested in an unkept grave in the little Irish seaport. Naval officials had no definite record of Gregg's American address, but it was thought that he was from Corpus Christi, Tex., and that he was the first Lone Star boy to die in the great conflict. Plans for the interment here have not been announced.

Marius Sthreshley, 84 years old, was found dead early yesterday in a second-floor room of his home at 2544 Fourteenth street northwest. He was found by his daughter, Mrs. Lucy Smithers.

A doctor from Emergency Hospital was summoned and pronounced the man dead. His death was apparently caused by natural causes. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt ordered the body removed to the District Morgue.

Seismographs Record Quake at 2,000 Miles

(Associated Press.)

An earthquake of considerable intensity was recorded at Georgetown University Seismological Observatory here yesterday as having begun at 4:19:39 a. m., Eastern standard time.

The secondary stage was recorded at 4:24:31 a. m., with maximum disturbance at 4:30 a. m. It lasted about an hour and was estimated to have been centered about 2,000 miles from Washington.

WHEAT IN KANSAS DUMPED ON GROUND

year of low wheat prices for the world as a whole.

No bumper world crop is expected, it said, but the existing large stocks of old wheat in North America, Argentina and Australia promise a plentiful world supply even though yields should be very low.

Some Improvement Indicated.

It added, however, that if a world crop smaller than 1930 should materialize as are the expectations, "there may be some improvement in the world market prices in the latter part of the 1931-32 season as compared with the early part."

Mr. Stone said all wheat sold in the Southwest to meet mill or storage requirements since the 1931 harvest began has been replaced by purchase of other wheat.

The Stabilization Corporation has sold approximately 1,000,000 bushels in the northwest spring wheat section so that millers could continue operation.

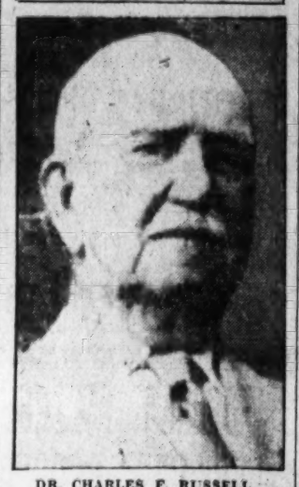
"These sales were made," Mr. Stone said yesterday, "only after the mill had notified the Stabilization Corporation, in writing, that it would have to close down unless it got old spring wheat to take care of its milling requirements. These sales in no way compete with the price of the new hard winter wheat being marketed in the southwest."

Promise of No Sale Sought.

Farm leaders have appealed to the Farm Board to agree to hold all the 200,000,000 or more bushels of stabilization wheat from the market in the belief such a promise would bring about an immediate price rise.

The board, acting, according to Stone, in the best interests of all farmers, announced in reply it would limit its sales to 60,000,000 bushels this year, exclusive of sales to foreign governments under consideration. This amount included sales to millers in the Northwest which have been made since June.

DIES AT 92



DR. CHARLES F. RUSSELL.

DR. C. F. RUSSELL DIES IN AMBULANCE

Civil War Veteran, 92, Will Be Interred Today in Fairfax Cemetery.

Dr. Charles F. Russell, 92, of Herndon, Va., died Thursday in an ambulance en route to the home of his son-in-law, William Pollard, of Chevy Chase, Md.

Dr. Russell, one of the best known of the old-time doctors of Virginia, was loved and respected by hundreds. A Civil War Veteran, he enlisted in the Cavalry Division of the Confederate Army in 1861 and served as a private. He witnessed the John Brown raid on the arsenal at Harpers Ferry.

At the time of enlistment he was a medical student at the University of Virginia, and at the close of the war he resumed his studies. At the time of his death he was adjutant of Marr Camp, Confederate Veterans, of Fairfax Court House.

He graduated in medicine from the University of Maryland and practised at Hillsboro, Va., Graceham, Md., Sharpsburg, Md. and later at Herndon, Va., for 64 years. He was a member of the Medical Societies of Northern Virginia and the District, and the Knights of Pythias.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Harriet Russell Blackford; two daughters, Miss Margaret Russell and Mrs. W. T. Pollard, of Washington, and a son, Charles G. Russell, of Roseburg, Oreg. Funeral services this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Confederate section of the Fairfax Court House Cemetery will be conducted by the Masonic Lodge.

Amtorg Files Tax Deficiency Appeal

(Associated Press.)

The Amtorg Trading Corporation, of New York, official business organization of Soviet Russia, yesterday appealed from a deficiency Federal tax assessment.

The Amtorg reported income of $171,149 for the year ending September 30, 1929, and the Internal Revenue Bureau adustment raised the amount to $391,905. The bureau disallowed a deduction of $211,970 which the Amtorg held to be excise taxes payable to the Union of Soviet Russia, holding this was operating profits distributed to the Soviet and not a tax.

The Board of Tax Appeals' file in the case showed that all of the stock of the Amtorg at the time the income tax was levied was held by the Bank of Foreign Trade of Russia. The bureau also disallowed a deduction of $5,334 paid to S. G. Bron, president of Amtorg, as entertainment expenses.

Treasury Reply Caustic In Building Delay Claim

(Associated Press.)

The Treasury yesterday termed the assertion of Senator Fletcher, of Florida, that public building delays might have some political significance as not worthy of comment.

In two statements issued through the Democratic national committee the senator charged there was undue delay in carrying out the Government's huge public building program.

The Treasury's reply again reviewed building activities and said that if this did not indicate to the senator that the construction program was being reasonably executed, "then it is useless for the department to go into further detail."

Future U. S. Buildings To Have Cooling System

All large department buildings erected in the future will be air-cooled, the Supervising Architect of the Treasury said yesterday. The Internal Revenue Building, started before the discussion arose, will go without this provision because it would cost approximately $700,000 to install the cooling system now, whereas had provision been made in the early plans, the cost would be but $300,000.

The Commerce Department Building also was erected without air-cooling equipment, but revisions allowed installation in one section, which contains the office of the Secretary.

Physicians Blame Death Of Man on Poison Dose

Found unconscious on a bed in a second floor room of his home yesterday afternoon, John J. Kerns, 52 years old, of 2912 Olive avenue northwest, was pronounced dead at Georgetown Hospital, where he was taken by members of his family.

Physicians declared the man had been dead for some time, apparently from the effects of a strong dose of poison. Mr. Kerns' relatives said he had been in ill health for a number of years, and recently showed signs of despondency. Police declared a bottle containing a quantity of alleged poison, was found near the bed.

RAIL DROP IS HELD THREAT TO NATION

pression put you in the condition you are now?"

"If we had more traffic than we have now," Cole answered, "we might not be confronted with the emergency that exists. But we are confronted with a condition and not a theory."

He expressed a belief that the railroads would remain the backbone of the Nation's transportation system.

Cole said there had been many references to the plight of the farmer and that some persons were always willing to blame agriculture troubles on the carriers. He added that studies by the Bureau of Railway Economics had shown that in many cases fluctuations in wheat, cotton and other commodities had been more over a brief period than their freight rates.

No Difference in Price.

"I believe that if the railroads tomorrow should offer to haul wheat free," Cole said, "it would make no difference in the price of the commodity. The trouble with wheat is over production."

Eastman said that Cole had drawn a parallel between the situation now and in 1920, when another general rate change was made.

The commissioner cited Department of Agriculture figures that the commodity price level now was more than 100 points lower than the 1920 level.

"Don't you think there is a difference in the situation now and then?" he asked.

"I simply referred to the commission's method of procedure then," Cole said, "to justify the method we are using in asking for a rate increase."

"Do you think industry can stand a raise now as well as it could in 1920?" Eastman inquired.

"I don't admit that the condition of industry general has anything to do with our specific request," Cole said.

Would Aid Industry.

In response to a question from Eastman, Cole said that granting the price increase might well result in stimulation of industry. He said that railroad purchases would result in benefit to industry generally.

"That depends on whether you get the increase in revenue from the proposed tariff increase," Eastman said.

R. C. Fulbright, head of the National Industrial Traffic League, asked Cole if traffic would not bear higher freight rates in properous times than in depressed.

Cole said he felt that was true of anything anyone had for sale, adding, "and transportation is all we have to sell."

Cole, responding to questions by J. F. Finnerty, Washington attorney for copper and sugar interests, said he knew of nothing in the law requiring consideration of the ability of users of transportation to pay freight rates.

Consider Results.

Finnerty asked Cole if the commission should not consider whether a rate increase would cause traffic to leave the railroads either through diversion to other transportation methods or through causing production to decrease.

Cole replied that in his opinion all the commission should do at this time is to consider whether the 15 per cent proposal would create unreasonable rates.

Rosenbaum, of St. Louis, asked Cole if he had assured the pig iron producers "you will reduce the rate as you did after 1920?"

"No," replied Cole.

Rosenbaum inquired about the preservation of differentials on coal from Kentucky fields.

"My position," said Cole, "is that where there are fixed differentials we must observe them unless relieved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. I would attempt to see that the difference is observed."

Exceptions on Coal.

Rosenbaum also asked why exceptions were made on coal and not on other commodities.

"On account of the volume and the complicated rate structure," the witness replied.

"Why not give special consideration to lumber?" Rosenbaum asked.

"We are following ex parte 74," Cole replied. "Coal is the only exception save coke."

Ex parte 74 was the 1920 rate increase case when the railroads received a percentage increase in rates which later was reduced.

Ohio Storms Kill Four; Loss Heavy

Crops and Farm Buildings Damaged by Wind and Wires Snarled.

Cleveland, July 17 (A.P.).—At least four persons were killed by lightning and widespread damage was done to crops and farm buildings by wind and electric storms that swept into Ohio from the Northwest tonight in the wake of a two-day record heat wave.

The East Bay Shore District at Toledo was hit by wind and lightning which tore down trees and tangled light and power lines. Wade Marsh, 26, of Curtice, was killed by lightning while at work on a farm near his home.

Communications were disrupted both in Cleveland and Columbus. Severe storms swept sections in Tuscarawas and Wayne Counties this afternoon.

The storms broke a heat wave in Ohio, which in the past two days was responsible for thirteen deaths and had sent the mercury to peak figures of 99 and 100 degrees. Newark, Ohio, today was the hottest spot in the State, with 102 degrees.

Baltimore & Ohio Takes Over Alton Railroad

(Associated Press.)

Acquisition by the Baltimore & Ohio of the Chicago & Alton Railroad became effective yesterday upon agreement by the Baltimore & Ohio to conditions laid down by the commission.

The commission earlier had stipulated that the Baltimore & Ohio should take over the Kansas & Sidell, the Casey & Kansas and the Yale Short Line Railroad, three short lines which had intervened with the request that they be taken into the Baltimore & Ohio system. The Baltimore & Ohio made known its agreement late yesterday.

GOOD-WILL 'ENVOYS' GUESTS OF PERSHING

U. S. Flag Association Party of Boys and Girls to Start Home Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

Paris, July 17.—After meeting the Prince of Wales in London, having tea with President Paul Doumer and Mme. Doumer in Paris and meeting notables of all ranks, the "envoys of friendship," the group of young Americans on a good-will mission to England and France, received the supreme thrill of the entire trip yesterday afternoon when they were guests of honor at a tea given by Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the A. E. F., at the Hotel Crillon. Notables from the French official circles, the Diplomatic Corps and from American and French society were present.

Gen. Pershing was in a happy mood, chatting with the "envoys" and inquiring about their impressions of Europe gained on the present trip. He showed a keen interest in the mission of the "envoys," which he was among the first to indorse, and congratulated the young Americans on the success of their visits to England and France.

Commends Flag Association.

The general commended heartily the program of the United States Flag Association for the teaching of the youth of America rational patriotism. He declared that universal peace will never be established until lasting friendship, founded upon mutual confidence and understanding, is created among the nations. Gen. Pershing declared, out of his knowledge of the horrors of war, that "there can be no loftier patriotism than keeping one's country out of war through honorable and peaceful means."

He predicted that the visit of the "envoys," who came to Europe to bring a message of friendship and good will to the children of Great Britain and France, would have an important bearing on future relations among these three countries, and expressed the hope that this pilgrimage would be followed by similar visits from groups of French and British children to the United States.

Delegations to U. S. Seen.

Col. James A. Moss, president general of the Flag Association, told Gen. Pershing that plans are already under way in both Great Britain and France to send delegations of children to the United States next year and was assured by the general that he would be delighted to help entertain such delegations.

Newspapers and cinema reels continue to give the "envoys" great space, and they have been able to see themselves in the news reels in the cinema houses here in many of their activities.

The "envoys" are sailing for home today.

Canada May Revise Duty on Magazines

Bennett Would Measure Charges by Quantity of Advertising.

Ottawa, Ont., July 17 (A.P.).—Premier R. B. Bennett introduced in the House of Commons today an amendment to the tariff act by which duty on magazines would be figured on the basis of the percentage of advertising instead of on weight.

Under the proposed schedule magazines carrying less than 20 per cent advertising would enter duty free; 20 to 30 per cent, a duty of 2 cents a copy; more than 30 per cent, 5 cents a copy.

On periodicals or portions of newspapers consisting largely of fiction, feature articles or comic supplements, the duty would be placed at 15 cents a pound.

Dairy Cooperative Probe Demanded

(Associated Press.)

Investigation was asked yesterday of the trade activities of the Nation's largest dairy cooperative operating under a Government loan.

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, petitioned the Federal Trade Commission to inquire into complaints of several wholesale commission houses charging unfair competition to the Land o' Lakes Creameries, Inc., of Minneapolis.

Saying he felt the trade commission "very properly can take jurisdiction" in the case, Reed referred it to that body after the Farm Board refused to intervene. The complaints, preferred by several Philadelphia wholesale dealers, charged the cooperative with endangering repayment of a large Federal loan through "indiscriminate" price cutting, loose extension of credit and misrepresentation of its products. The unusual procedure was determined on as a last resort by Reed and on it may determine the future course of action in extending loans to cooperatives under the agricultural marketing act.

Hoover Rejects Navy Promotions

Seven Slated for Advance to Rank of Commander Are Turned Down.

President Hoover, it was learned yesterday, has rejected recommendations offered by a selection board of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Navy Department, on promotions of seven lieutenant commanders in the Navy Medical Corps to the rank of commander. It was the first time since the Wilson administration that the White House has turned down such findings.

The name of Joel T. Boone, President Hoover's personal physician, who has the temporary rank of captain, was not on the list, it was said. He is a lieutenant commander by permanent rank and was eligible for promotion.

The report had been at the White House for several days, having been forwarded to the President by Secretary of the Navy Adams. Observers, commenting on rejection of the report, declared approval of such findings has been simply a routine matter in the past.

Bible School Plans Closing Wednesday

Handiwork of Vacation Pupils to Be Shown at Central.

The vacation Bible school at the Central Presbyterian Church will hold its closing exercises next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. The school has not continued as long as usual this year owing to the fact that the new Sunday school building was not ready for occupancy as early as expected.

The school has an enrollment of about 110 and the average daily attendance has been remarkably good. Because of the excellent accommodations and available classrooms it has been possible to conduct the school under the most favorable circumstances. When rainy weather prevented the use of the playground adjacent to the church, the large basemnt room was used for play.

At the closing exercises the pupils of the schools will give recitations from the Scriptures and will sing many of the hymns of the church. The handiwork will be on display. The display will include beaver board work, tissue paper work, sewing, cardboard work, basketry and carpentry. The public is cordially invited to attend the closing exercises.

Luther League Enjoys Sycamore Island Picnic

The Luther League of St. Paul's Lutheran Church held its annual picnic supper at Sycamore Island last Thursday. The affair was unusually successful, a large crowd of young folks participating in the program of boating, swimming and games which had been prepared by the committee in charge.

Lutheran Church Joins Chevy Chase Service

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Connecticut avenue and Everett street, has joined the other churches in Chevy Chase in the union evening service, which is held on the lawn of Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Henry W. Snyder, minister of St. Paul's, is scheduled to preach at this service on July 26.

Hamline Church Holds Vespers on Its Lawn

Dr. H. W. Burgan, the new minister of Hamline Methodist Church, Sixteenth at Allison street northwest, moves his congregation outdoors in the evening, and holds a vesper service on the lawn of his church, beginning at 7 o'clock. At this service he preaches a short but to-the-point sermon.

Albright Study Groups Will Meet Thursday

The junior and intermediate groups of Albright Evangelical Church will meet Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock for special study. All children from 9 to 13 years of age are invited. Mrs. Emma Jester and Mrs. Fasnight will teach the juniors and Miss Hazel M. Anderson, of the Columbia Bible Training School, will counsel the intermediates.

Dr. Harvey Baker Smith Speaker at Camp Letts

Dr. Harvey Baker Smith, pastor of Columbia Heights Christian Church, will speak to the boys at Camp Letts, Sunday afternoon in the open air chapel. Mrs. Smith will accompany him to camp and will sing for the boys.

Court Fight Won By Woman Doctor

Dr. Schippell Freed After Charge of Operating Unlicensed Hospital.

Dr. Theresa M. Schippell, leading practitioner of naturotherapy in the District, who more than a year ago obtained congressional recognition of naturotherapy as a "healing art," yesterday won another point when Judge Robert L. Mattingly dismissed charges against her of operating a hospital without a license.

Dr. Schippell was arrested last February, when two precinct detectives were admitted to her home at 1329 Sixteenth street northwest for treatment. Attorneys Robert Hardison and Mae Helm filed a demurrer, alleging entrapment, and denying she is maintaining a hospital at her home.

Judge Mattingly in his opinion largely sustained the demurrer. He said if the action of the police in obtaining evidence did not constitute entrapment, the lines of demarcation were so close as to be almost indistinct. Presence of electrical apparatus and other equipment used in the practice of naturotherapy in her home did not bear out the government contention she was operating a hospital, he said.

U. S. Asks Chinese Aid In Freeing Missionary

(Associated Press.)

The Chinese government has been asked to secure the release of C. H. Lacey Sites, American missionary, who was captured by bandits July 8 near Luanlung-Tsun, Fukien Province.

The State Department yesterday received a telegram from American Minister Johnson at Peiping, saying the American Consul General at Nanking had asked the Chinese foreign office to instruct Fukien Province authorities to take all practicable measures to obtain the missionary's release and the punishment of his captors.

Y. M. C. A. WILL OPEN MONTROSE SERVICES

At the request of the Georgetown Ministers Alliance, the Y. M. C. A. will open a series of Sunday afternoon meetings at Montrose Park on R street between Thirtieth and Thirty-second. These meetings will be in the open air under the towering trees of Montrose Park, and will start at 4:30 on Sundays, beginning today.

At this first meeting, the Boys' Independent Band will give a concert, Mr. Brown conducting; after which will follow a short song service under the direction of R. J. Hoage, choir director from Dumbarton M. E. Church. Page McK. Etchison, religious work director of the Y. M. C. A., will be the speaker, and the Rev. C. B. Austin, president of the Georgetown Ministerial Alliance, will act as chairman.

On July 26, Dr. Frank S. Niles, pastor of Georgetown Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker; August 2, the Rev. Harold E. Beatty, pastor of Georgetown Lutheran Church, will be the speaker; and on August 9, H. Lawrence Choate, president of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of America, will speak.

These meetings are under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and all of the Georgetown Protestant Churches, including West Washington Baptist, Dumbarton Avenue M. E., Calvary M. E. The St. Stephens Prayer Circle will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Chapel of The Incarnation.

Dr. John Compton Ball Goes to Lake Mohonk

Dr. John Compton Ball, pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist Church, left this week for a two months' vacation at Lake Mohonk, N. Y. His pulpit will be filled tomorrow morning by the Rev. R. E. White, and in the evening by the Rev. Carl Hewlett, a student in the Baptist Seminary at Louisville.

Dr. Sterling Bockhoven will sing in the morning and Mrs. Gilbert Clark in the evening.

Church Advance Held Vital for Civilization

In his sermon at the National City Christian Church tomorrow morning, the pastor, Dr. H. H. Harmon, will endeavor to show why the continued forward movement of the church is essential to present-day civilization, and its support by all thinking people a necessity to their physical and mental as well as their spiritual well-being.

Young People in Charge Of Ninth Street Service

Dr. B. H. Melton, pastor of the Ninth Street Christian Church, will occupy his pulpit tomorrow morning. The Young People of the Church, who have just returned from the Lynchburg conference will have charge of the evening service. Old hymns will be sung and slides of the hymns will be thrown on the screen as the audience joins in the old-time songs.

Union Evening Service In Southeast Announced

The union evening service in the Southeast will have the Rev. F. F. Holsopple as preacher tomorrow night. The North Carolina Avenue Methodist Protestant Church will be host to the people of other churches for the evening.

This completes one round of the churches. The meeting will be held on the following Sunday in the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Brooks to Preach On Subject of Prayer

Dr. R. W. Brooks, minister of Lincoln Congregational Temple, will continue his series of sermons on "What Can the Negro Believe?" tomorrow. His special theme is "Prayer," and he will answer these questions: Do we seek to inform God of our needs? Is not prayer a form of pious begging? Does it have any objective reality?

Petworth Methodists Arrange Full Program

A very full program has been arranged for the one-hour service at Petworth Methodist Church tomorrow evening. The service begins at 7:30 and ends promptly at 8:30.

George Price and Miss Beth King will have charge of the first half hour, which is given over to the young people, during which a stirring song service of familiar hymns will be directed by Charles Buchanan. Miss Dorothy Seamans will play two violin numbers. The minister, the Rev. R. L. Wood, will preach a short sermon on the first murder.

Petworth Pastor Draws Lesson From Mishap

An automobile accident in Pennsylvania Thursday of last week threw the program of the Rev. Robert Louis Wood, pastor of Petworth Methodist Church, somewhat out of gear. His machine skidded on a wet road, breaking a wheel and injuring him about the head. He had to remain at the scene until Saturday, waiting for a wheel to come from Philadelphia.

This experience served "to remind him of that helpless feeling one has when his machine skids and he can do nothing but trust in the Lord."

Bishop Preacher at John Wesley.

Bishop W. W. Mathews, bishop in charge of the African work of the A. M. E. Zion Church, will preach at John Wesley A. M. E. Zion Church tomorrow morning.

Full Gospel Church Plans Anniversary

All-Day Services to Be Held Tomorrow at Tabernacle.

All-day services will mark the anniversary of the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, tomorrow. A special program will feature this event. A report of the financial progress since coming into the present building will be made by the treasurer.

The order for the day includes a rally of all Sunday school departments under the superintendent, Ivan V. Gross, at 9:30 a. m. The pastor, the Rev. Harry L. Collier, will bring the anniversary message at 11 a. m., when new members will be received into the church. At 3 p. m. there will be an assembly of the tabernacle branches and field evangelists, when the Rev. J. A. McCambridge, of the Cheltenham (Md.) Gospel Tabernacle, will speak and Evangelist Loretta Chapman will tell of Gospel victories in Virginia.

The Young Crusaders will combine their service with the big evangelistic service at 7:30 p. m., when the pastor will preach.

The annual anniversary offering for the tabernacle will be received during the day, and the choir, orchestra and tabernacle band will furnish a complete musical program all day.

Evening Bells Service Attendance Is Growing

Robert Ruckman, guest organist, will have charge of the vespers program at the National City Christian Church tomorrow evening. Six numbers have been selected and will be played on the big organ.

This service is called the Evening Bells Service. It opens with a program on the tower chimes, followed by the organ recital, and then a period of meditation. Since its inauguration the attendance has grown, and the service is meeting with a most unexpected response.

E. M. Bryan to Address Lincoln Park Service

E. M. Bryan, of the Bryan Printing Co., a prominent worker in the Organized Bible Class Association, will be the speaker at the Lincoln Park meeting at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Attendance Is Increased At Peace Cross Service

Increased congragations have been noted at the evensong services at the foot of the Peace Cross in Washington Cathedral Close on Sundays at 4 o'clock, especially since the Right Rev. Dr. H. P. Almon Abbott, Bishop of Lexington, Ky., began his series of sermons, which will continue during July. The service and sermon are broadcast by radio over Station WMAL, of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The cathedral authorities cordially invite visitors in the city as well as residents to attend this brief service of worship in the out-of-doors. Ample room is available for all who wish to come.

Mount Vernon Place Has Guest Musicians

An interesting development at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church South, is the appearance from Sunday to Sunday of guest musicians, organists and soloists.

Tomorrow morning, Mrs. Ionia Smith Cuppet, organist of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Clarksburg, W. Va., will preside at the organ. In the evening, Miss Mabel Garrett, teacher of music in the public schools of Petersburg, Va., will be soloist. An unusually fine program will be given by the choir at both services.

Eighty Jesuit scholastics, teachers in training for the priesthood, assembled at Georgetown University yesterday from half a dozen cities in the East for sessions of their annual summer school.

Georgetown is host to the summer school for the first time this year, sessions previously having been held at Fordham University for the New York-Maryland province of the order. Those in attendance come from institutions in New York, Jersey City, Philadelphia and Baltimore, as well as Washington.

Bible Class Will Study Early Social Service

All the officers of Eastern Presbyterian Church have been invited to attend the Men's Bible Class tomorrow. The lesson topic, "Social Service in the Early Church," is appropriate for this special occasion.

T. J. McAdams, vice president of the class, will welcome the guests and the lesson will be given by the teacher, George H. Winslow.

Life Adjustment Center Clinics Held in Summer

The clinics of the Washington Life Adjustment Center, which have been conducted at the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church for the last three years, will, this year for the first time, be continued each Monday evening throughout the summer, from 7 to 10 o'clock.

The acting director, a social worker, and several members of the professional staff will be in attendance at each clinic.

Church of the Pilgrim Pastor Starts Vacation

Dr. Andrew Reid Bird, minister of the Church of the Pilgrims, leaves today on his annual vacation. Accompanied by Mrs. Bird and the three children and his brother, he will motor to an unannounced destination, where Dr. Bird hopes to take a complete rest.

During his absence, his pulpit will be filled by Dr. Warren H. Stuart, a returned missionary from China.

Harrison Bible Class.

Donald Leatherwood will be the speaker at the meeting of the Harrison Bible class of the Congress Street Methodist Protestant Church tomorrow morning, and E. M. Dowding will teach the class.

RETREAT IS ENDED BY SODALITY UNION

Holy Name Members to Go to Laurel, Md., Meeting Next Sunday.

The Sodality Union of Washington closed its first retreat last Monday morning with a capacity attendance at the Washington Retreat House, 4000 Harewood road, Brookland, D. C. Fourteen sodalities were represented.

The retreat was conducted in strict accord with the Holy Father's wishes. Throughout the entire retreat silence was observed.

The Rev. Charles G. Herzog, S. J., of Woodstock College, was retreat master, and conducted the retreat in accordance with "the St. Ignatius Exercises," the motto being "God and myself."

Holy Name Society.

Holy Name men of Washington and their families will go to Laurel, Md., Sunday afternoon, July 26, for the July quarterly meeting of the Washington Section of the Baltimore Holy Name Union. The hour for the meeting has been set at 3 o'clock, but special arrangements have been made for the entertainment of members and their families, especially the children, to take part in an informal horseshoe-throwing contest preceding the meeting.

Following the meeting, which will be presided over by Caesar L. Aiello, president of the Washington Section, there will be refreshments for the delegates. Members of the organization have been invited to make the meeting the occasion for a family outing and reunion. The great lawn surrounding the beautiful church and hall, will be thrown open to the members, and ample parking facilities will be provided for automobiles.

The Rev. Joseph A. Myer, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Laurel, will act as host to the delegates. Special invitations to attend have been sent Mr. George C. Mantz, archdiocesan president; Monsignor Peter L. Ireton, archdiocesan spiritual director, the Rev. John J. Russell, regional director for Baltimore, and others.

Curley Club Retreat.

The men of the Curley Club of Washington will join with the men of the Immaculate Conception parish in making the annual retreat at Manresa, beginning Friday evening, July 24, and ending Monday morning, July 27.

Harry J. Froehlich, president of Immaculate Conception Holy Name Society, has sent special invitations to the men of the parish in an effort to have the largest delegation of the year at the Archdiocesan Retreat House. This work has been stirred to enthusiasm by a letter just received from the Very Rev. Eugene deL. McDonald, S. J., Retreat Director, in which he urged the men of the parish to come down in large numbers.

The work of arousing interest in the Curley Club has been in the hands of James O'Connell and Francis McCann. Roland Hyland, president of the club, is lending the movement his enthusiastic support.

The Dentists' Manresa Club, Holy Name parish, under the captaincy of Albert W. Kirchner and the Cheese Club of Baltimore, will also make the retreat on July 24.

Holy Comforter Church Carnival.

Plans for the annual carnival of Holy Comforter Church are about completed. The carnival will open July 27 on the campus surrounding the parish school at Fifteenth and East Capitol streets.

The opening feature of the festival will be a band concert. Much interest is being taken in the decoration of the 17 booths. A prize will be offered for the best decorated one. Secrecy surrounds the plans of the various booth chairmen as to the style of their respective booths.

The Rev. Edward J. A. Nestor is honorary chairman and treasurer of the carnival committee.

Novena at St. Ann's.

Father Augustine Aylward, C. S. S. R., will conduct the services at the Novena which will begin at St. Ann's Church on Saturday in honor of St. Ann, the mother of the Blessed Virgin.

The Rev. Edward F. Reilly, who became pastor of the parish last Saturday wishes to have a large attendance.

Devotions every evening at 8 o'clock will consist of the novena prayers, a short instruction, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and veneration of the Relic.

Novena prayers will be said after the daily Mass at 7 o'clock and after the Sunday Masses at 7:30, 8:30, 9:30 and 11 o'clock.

Sentence Sermon

(Minister of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church).

3. Confessions of Sin

THE centuries roll by. It is a beautiful spring morning in the year 29 A. D. in Palestine. It was one of those mornings when the grass seemed greener and the blue in the sky seemed more blue. On the outer pavement of the palace of Pilate stood Jesus. He was arrested without warrant; he was tried without evidence; he was convicted without testimony; he was scourged without pity. And through whom? By the side of every high mountain there is a valley; on the edge of every oasis is a desert; close by every Abraham is a Lot; near to every Isaac is an Ishmael; by the side of every Joshua there stands an Achan, and by the side of Jesus there stood Judas.

In that hour of hours, after a cruel and pitiless betrayal, Judas rushed into the presence of those from whom he had accepted a bribe, flung the thirty silver coins on the mosaic floor and sobbed out that most tragic of all confessions: "I have sinned in that I have betrayed innocent blood."

There he stands in the pillory of the world's scorn and execration! How can you explain that confession? I know it is not uncommon to say that Judas could not help himself; he was a victim of circumstances, the plaything of a cruel destiny. Someone had to play the role of a betrayer, and the lot fell to Judas. He is not responsible. But that glib philosophy never occurred to Judas himself.

Then too, it is often suggested that the betrayal was the act of a disillusioned man. He felt that in following Jesus of Nazareth he had been duped and tricked and cheated. He had given up much to become a disciple. Now that the dream had failed, like a drowning rat he determined to leave the sinking ship and salvage for himself what he could. But that reason never occurs to any of the disciples.

Then too, it has been intimated that Judas was motivated by a holy purpose. He determined once and forever to force Jesus into a predicament whereby He would be compelled to show His power and set up His Kingdom. It is said that he believed in the Kingdom of Christ and that by one sharp practice he produced a situation which would compel Jesus to show His mighty hand.

But the New Testament portrays him in no such role. He is never spoken of as a disciple. He is only called one of the twelve—sometimes as the man who held the bag. Jesus had no good word to speak of Judas at any time. You hear Him say, "One of you hath a devil;" "the son of perdition;" "good were it for that man had he not been born."

Behind that confession lies the cruel sin of avarice. In one sentence he revealed himself: "How much will you give me?" When once that sin of avarice grips there is no crime to which it will not stoop. How many times has that sin, so breath-taking and rampant in the modern world, betrayed the Son of God afresh!

What about this confession of sin? It came to nothing. "Judas went out and hanged himself."

Dr. Coe to Preach In Capital Church

First Congregational to Hear Oak Park, Ill., Minister.

The Rev. Dr. Albert Buckner Coe, minister of First Congregational Church, Oak Park, Ill., will be the preacher tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at First Congregational Church, Tenth and G streets northwest.

First Church, Oak Park, is one of the outstanding churches in the Congregational denomination. Dr. Coe for two years was a member of the American expeditionary forces during the World War and served as a lieutenant of artillery, with service in France and Germany.

He entered Yale Divinity School after the war and graduated with the degree of B. D. in 1922. He held pastorates in Somerville, Mass., and Waterbury, Conn., before being called to the First Church in Oak Park, and is a member of the Commission on Evangelism and the Seminar on Worship of the National Council of Congregational Churches.

Dr. Coe's brother, Robert W. Coe, was at one time an assistant minister at First Church, Washington.

Flirting in Washington To Be Sermon Subject

Centennial Baptist Church is filled every Sunday evening to hear the Rev. E. Bez Swem's sermons on love and marriage, a series that has been running some weeks now. Tomorrow evening he will preach on "Why Washington Folks Flirt!"

Central Union Mission Will Hear E.H. DeGroot

E. H. DeGroot, of the National Baptist Memorial Church and president of the Central Union Mission's board of directors, will be the speaker at the services in the Mission's chapel, 613 C street, tomorrow at 7:45 p. m.

George Goodwin, of Epworth M. E. Church, will be the guest soloist.

COMFORT IN CHURCH SUMMER PROBLEM

Eastern Bible Class Solves It by Inviting Men to Remove Their Coats.

Acting on the supposition that many men stay away from the meeting of the Bible class on Sunday morning because they think it is too warm to come out, the Men's Bible Class of the Eastern Presbyterian Church, 611 Maryland avenue northeast, has inaugurated a novel custom.

"The men of our class," says the announcement, "do not think it irreverent, undignified, impolite, immodest or rude to take their coats off in the class during the hot weather. Every man, therefore, attending the class is at liberty to remove his coat, if he so desires."

This is not a bad idea. In this age of mechanism, the wonder is that churches are not made as comfortable as theaters. They can be cooled as easily as they can be heated, and by use of the same system. Other systems, which cost less, force fresh, cooled air through a building, and keep the worshippers in as happy a frame of mind as they are in when they step out of the hot air into a chilled theater.

We have not yet learned the art of making people comfortable in church. We still cling to the stiff, hard, uncomfortable benches that were used in the time of the Pilgrim Fathers, who brought the first of these benches from England with them in the Mayflower. The idea was that religion was made to make man mourn and not to make him happy.

Some day some architect is going to catch the thought that church pews and Sunday school chairs and benches should not be torture racks, and he will design seats that rest one's body while the hearing of the preached word rests the mind and soul.

As a substitute for this the idea of the Eastern Presbyterian men is noble and practical. It is worthy of emulation.

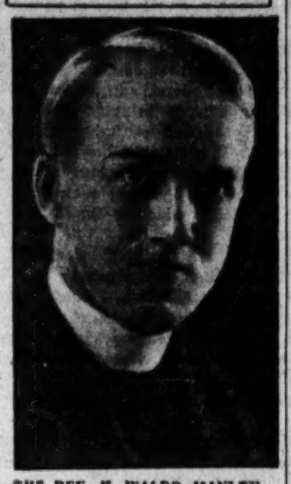
CALLED HERE



THE REV. H. WALDO MANLEY.

Frankford Pastor At Union Service

Union Worship Will Be at Mount Pleasant Tomorrow.

The Rev. John Stapleton, minister of the Frankford Congregational Church, Philadelphia, will preach tomorrow morning at the fourth of the series of union summer Sunday services in the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church.

Participating in these union services, in addition to the Mount Pleasant church, are the National Universalist Memorial and the All Souls Unitarian churches.

Beginning one week from tomorrow and continuing for four Sunday mornings the services will be held in the Universalist Church, at Sixteenth and S streets northwest, with the final four services in the All Souls Unitarian Church.

The three churches will resume their individual services September 20.

ESTHER MEMORIAL TO GET NEW RECTOR

Rev. H. Waldo Manley Called From Pastorate in Ellicott City, Md.

Esther Memorial Protestant Episcopal Church, which has been without a rector for some time, has called the Rev. H. Waldo Manley, of Ellicott City, Md. He will take up his duties August 15.

Mr. Manley has been in charge of the Ellicott City Church for the last two years. For a time he was on the staff of Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, Baltimore, and was active in the work of the Chinese Sunday school conducted under auspices of that parish.

He was born in Canton, Pa., in 1902, was educated in the grammar and high schools of Canton, at the Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa., and at the General Theological Seminary. He was made deacon in 1927 and priest in 1928. After his ordination he came to Baltimore on the staff of Emmanuel Church.

While studying at the General Theological Seminary he was associated with the New York City Mission Society and was the first person to occupy the position of port and dock chaplain in that city.

Texas Woman Preaches In Fifth Baptist Church

Mrs. J. M. Dawson, of Waco, Tex., who was one of the principal speakers at the recent meeting of the Baptist Young People's convention in this city, will occupy the pulpit of the Fifth Baptist Church tomorrow morning. She is the wife of a Baptist minister and is said to be herself a preacher of rare power and eloquence.

Dr. John E. Briggs, the pastor, writes the Church Page: "Please allow me to express appreciation of the publicity you gave our seventy-fifth anniversary last week. It was a glorious success."

Gandhi Will Be Subject Of Georgetown Sermon

Every Sunday morning the Rev. Frank S. Niles, minister of Georgetown Presbyterian Church, preaches a short sermon to the children of his congregation. It is usually a story sermon, developed around some Bible character or the life of some outstanding religious leader. Tomorrow he will talk to the children about Gandhi, the great leader of India.

Building for the Future

A short time ago, I was sitting in the office of a great architect in New York City. From the window on the twenty-fifth floor, we could see the massive buildings towering above the city.

"In each of those great buildings," said the Architect, "you can see the character and soul of the artist." This is unquestionably true in life. We see the soul and character of the parents in the children.

Those great buildings would not stand if the foundation was not perfect, neither would the child win in life's struggles if the foundation of moral education were neglected.

How many parents of today are neglecting to give their children the proper moral foundation? Are we honest with ourselves and with our children when we keep them from the most necessary preparation to fit them to reach the top and be one of the builders in their community?

If the parents will stop and consider this greatest of all responsibilities that rest upon them, the much talked of crime wave will soon disappear.

As the Parents Sow, So Will Their Children Reap

EUROPEAN POLITICS.

In spite of emphatic official statements that the American representatives in the pending conferences in Paris and London have been instructed to confine themselves to consideration of the economic emergency, and to avoid intermeddling in Europe's political affairs, some newspapers have calmly taken it for granted that the Hoover administration has scrapped ancient tradition and is about to involve itself in the broils of Europe.

Some warrant for this mistaken assumption is given in dispatches from Paris and London. The intense desire of European governments to "use" the United States for their own purposes seems to have caused news writers on the other side to misconstrue the powers of Messrs. Stimson and Mellon. These writers have gone so far as to assert that it is Mr. Stimson's purpose to take up and settle all outstanding political controversies between France and Germany.

It is evident that Messrs. Stimson and Mellon are engaged in a task in which foresight and sound judgment must be on guard against involving the United States in European politics. The economic emergency in Europe is affected by far-reaching political factors. The statesmen of Europe apparently have no wish to confine their cooperation to the solution of purely economic questions. On the contrary, they are anxious to open up political questions which they know to be at the bottom of passing troubles. They would be glad to draw upon the moral and material strength of the United States in solving their difficulties. They do not concern themselves with the effect which American participation in European politics would have upon American politics or political fortunes. In trying to save themselves from drowning they have no regard for the danger that confronts their rescuer. The United States is expected to save Europe and then save itself also.

In these ticklish negotiations many Americans will comfort themselves with the thought that Andrew W. Mellon is at the table, and that no bargains will be made without passing through the alembic of his clear and prudent mind. Back of him is the President, with his advisers, and back of them is the Senate. Therefore Mr. Stimson will not be subjected alone to the strain of making decisions which might have consequences reaching far into the future.

How the negotiators are to deal with economic matters while brushing political questions aside is a problem which they must solve if the administration is to extend help to Europe while avoiding perilous commitments. The American people have repeatedly drawn a line between cooperation and partnership in dealing with foreign powers. The people will not tolerate political bargains with Europe, and still less will they tolerate any agreements which would make the United States responsible for enforcing any political undertakings abroad.

The distinction between helpful cooperation and entangling partnership has been so well stated by President Hoover on numerous occasions that there need be no apprehension that he is departing from established American policy. He is supported by the people in his efforts to aid Europe in its emergency. He knows that he will be supported by the people when he resists the blandishments of European diplomats who would like to involve him in their quarrels.

WASHINGTON'S ADVICE.

Nearly a century and a half ago George Washington wrote to Thomas Jefferson that the conduct of Congress was "disgraceful in a high degree to our country." Since the letter, which appears elsewhere on this page, was written before the Constitution was adopted, it referred, of course, to the Continental Congress. That shrewd statesman who was later to become the first President observed that members of the Congress were frittering away their time in partisan bickerings and failing to transact necessary public business. Unquestionably that was one condition which led to the failure of the Continental Congress and the subsequent establishment of the existing Federal Government.

The Continental Congress remained in constant session. Members were lax in attendance. Washington observed that those who were present wearied of each other's company and stooped to personal animosities. "This begets opposition," he wrote, "opposition begets faction, and so it goes on, till business is impeded, often at a stand." The letter reveals Washington's keen political insight and his broad understanding of human nature. Even in that early day he clearly foresaw that the best interests of the country could be served by short annual sessions of Congress devoted exclusively to public business.

Washington's advice was so well founded on human nature, which does not change, that it is still applicable today. Nothing can be gained by keeping Congress in session over long periods. Experience has shown that long sessions seldom mean the transaction of more public business, but that they allow time for grandstand politics and unnecessary tinkering with the law. Ample time must be allowed for members of Congress to associate with the people they represent and to formulate policies against a background of fact and deliberate reasoning. Achievements of a legislative body can never be judged by the length of the sessions or the quantity of its output.

Demands for an extra session of Congress at the present time are an outgrowth of the misguided philosophy that whatever is wrong should be remedied by law. Washington and the other statesmen who designed the American Government had no such conception of congressional duties. It is not the function of Congress to sit at the helm the year round and direct the course of national progress. The American people are masters of their own destiny. Let Congress enact just and equitable laws based on modern conditions and allow the people to take care of themselves. That was the attitude of Washington, and that is the attitude of a great majority of the American people today.

THE GREENLAND DISPUTE.

Norway and Denmark are again in dispute over title to the east coast of northern Greenland. Some fifteen years ago, when the late Robert Lansing was Secretary of State and the late Dr. Maurice Francis Eagan was American Minister at Copenhagen, this heated argument over a very cold land got under way. The United States had agreed to purchase the Danish West Indies, known now as the Virgin Islands. When the papers were signed Denmark was given formal assurance by this Government that there would be no objection to that country extending its political and economic interests to the far stretches of Greenland. Up to this period Denmark had exercised its sovereignty only in the district of Angmagsalik on the east coast.

Back in the thirteenth century citizens of the Norse republic in Greenland had sworn allegiance to Norway, though the old Danish trading posts in Angmagsalik stood uncontested. When, after the Virgin Islands had been deeded to the United States, Denmark started to extend her activities in the Land of the North Wind, the home of the Hyperboreans, Norway filed a protest. It was feared that an extension of Danish sovereignty would put a stop to the excursions of Norwegian whalers and traders.

Norway and Denmark finally came to an agreement, and on July 9, 1924, a treaty was concluded which gave Norway certain fishing and hunting rights, outside of Angmagsalik, and Denmark sovereignty over the whole island. This seemed to end the affair. All was quiet along the Norwegian and Danish fronts until one day last week when an adventurous band of Norwegian youth, exploring, planted the flag of their country on the east coast. The Norwegian government has made official annexation of the territory, and its challenge to Danish sovereignty will be carried before the World Court.

Little is known of this waste land in the far north. Its value, even for hunting and fishing, is extremely limited. But Norway apparently feels an urge to explore and claim new lands. It is worth something to have a region that still beckons to adventurous spirits while baffling the encroachments of civilization.

SELF-RELIANT INDUSTRY.

A number of industries appear to be in need of a liberal dose of old-fashioned American independence and self-reliance. They seem to have lost some of the aggressive determination to solve their own troubles that was characteristic of the recent years of expansion. The modern tendency is to appeal to Washington for Federal aid to remedy industrial ills that are too often due to poor business methods or short-sighted policies. Statutes are demanded to offset natural laws; Government funds are sought to postpone the inevitable day of reckoning.

At present it is the coal mining industry that is laying its troubles on the national doorstep. The miners have met with Cabinet officers, making a plea for a national conference at which they hope to secure recognition of their union and revision of wage scales. The operators have met with the same officials and explained their inability to improve conditions with prevailing low prices and slack markets. Practical benefits from a national conference appear doubtful if frank consultation with Federal authorities, who are anxious to assist in bringing about a settlement, can not find equitable grounds for compromise. It is notable, however, that large West Virginia operators, long at odds with union labor, have settled their differences and resumed production on a satisfactory basis.

Silver miners are making world-wide efforts to secure artificial restoration of prices through governmental action. They have done little to stimulate the legitimate demand for commodity silver, as have the copper interests, suffering from similar low prices. Cotton manufacturers inaugurated a notable campaign to increase the sale of cotton goods.

Oil is another sick industry. In the last Congress desperate efforts were made to enact legislation intended to save uneconomic producing elements by shutting out foreign imports. Since then a much greater flood of oil at home has aroused the industry to the necessity of self-control. Whole fields are being shut down to curtail overproduction and State laws are sought to force sane limitation upon producers who will not cooperate. Recent endeavors to circumvent Federal anti-trust laws have given place to company action based on sound business policy assisted by State enactments.

Wheat continues to be a national nightmare. But a movement is on foot to utilize local resources for relief of the growers. In one section of Kansas banks and business interests are combining not only to finance farmers, but to take over town buildings and provide storage for wheat, while machinery manufacturers are extending longer credits.

The endeavor to secure a paternalistic remedy from the Government for every adverse situation that arises is a double evil. It blights the enterprise and resourcefulness of both individuals and communities. Moreover, Federal charity has to be repaid, if not directly, then in the form of taxes. It is encouraging to see in various lines of industry that have been stricken by the depression signs of an awakening realization that they have within themselves and in the communities they serve resources with which to begin the work of their own salvation.

TALKING ABOUT CONGRESS

Letter From George Washington to Thomas Jefferson, Dated Mount Vernon, March 29, 1784.

"The incertitude, which prevails in Congress, and the nonattendance of its members, are discouraging to those, who are willing and ready to discharge the trust, which is reposed in them; whilst it is disgraceful in a high degree to our country. But it is my belief, the case will never be otherwise, so long as that body persist in their present mode of doing business, and will hold constant instead of annual sessions; against the former of which my mind furnishes me with a variety of arguments; but not one, in times of peace, against the latter.

"Annual sessions would always produce a full representation, and alertness at business. The delegates, after a separation of eight or ten months, would meet each other with glad countenances. They would be complaisant; they would yield to each other all, that duty to their constituents would allow; and they would have better opportunities of becoming acquainted with their sentiments, and removing improper prejudices, when they are imbibed, by mixing with them during the recess. Men, who are always together, get tired of each other's company; they throw off that restraint, which is necessary to keep things in proper tune; they say and do things, which are personally disgusting; this begets opposition; opposition begets faction; and so it goes on, till business is impeded, often at a stand. I am sure (having the business prepared by proper boards or a committee) an annual session of two months would despatch more business than is now done in twelve, and this by a full representation of the Union."

WAKE UP, WINSTED!

From the New York Herald Tribune.

Hot weather always brings the wild animals out of their lairs and into the news columns. This season is no exception. On one day the ever-reliable Associated Press brought forward the story of the faithful carrier pigeon which, with its wing disabled by gunshot, walked half the 300 miles from Lookout Mountain, Tenn., to its home at Port Monmouth, N. J.; the saga of the bold African rancher who, attacked by a lion, grimly seized the great cat's tongue and held the beast helpless until a fellow rancher shot the animal dead; and a sad dirge from the bathing beaches of the Schuylkill River, infested by wild alligators escaped from the Norristown zoo.

Pretty good all of them, it seems to us, particularly the story of Daniel Africanus holding the lion's tongue. The pigeon tale has its weakness; the correspondent failed to specify that the bird had been shot in Tennessee, and an unromantic skeptic might suspect that it had flown most of the way home before the birdshot struck it. Still, an Edward Weston among pigeons is a refreshingly new note in nature news, and the three stories, stacked together, make a bumper crop. They challenge the genius of the Sage of Winsted, Conn., hitherto undisputed champion among nature fakirs. Lewis T. Stone, the man who discovered the hare-lipped cat that whistled "Yankee Doodle;" the modest cow, used to old maids, who would let no man milk her; the gold-toothed pickerel and the motherly bulldog who sat on the hen's eggs—Lewis T. Stone is no man to take such stories lying down. The weather is ripe; we await impatiently the news from Winsted!

POST HASTE.

A New York court has again upheld the 5-cent fare. Subway riders certainly deserve it.

First thing you know the spotlight will illuminate an appeal reading: "Hungary for a loan."

Woolworth, the telephone company, cigarette makers and Mr. Wrigley haven't heard of the depression. Americans don't count their nickels.

Secretary Mellon is also going post-haste to the London conference, as suggested by this department.

Five billions of currency are in circulation in this country. Well, maybe it's just the circulation that needs a summer tonic.

Ambassador Madariaga has been elected vice president of the new Spanish Cortes. Here's hoping he will not be too busy to write, but can anything stop a real writer from writing?

One crowd knows how to make folks spend money. Fall styles are to be so changed that the women will just have to buy new dresses.

When it comes to Department of Commerce figures we "inKlein" to the belief that no one knows as much about them as the Assistant Secretary.

Twenty-five per cent more motorists are outright owners of their cars than in 1929. But how old is Lizzie?

The London conference is limited to discussion of problems of the "present emergency." But what's an emergency and when does the "present" merge into the future?

To the great relief of us modern purists a New York judge has decided that "lousy" ain't no libel.

Nationalist China at Nanking not only is between the fires of Communism in the north and Cantonism in the south but its own armies are deserting to add fuel to the flames of opposition.

At least airplane and telephone business on that London-Paris-Berlin triangle is picking up.

Senator Jim Watson's summer campaign of trying to force Democratic colleagues on record as favoring tariff reductions on the "other fellow's" products is just about the most unkindest.

Naturally France squeezes them tighter. A dime is 50 centimes over there. P. H.

REUNITED.

Three years ago death came to part
And took from her his hand
And bade him be the first to start
Into the promised land.

"Till death do part," the vows were said.
For five and fifty years
The path of life was theirs to tread
With all its joys and fears.

And then the parting came and she Alone was left to stay,
Waiting and wondering just when he
Would need her 'cross the way.

The death which parted came once more
With evening's fading light
And took her to the other shore.
This time to reunite!

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE—A few years ago—it seems only a matter of days—you and your friends were boisterous little heathens whose good times seemed to consist chiefly in noise making.

When a dozen of you were huddled in one room or out in the yard, there was no peace or rest for anybody else on the premises.

When you assumed, without parental suggestion, the obligation to serve something or make candy for your guests, the resulting mess required a general overhauling of the kitchen.

And when you took advantage of authority's absence, set the phonograph going and rolled back the rugs for a dance, the nails protruding from worn shoe heels gave the newly-waxed floor a permanent finish resembling that of a smallpox victim.

Under the circumstances, your mother and I didn't encourage you to have mixed company in large lots. We wanted you to have a good time, and we wanted you to gain experience as a hostess, but we didn't want the house torn down and our nerves wrecked in the process.

Your acceptance of the situation was sweet and praiseworthy—which means that you kicked less than disappointed kids usually do—but you got the wrong idea.

You thought the ban on homemade whoopee was permanent. And I didn't know how you felt about it until last night, when you said that you hesitated to plan little parties because our home seemed to belong to your mother and me and not to you.

I suspect that all kids feel that way. I did at your age. It's a result of everlasting parental "don'ts."

But the prohibitions aren't necessary now, for you are past the young-cyclone period; and I want you to understand that our home is not only your home, but that its chief business from now on is to serve as a setting for you.

It has always been my ambition for your home to be the headquarters and gathering place for all of the well-bred youngsters of the community.

I want them all to feel as Jack did the year before he died. Do you remember how he would drop in at night, make himself comfortable and say: "Got anything to eat, Liza? I didn't go home to supper and I'm famished."

I know that youngsters of your age must be together to be happy, and I want you to provide the meeting place. I built that new glassed-in room especially for your playhouse. Only remember that everything is a bore if you overdo it. Love, DAD.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Detroit News.

To be fortified with his own information in case of a crisis, and probably to so smooth the situation that a crisis can be avoided, President Hoover is sending Secretary of War Hurley to Manila. Evidently all that was needed to arouse the cause of independence from its sleep among the Filipinos was the presence among them of a smart proindependence United States politician. He appeared in the person of Senator Harry B. Hawes, than whom, among Democrats, a shrewder eye to the galleries would be difficult to find.

Senator Hawes became a passionate champion of Philippine independence during the fight in Congress over the Hawley-Smoot tariff act. With a party of Congressmen, he junketed to the Philippines this summer in a naval transport. From the minute he landed he trumpeted independence and he wound up dramatically Sunday by heading an independence parade in Manila. The excitable Filipino temperament has been aroused to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the handsome six-foot U. S. "statesman."

Hoover's Achievements.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Next year the President's present term will be nearing its close. There is little doubt that he hopes to make his influence felt to the utmost in the direction of better world relations, and especially in reduction of armaments. The London naval conference in the first year of his administration gave momentum to the President's purpose. Its encouraging outcome warranted preparation for the world conference next year. Recently before the world meeting of Chamber of Commerce officials the President spoke significantly of the burden of armaments under which the world labors and urged reduction. Then came the moratorium proposal with a general relaxation of tension in Europe and an almost unanimous acceptance of President Hoover's leadership in bringing about a closer spirit of cooperation. At present the President occupies a commanding influence in behalf of improved world relations. That he will exert it to the utmost to bring about the greatest possible good to the world goes without saying. Complete success of the movement for reduced armaments would be one of the outstanding achievements of his administration.

A 500-Year Plan.

The only criticism which could be made of the proposal for a five-year industrial plan for the American Government is that it should be a 500-year plan. This is a grand government. It moves by glacial ages.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Catholic Historian Gives His Own Interpretation of Relations Between United States and Vatican During Civil War Period.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Referring to the article in your issue of July 12, by David Rankin Barbee, on the correspondence of Mr. King, United States Minister to the Papal States, 1861-68; it seems to me, and I am sure will seem to many, to be a far cry from the situation existing between the Vatican State and the government of Italy today and that of 1867.

The writer of the article chooses to color the Holy See in unfavorable light. On the Syllabus, he quotes the Encyclopedia Britannica, a non-Catholic authority, to the effect that in that document Pius IX condemned liberty of faith, liberty of conscience, liberty of worship, and claimed complete independence of the church from the state. Without any qualifying phrase, those statements create a wrong impression.

The article also gives the impression that John Surratt joined the Papal Army because of his sympathy for the Papal cause. It is well known that John Surratt joined the Papal Army under an assumed name for the purpose of escaping trial; that when his identity was discovered extradition papers were immediately signed by Pius IX.

The article states the Holy See recognized the Confederacy. We know of no foundation for this statement. McMaster does not mention it. The writer himself states that Mr. King served as United States Minister to the Papal States from 1861-68. It is hardly possible that diplomatic relations between the United States and the Papal States would have been so continued if, in the meanwhile, Pius IX had officially recognized the Confederacy.

Nor do we believe there is any foundation for the statement that the loyalty of Catholics in 1875 re-elected Johnson to the Senate. The panic of 1873, the growing disfavor of the Republican Party, the election of Tilden in 1874, the general awakening of the public conscience, the combination in Tennessee of Conservatives with some Republicans—all contributed to the election by the Senate of Tennessee of Andrew Johnson to the United States Senate.

There is little likelihood, certainly there is no evidence, that the Holy See knew that Andrew Johnson once in a while attended service at St. Patrick's here, or for a while sent one of his sons to Georgetown. Andrew Johnson was a Free Mason.

The evidence in the matter of Pius IX coming to the United States still stands, as Seward at the time said it stood. Even according to Mr. King's documents, the minister of war of the Papal States and Monsignor Nardi only said that if the Pope were thinking of leaving Rome the United States would be the most favorable country for him to come to. Mr. King never says that he had any direct evidence that Pius IX entertained the thought of coming to the United States.

Democrat of 100 Per Cent Variety Comes Out for Nomination of Dr. France by Republicans.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Choosing the leading newspaper in the Capital of the Nation, I wish to let the world know through your columns that the announcement by former Senator France, of Port Deposit, Md., of his candidacy for President of the United States on the Republican ticket finds in my heart a responsive chord for the following reasons:

First, Dr. France, if elected, will be a do-nothing, know-nothing President, and that's what we need, for governments nowadays invade too much the field of individual liberty.

Second, Dr. France can be of service to members of Congress with his medical knowledge, for what most of those boys "up on the hill" need is mental treatment to keep them as innocuous and as quiet as possible.

Third, Dr. France, if nominated by the Republican national convention, would be buried deep in the dust of defeat by the Democratic candidate, a sequel that would warm my heart, for I am a Democrat of the 100 per cent anti-Republican kind.

Missourian Accuses Senator Hawes of Furthering Insurrection in Philippines for American Sugar Interests.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having read your editorial regarding Senator Harry B. Hawes, it appears to me that you are misinformed regarding our senator. It is not as stated by you that he represents the farmers of this State, and in fact he never has.

It appears that our dear major, who was in the intelligence service during the World War, is furthering an insurrection of his own in the Philippines for the sugar interests.

In some countries people have been shot at sunrise for doing what our senator appears to be doing with his insurrectos in the Philippines.

Bird Lover Tells How Tiny Feathered Creature Chases Crow Away.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Sunday afternoon I was on a picnic in Rock Creek Park and noticed a small bird, about the size of a sparrow or a little larger, chasing a crow away from the vicinity. The small bird kept right after the crow until it had flown some distance. Then the little fighter returned to its tree-top perch, where it made a great deal of noise and began darting out into the air after insects, returning to its perch after each catch. I like to watch the birds and I know the names of quite a few but I don't know this one. What kind of a bird would pursue a crow in such a fearless manner? ALICE BOWEN.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Miss Detwiler Will Be Bride Of W. J. Price

Wedding to Take Place at Lancaster, Pa., August 15.

IN the announcement being made today by Mr. W. Sanderson Detwiler, of Lancaster, Pa., of the engagement of his sister, Miss Beatrice Detwiler, of Washington, to Mr. William Jennings Price, of Washington and Danville, Ky., Washington friends take unusual interest. The wedding will take place on August 15 at High Bank House, the home of Mr. Detwiler in Lancaster.

Miss Detwiler is the daughter of the late Daniel S. Detwiler, for many years president of the First National Bank of Columbia, Pa., and the late Mrs. Detwiler. An inveterate traveler, Miss Detwiler knows her Europe, where she has spent most of the spring and summer during the last half dozen years, returning generally to Washington in the late fall to spend the season here.

Interested in the social activities of the Capital, both Miss Detwiler and Mr. Price are consistent devotees of the winter parties, which they seem, the last year or two, to have attended together, so that the rumor of their engagement has persisted in society circles for some months.

Mr. Price, who is one of Washington's eminent attorneys, served as Minister to Panama from 1913 to 1921. He negotiated and executed the treaty eliminating the Panama Canal Zone and exchanging important lands and waters between the United States and Panama, also carried forward the act which vested in the United States complete and permanent control of all radio communications in the Republic of Panama.

Prior to his residence in Washington, Mr. Price was a member of the law faculty at Central University in Danville. He is a member of the Cosmos Club.

Miss Detwiler has planned a home wedding which will be attended by members of the families and by a few relatives. After the ceremony the couple will sail on the S. S. Paris for Europe, where they will make an extended visit interspersed with study and travel. They will spend some time in Geneva, Switzerland. Upon their return to this country they will make their home in Washington.

Many From Capital To Sail Aboard Paris.

When the S. S. Paris sails this evening from New York, it will carry a number of prominent Washingtonians en route to Europe to pass the summer. Representative and Mrs. James M. Beck will be aboard, and also Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis, who although not living in Washington, are closely identified with the Capital.

Others will be the Second Counselor of the Italian Embassy, Signor Giuseppe Catalani; Mrs. Hugh Campbell Wallace, widow of the former United States Ambassador to France; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Birney, Mr. Charles M. Douglas, and the Rev. John M. Douglas.

On the passenger list are also noted the names of several musical comedy stars, and a well-known song writer, so the trip will not lack entertainment.

Mr. Amos W. W. Woodcock, Prohibition Commissioner, has sailed for New York from Porto Rico after a business trip to San Juan. He will arrive in New York Monday.

Bishop and Mrs. Philip M. Rhinelander and their sons, Philip and Laurens Rhinelander, who were at the Westbury, in New York, have sailed on the Berengaria.

Dr. and Mrs. William C. Rives, of Washington, who were also at the Westbury, sailed on the Berengaria, and Mr. Clarence W. De Knight, also of Washington, who was at the St. Regis, sailed for Europe on the Berengaria.

The Italian Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, has gone to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for the week-end and is stopping at the Greenbrier. Affairs of state keep the Ambassador in town this summer with only short respites over the week-ends, which he has been spending at the West Virginia resort.

Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, wife of Senator Thomas D. Schall; Doug and Peggy Schall and their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Coupal, left this morning for Casenovia, N. Y., and Cleveland, via the Great Lakes to Duluth, Breezy Point Lodge, Pequot, Minn. Finally they will open the Schall cottage at Lake Minnetonka, Excelsior, for a month.

Mr. Jahncke to See Launching of Liner.

Mr. Ernest Lee Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, will attend the launching this noon of the S. S. Mariposa, which will slip down the ways at 12:30 o'clock at the plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co., Quincy, Mass. The new ship has been dubbed the Leviathan of the Pacific, as it represents one of the largest of the splendid boats of the Matson Line.

Mrs. Wallace Alexander, of San Francisco, wife of one of the officials of the line, will christen the boat.

The Secretary and Mrs. Jahncke will divide the week-end between Boston and Long Island, having left town yesterday with the Attorney General, Mr. William De Witt Mitchell, and Mr. Lawrence Richey, secretary to the President, who also will week-end on Long Island. Mrs. Mitchell, who has been in New York, left a day or two ago for her home in St. Paul, where she will remain through the summer.

Betrothal Announced

Harris & Ewing.

MISS BEATRICE DETWILER, whose engagement to Mr. William Jennings Price, of Washington and Danville, Ky., is announced by Miss Detwiler's brother, Mr. W. Sanderson Detwiler, of Lancaster, Pa. The wedding will take place in Lancaster on August 15.

Miss Thacher To Be Married On August 15

Daughter of Solicitor Is Betrothed to George Storm.

Miss Sally B. Thacher, daughter of the Solicitor General and Mrs. Thomas D. Thacher, has chosen August 22, for her marriage to Mr. George L. Storm, son of Mrs. Frederick K. Rupprecht and the late Mr. George Storm, of Greenwich, Conn.

The engagement was announced some months ago when the Thachers first came to Washington from New York to make their home in the charming old Georgetown house which was formerly the home of the United States Minister to El Salvador and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins. Miss Thacher has been a student at Smith College and until her graduation in June has not been in Washington except for short vacations and fleeting visits. Before Mr. Thacher was appointed solicitor general, his vivacious daughter was well known to the younger set of the Capital, having frequently been the guest of Mrs. George Abell, then Miss Luvie Moore, granddaughter of Mrs. Alben B. Butler.

The marriage will take place in the Community Church at Watch Hill, R. I., where the Thachers are spending the summer, and a reception will follow at their summer home.

Miss Mary E. Thacher, sister of the bride-elect, will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Clarissa Wardwell, Miss Josephine Post, Miss Elizabeth E. Boas, Miss Constance Sullivan, Miss Virginia Storm, Miss Louise Briggs, Miss Alida Milliken and Miss Elizabeth Chipton.

Mr. C. B. G. Murphy, of Detroit, will be best man, and the ushers will be Mr. Thomas Thacher, jr., brother of the bride-elect; Mr. Richard Storm, brother of the bridegroom-elect; Mr. A. K. Foote, Mr. Wilder Hobson, Mr. R. C. Osborne, Mr. K. A. Thomas, Mr. H. W. Snow, Mr. R. C. Durant, Mr. G. B. Burger, Mr. L. S. Bradley, Mr. C. D. Harvey, Mr. G. Sterling Rockefeller and Dr. R. H. Wylie.

After a wedding trip the young couple will make their home at 430 East Eighty-sixth street, New York. Miss Thacher is a member of the Junior League. She attended Brearley School and was graduated from St. Timothy's School at Catonsville, Md., and from Smith College last month.

Mr. Storm is a graduate of the Berkshire School, and of Yale, '28, where he was a member of the Scroll and Key.

The Minister of the Irish Free State and Mrs. Michael MacWhite, who have been at their cottage at Cape May, N. J., left yesterday to pass the week-end with Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Edward Logan at their summer home at Cohasset, Mass.

Capt. Ralph Craft, U. S. N., and Mrs. Craft have moved to a new home at 3505 Porter street. With their daughter, Miss Beatrice Craft, they are passing the week-end with Mrs. E. A. Miller at Leesburg, Va.

Miss Loving Betrothed to Lieut. Smith

Will Be Married to Marine Officer at San Diego.

Lieut. Col. James J. Loving, U. S. A., and Mrs. Loving announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Laura Hineman Loving, to Lieut. Joe Nelson Smith, U. S. M. C. Miss Loving was graduated from Randolph Macon Woman's College in 1927 and in June received her master's degree in English from Yale University. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national debating fraternity.

Lieut. Smith is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, class of 1921-A, and is now on duty as instructor at the Naval Air Station, Coronada, Calif.

The wedding will take place on August 15 in San Diego, Calif., at the home of Miss Loving's uncle and aunt, Dr. C. C. Brown, U. S. N., and Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Edith Blinn and her son are the guests of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Seckner, at the Broadmoor.

Col. and Mrs. John T. Axton are leaving Washington this week-end for the White Mountains where they will pass part of the summer with Lieut. and Mrs. Fred R. Pitts at their cottage near Bradford, N. H. On Saturday, July 25, they will attend the wedding of Miss Carolyn Agger and Mr. Laflin Clifford Jones, which will be solemnized in Kirkpatrick Chapel, at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J.

Lieut. Hunter Marries Noted Horsewoman

Mrs. Cummings Bride at Waynesboro, Pa., Ceremony.

The marriage on Thursday in Waynesboro, Pa., of Mrs. Lulu Bell McNarney Cummings, daughter of Col. Frank McNarney, of Fort Bliss, Tex., to Lieut. William Hamilton Hunter, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hunter, of Washington, has been announced. The ceremony was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Blair Minick, at Waynesboro, the Rev. J. Marshall Rutherford, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiating in the presence of a small company. The bride is a well-known horsewoman, having won many trophies in the shows of Atlanta, Kansas City, Nashville, and Chicago, and is also a writer of verse. Lieut. Hunter is a graduate of the Military Academy at West Point, and is a grandson of the late Judge Hamilton, of Hagerstown, Md.

Miss Nancy Berry, daughter of Mrs. Georgia Knox Berry, has gone to Nashville, Tenn., to visit her cousins, Miss Elizabeth Bryan, and Miss Emma Bryan. Miss Berry will be a bridesmaid at the wedding in August of Miss Elizabeth Bryan to Mr. Carter Patton, of Chattanooga.

The American Ambassador to Poland and Mrs. John North Willys will return from Europe the end of the month for a vacation at their home, Center Island, Oyster Bay, Long Island. They will also visit Washington and New York before returning to Warsaw in the early fall.

Lovely June Bride

Underwood & Underwood.

MRS. RUSSELL NEWCOMBE SHAW

and Mr. Shaw will return next week from York Harbor, Me., where they went on their wedding trip. The bride was formerly Miss Bainbridge Valandingham Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Boyle, of Georgetown.

The Ambassador and Mrs. Willys were recently in Paris to attend the christening of their grandchild, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Aguirre, who are making their home in Paris.

Luhrings Plan Trip to Their Former Home

Justice and His Wife Later Will Go to Quebec Inn.

Justice and Mrs. Oscar Luhring will leave Washington August 1, and will go West to their former home in Evansville, Ind. After a short stay there they will go to St. Jovite, in the Province of Quebec, Canada, to pass several weeks at Grey Rocks Inn, a delightful resort in the Laurentian Mountains. They will not return to Washington until October.

Grey Rocks seems to be a gathering place this season for Washington lawyers. Mr. A. Coulter Wells will leave on Monday for Montreal and will be joined there by Mr. Andrew Sharpe, also of Washington, and together they will motor to the inn for a few weeks' stay. Mr. and Mrs. Abner Ferguson, of Chevy Chase, with their children will also go to St. Jovite for a part of the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Swope Sail for Home Today

Dr. and Mrs. Chester D. Swope will sail today from Liverpool on the S. S. Britannic after passing two months abroad, where the former attended the Rotary International Congress at Vienna. They have been touring the continent since the termination of the congress last month and are expected in New York about July 26. Their son, Mr. Bradford Swope, will go to New York to meet them and will accompany them to their home here.

What Today Means to You

"CANCER."

IF July 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are 8:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 2:15 p. m. to 4 p. m., and 7:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a. m. to 1:45 p. m., and from 4:50 p. m. to 7:10 p. m.

Something of quite an unexpected and a gratifying nature is foretold by the astrological signs of July 18. It will be a day full of events and the indications favor fresh enterprises and new thoughts. Evening conditions will benefit social activities and entertainment.

A child born on this July 18 will possess a naturally good intellect, although, unless "egged on" by ambition, it will be inclined to let it run to seed. It will start many things, but finish few. It, although versatile, should be taught to concentrate, as herein lies its success. Its disposition will be kindly, but it will be slow to show much affection.

Born on July 18, you, more than most people, have your life in your own hands. Luck will not be a powerful factor. You have it in you to make a great success or a dismal failure. You possess, in a very marked degree, good talents and much ability. If you use these gifts to the nth degree you can not fail. If, on the other hand, you are content to weave instead of to act dreams, you will get nowhere. Many opportunities will come your way. What they are worth to you will be determined by the manner in which you grasp them and handle them.

You are easily discouraged, and are all too ready to give up when affairs do not run as smoothly as you think they should. You lack stamina and suffer from a weak heart. No outstanding achievement has been performed without difficulty and without many struggles. You are a kindly, likable person, although when crossed you are apt to become rather petulant. It is hard, at all times, for you to see the viewpoint of another, so satisfied are you of the infallibility of your own ideas. You are fond of home and its comforts and do not care much for traveling.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

KING GEORGE V, of England, will be heard in the United States for the first time this year this morning, when he opens the new Ilford Hospital near London. His address is timed for 9:45 o'clock and will be heard over WMAL.

This will be the first broadcast by King George at a time convenient to listeners throughout the United States. His two previous international radio addresses, both of which were broadcast, took place here at 6 o'clock in the morning.

Hank Simmons' Show Boat will present an adaptation of Alexander Dumas' "Camille" during tonight's broadcast (WMAL, 9 p. m.).

A very embarrassing moment to the Sisters of the Skillet occurred when they talked into the wrong side of a microphone for over five minutes. It was during their first appearance on a program at Station WGN, in Chicago.

Station engineers and officials ran about the studios and control rooms in a frenzy trying to discover what was making their voices so faint until some one discovered the mike reversed.

A FRENCH program will be played by the General Electric Symphony orchestra, directed by Erno Rapee tonight at 8 o'clock WRC.

Joe Carpenter, NBC porter in New York, will lay aside his dust cloth and broom this morning long enough to become guest artist on the "Keys to Happiness" program (WRC—10:30 a. m.)

Carpenter has been working for the National Broadcasting Co. as a handy man and porter for more than four years. During his idle moments, he continued his study of the piano and the saxophone—without the aid of an instructor—and within a short time was able to play both instruments efficiently.

He said he had been "dying" to go on the air for some time but could never gather sufficient courage for an audition. Dr. Sigmund Spacth, who directs "Keys to Happiness," heard Carpenter playing the piano in a vacant studio recently and invited him to appear on the program. Joe jumped at the opportunity.

Moussorgsky's tone poem "A Night on Bald Mountain," will be part of the Stadium Concert in New York, at 8:30 o'clock tonight over WMAL, Willem van Hoogstraten conducting.

Jolly Bill Steinke will enterpret titles of the numbers to be sung by the Bavarian Peasant Band over WEAF network at 7 o'clock tonight.

THE running of the Arlington Cup race, near Chicago, annual horse racing classic, will be described over WMAL and WRC this afternoon, beginning about 4:30 o'clock.

A field composed of the best 3-year-olds in the country, including Twenty Grand and Spanish Play, will compete for purses totaling close to $90,000.

The microphones will be set up on the roof of the grandstand, in the paddock and at the side of the track, enabling the announcers, probably Pat Flanagan and Clem McCarthy, to cover every phase of this event.

"Write us a theme song," once ordered the sponsors of a cigar program. A few days later the young man to whom the assignment was given turned out "Smoke Your Troubles Away." More than 200,000 copies of it have since been distributed throughout the country in response to requests from fans. Meanwhile the composer also has been doing well. He's Phil Cook, the radio entertainer.

PERFORMERS are careful to avoid touching the mikes. If they do they get the same sort of shock that comes from scraping one's feet on a thick carpet and then touching a metal fixture. Ordinarily the Shadow, announcer for Detective Story, is especially cautious in avoiding these "hits," owing to his peculiar style of delivery, which places his face not more than an inch from the mike. And among the things for which he is grateful is the fact that he no longer is forced to wear a mask, as he did at each broadcast several months ago.

Jane Ogden Interprets the Mode

New York, July 17.

IT just isn't fair, now is it, the way some women have always that unruffled, band-boxy appearance no matter what the weather, or their financial circumstances, while others are crumpled and mussy and ill-at-ease? 'N' you can't say that only the very rich are the unruffled ones, while the moderately well off and downright fashionably poverty-stricken are the mussy ones—for that isn't so!

To me, personal appearance, which includes both beauty and neatness, is a matter of intelligence rather than finance. Certainly I had the dubious pleasure of seeing one awfully sloppy woman in Paris, and finding out later that she had a house full of servants—though she looked like a nightmare of a woman with thirteen active children under her personal care! The trouble was, you see, that her maid was "just a maid"—not a jewel, like my French-maid-who-is-Spanish, so the poor mistress suffered! And don't misunderstand me here, either. I don't mean that if we can't afford a marvelous French maid we might as well resign ourselves to sloppy living. I simply mean that there's a definite set of tricks that a good French maid will have that will keep the fortunate mistress in a constant state of perfection.

Further deep reflection and conversations with my own maid gave me a sudden bright thought—if I told my public the tricks that good French maids practice, those who had "just maids" could train them into "French maids," and those who didn't have servants could train themselves into the labor-saving, economical and beautifying state of mind of a priceless French maid. For there's something about the above-the-ordinary French maid that really can not be duplicated anywhere else. They would actually suffer to see their mistresses go out with a faint smudge, or a wrinkle or a loose cuff. And, of course, a really lovely lady would suffer just as much to sally forth in such a condition—but she mightn't know what to do about it!

So-o-o-o-o, I collected all the helpful hints I could from my French-maid-who-is-Spanish, and from other French maids she knew, and I've put several of the best of them in a leaflet. 'N' this is one of these leaflets that will disappear like the bag of gold at the foot of the rainbow, so you'd better hurry and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for your copy. You'll find that the hints will save you a pot of golden pennies that won't disappear, that you can spend for your own sweet self. And your sweet self will be sweeter, and prettier, and smarter, if you do the very easy and tricky things I have written about!

* * * *

Silk bathing suits just won't dry in a hurry, and it's no fun to sit around the beach and have a chill! 'N' lots of us are tired of the ever-present wool knitted ones. So-o-o-o, the very smartest thing to do about it, I think, is to investigate the possibilities of the new wool mohair that is of a silken luster, of new, brilliant colors, and yet will dry just as fast as the knitted suits!

* * * *

And this is positively the last call from the Dare department of The Washington Post for your stamped, self-addressed envelope for the leaflet on smart and unusual scarfs!

Au revoir!

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me when to expect flowers from a newly planted garland flower?

CHARLOTTE G. E.

Daphne cneorum is, as a rule, covered with flowers in May, which continue sparsely through the summer; in September there is another profusion of blossoms. The fragrance is delightful and the plant is so beautiful that it is frequently used as a single specimen. Garland flower is absolutely hardy and remains green all winter.

Please tell me how long it takes gladiolus to bloom. ALIDA A. K.

Some varieties will bloom in less than sixty days and some require more than 100 days. The large bulbs of any given variety bloom earlier than the smaller bulbs of the same variety.

Please tell me the soil best suited to clematis. I have a vine which is not doing well. It is a large-flowered variety and I attribute my lack of success to soil conditions.

MRS. JAMES H. Y.

All forms of clematis are fond of lime. In soils which are naturally acid they will stand still for a long period unless lime is dug into the ground. The Jackmani is the large-flowered variety best suited to the Northern States. Of course, the clematis paniculata will grow in any place and under all sorts of adverse conditions.

MARJORY H. S.

Feed your lawn not once but three times—in the early spring, in June, and in the fall. Grasses require the same food elements as flowering plants, but need a greater proportion of nitrogen. Be sure to consult your seedsman before purchasing a fertilizer. Acid-reacting fertilizers drive out weeds, but are unfavorable to blue grass and encourage bent grasses. Alkaline fertilizers are discouraging to bent grass, favorable to blue grass and weeds. Stable manure, when obtainable, is always good provided it has been composted for a year. Use 125 pounds to 1,000 square feet of surface.

Please tell me how to prune a hybrid tea rose.

MRS. HENRY C. L.

Prune the strongest shoots least and the weaker shoots most severely. Heavy pruning means longer stems; too light pruning may result in a mass of roses in June, but they will likely be short-stemmed and the flowers indifferent.

I have a snake plant which is beautiful, but so crowded that the leaves all touch each other. Could I repot it at this time? I do not want to divide it, but give it more root room, my object being to have a large plant. MRS. HOWE D. T.

You can transplant snake plant (sansevieria) at any time. The season does not matter.

Can I successfully sow perennial seed at this time? I am not certain just what varieties I will sow.

MISS HARRIET Y. R.

All perennial seed may be sown successfully from June until September.

Please tell me of five easily grown plants for a new rock garden.

ELSIE DeH.

Arabis (alpina), sedum acre (Stonecrop), cowslip, delphinium (blue butterfly) and aubretia.

Culbertson on Contract

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

AVOID TENACE OPENINGS.

THERE is no principle of the Modern Theory of Leads less generally understood than the principle governing waiting leads against a notrump declaration. For years a tradition handed down from the days of Whist has been accepted by bridge players so generally that it has been stated in the axiomatic term "Always lead fourth best of your longest and strongest suit." Like many other uses of the word "always," it is entirely incorrect. "Always" is a word to be used with extreme caution, as is its antithesis "never." These two words have cost Bridge players more losses at the table than can easily be computed.

If you have strong suits to lead, which can be established quickly, and your hand contains a reentry to permit you to make the long cards of that suit, then the direct frontal attack is to be preferred. The only question there involved is whether the number of tricks you can establish is sufficient to defeat the contract. If it is and you can get in to make them after the adverse stopper has been driven out, then all is well, but to apply such tactics when the honors in your hand are held in tenace position to sheer stupidity. It is quite likely to be the one way of assuring the Declarer of making his game. A tenace in Contract is the holding of honors not in sequence, although the term can be made to cover cards with many intervening between them. Particularly, however, we speak of such combinations as the AQ, KJ, Q10 as tenace holdings and such holdings, when they are at the top of our longest suits, should not be led away from, either at notrump or at a suit declaration. It was to cover just such situations that I took up the study of Whist leads, as applied to Contract and Auction. As a result, for years I have been advocating and using in my own play waiting leads when holding tenace combinations in my strong suits.

A waiting lead is the lead of a worthless short suit and its purpose is to surrender the lead and permit the cards in tenace situation to be led up to rather than away from.

The hand below, recently played in a Duplicate Contract tournament, aptly illustrates the value of the waiting lead.

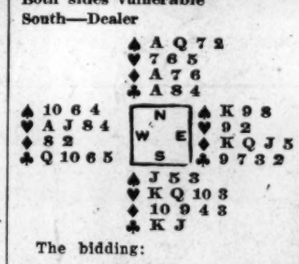
Both sides vulnerable
South—Dealer



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1♠(1)	Pass
1NT(2)	Pass	2NT(3)	Pass
3NT(4)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—North is amply strong for his bid of one spade, which is to be preferred to a bid of notrump, as it is calculated better to reveal the strength and weakness of the other hands around the table.

2—South, holding 2 honor tricks, takes out with one notrump rather than two hearts because the heart suit is of only four cards in length and partner will ordinarily assume a suit of five cards for a bid of two under these conditions.

3—North's hand is of balanced distribution and his partner's bid has assured him that the combined hands total at least 5 honor-tricks. He, therefore, bids two notrump.

4—South has more than ½ honor-trick, which was not accounted for by his bid of one notrump. Encouraged by North's Third Hand Opening and later Raise, South now bids for game.

The Play.

The old school would have dictated the Opening of the heart four, the fourth best card of West's longest and strongest suit. This lead would be the equivalent to presenting game to South as it makes it certain that South will win at least 2 heart tricks. As the cards lie, 3 spade tricks are assured, as well as 2 clubs and 2 diamonds if South is permitted to develop the hand according to his own line. West, however, has a much better lead and that is the lead of the diamond 8, a waiting lead which preserves his tenace position in both hearts and clubs until such time as these suits are led by other players. In the actual game, West selected this card as his Opening. The Declarer played a low card from the Dummy and East won with the diamond Knave. East now would have been playing the Declarer's game to have returned his partner's Opening lead, as he can easily see from the cards in his own hand and those in sight in the Dummy that West had chosen his lead because his holdings in other suits were such that a lead toward his strength would be more beneficial than a lead away from it. Aided by the information of the waiting lead and the entire lack of strength in the heart suit shown in the Dummy, East now led the heart 9 and the defeat of the contract was assured. No matter how played, the Declarer can now make only 1 trick in the heart suit. Thus his contract of three notrump was defeated, even although quite properly bid.

On hands where the honor strength is little if any more than necessary to produce game, the wise selection of the Opening lead quite frequently will result in the defeat of the contract. The wooden acceptance of outworn theories, sound enough in their original setting and applied to the game for which they were developed, most frequently will result in defeat.

Contract is a modern game. It is a modern game in its bidding. Played at its best it is also a modern game in the selection of the suit and card to be led.

Today's Pointer

TWO BIDS WITH A PART-SCORE.

With a part-score of 40 or 60, an Opening two-bid in a major or minor, respectively, is not a Forcing bid, but merely a game bid. In rare cases where you hold a powerful hand and yet are prevented, because of a part-score, from making a Forcing two-bid:

Open with a higher bid than a game contract when holding a powerful hand and a strong trump suit. The number of tricks so overbid for a Slam try can be graduated according to the strength of the hand.

Open with a bid of two no-trump when holding a powerful hand but lacking a strong trump suit (distribution 4-4-3-2, 4-3-3-3 or 5-3-3-2).

Partner can not help but infer a hand of unusual strength and assume a possible Slam.

FRANCES M'DONALD

A Mother's Future

DEAR Frances McDonald: I am wondering if you would suggest something, for my problem is a difficult one. After the death of my husband I sold my home to come, and keep house for my son (an only child). He is a young man who likes sports, and occasional dances, therefore he is out more evenings than home, which makes it very lonely for me, to be alone all day and about every evening in a strange city. I have a large house to care for and am doing my part by keeping paying guests although I do not always have my rooms filled so he has to give me the larger part of his salary which does not seem right to me. He never complains. So don't misunderstand that, but is there something I could do outside of the home to have a regular income? I have a feeling as I grow older there will be less thought of me, and would like to feel independent, I have been very anxious for him to study to be able to have a better position (his salary is small). He is everything he should be and one to be proud of, but just will not study. I am in middle life, neat and up to date. I do hope you will be able to tell me of something to do or learn. I feel I have made a mistake to leave my former home. I am just

"A MOTHER."

There is, as you know, a dearth at present of what you call "outside jobs." There will, however, never be a dearth of homeless business people seeking temporary homes. You have a 10-room house. Make that your job. Put the same energy into that as you would into the eight-hour-a-day job you think you would like to find, and you will never be dependent as long as you live, I could have filled four times the nor will you ever be forced to rush from your home day in, day out, rain or shine, sick or well.

For a woman of your age to attempt to meet the expectations and perfectly reasonable demands of any employer is a grave mistake. In business Youth hold the fort. But there are fields in which Youth can not engage. You are in a position to make a great success in one of them. This city has thousands of young men and woman who have left fine homes to seek their fortunes. They are living in whatever sort of rooms they can find. There lies your independence.

Begin now to regard yourself as in the business of supplying the sort of home no one could resist. One tennant will bring others. I know whereof I speak, having once been left with a furnished house. My first thought was to sell the furniture, having already 15 rooms of furniture in storage. But when dealers offered $100 for the whole affair, I decided to add one more experience to my store. I rearranged the whole place into units of one room each. Each a perfect roomful of repose. Then I advertised for business and professional people seeking one-room homes, number of rooms, and people phoned for months afterward seeking hopedfor vacancies—which never occurred. Every one was a permanent. I then leased the business. Go thou and do in like manner. And you will never need to find time hanging heavily upon your hands or remain a drag upon a boy who would feel free to venture into wider fields if he had no one to think of but himself.

Blame only yourself if you do not fill your house and keep it filled. That is your business—and a mighty interesting one if you have the intelligence to make it so.

Your Name
WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Dewey" stands for the Welsh "Dewi," which, in turn, is a form of "David." "David" is derived from the Hebrew "Davidh," which means "beloved." The popularity of "David" and "Dewey" as Welsh names is due to the fact that St. David, who lived about the sixth century, is the patron saint of Wales. An English document of the year 1379 mentions the names of Ricardus, Thomas and Johannes Dewey.

The personal and family name "Sampson" (also spelled "Samson") may be traced back to two Hebrew sources. It may be the modern English form of "Shimshon," "splendid sun," or it may mean "the son of Samuel." "Samuel" (also spelled "Samuel") is derived from the Hebrew "Shmuel," meaning "heard of God" or "asked of God."

The family name "Jellicoe" (also spelled "Jellico") may be traced back to two quite different French sources. It is frequently a variation of "Jellicorse," which is a corruption of the French "gentilcors," meaning "handsome body." It has been found that in some cases it is a shortened form of "Jellicour." "Jellicour" is derived from the French "jolicoeur," which means "gay heart" or "jolly soul." A certain William Gentilcorps is mentioned in an English document of the year 1301. The form "Jelicoe" appears to be first recorded in the year 1648.

The family name "Sims" is found with great frequency in the earliest English records. Some of its commonest variations are "Simms," "Simes," "Sim," "Simson" and "Simpson." All of these names mean "the son of Simon." The personal name "Simon" is ultimately of Hebrew origin and means "obedient." An English document of the year 1379 mentions a certain Robert Symmes and a Johannes Symson. Some families which bear this name have retained the old spellings "Symmes" and "Symson." As in the case with the names "Smith" and "Smyth," the spellings with "y" do not at all indicate a more aristocratic ancestry, in spite of the popular belief.

DEMURRERS FILED IN PUBLISHING ROW

Three Defendants Institute Steps in Rockville; Other Action Due.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Three defendants in the suit against the Montgomery County Printing & Publishing Co. by Morris W. Bealle in the Circuit Court at Rockville, Md., filed demurrers yesterday to the suit in the office of the clerk of the court, Clayton K. Watkins.

Edward Peter, Miss Vivian Simpson and Harold C. Smith, Rockville lawyers, are the defendants, who filed demurrers. Demurrers will be filed later by the three other defendants, it is believed.

The demurrers declare that the plaintiff has not stated enough of a case in his petition to entitle him to relief in a court of equity and further that he has not stated or shown that he has any right, title or interest in the matter complained of in the bill. It further alleges that the bill of particulars is bad in substance and bad in law.

The suit seeks to have the defendants turn over to the plaintiff 284 shares of stock alleged due the Independent Publishing Co. in the purchase of the Montgomery Independent, which formerly was published by Bealle.

Chief Judge Hammond Urner ordered stricken from the record ten paragraphs in the bill objected to by the defendants on the ground that they were immaterial and scandalous.

Firemen to Hold Parade, Contest

Kensington Squads Plan Hook-Up Competition After March Today.

The Kensington Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual parade and hook-up contest this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The parade will start from the National Guard Armory and wend its way through the principal streets of the town to the carnival grounds, just north of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad grade crossing, where the hook-up contest will be held.

A silver loving cup will be presented to the company making the best appearance in the parade, and another cup will be awarded the company winning the hook-up contest. Montgomery County police will act as escort.

A. L. Geiger is chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by M. J. Curran, H. R. Magruder, R. W. Burdette, J. P. Raney and Eugene Stubbs.

Montgomery 4-H Boys To Take Camping Trip

Montgomery County 4-H Club boys will leave Rockville by bus this morning at 9 o'clock, for Brinkley's Bluff, Tureton Bay, in Southern Maryland, where they will camp for a week. The summer camp has become a feature of the club work, and the boys are looking forward to a joyous week under the leadership of Albert A. Ady, assistant county agent in charge of 4-H work.

Tuesday will be visitors' day at the camp. County Agent O. W. Anderson and Merrick Wilson, teacher of agriculture in the Poolesville High School, will accompany the party, as well as a colored cook.

Half-Million Perch Are Killed in Pond

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 17.—Game Warden F. M. Pingley reported today that approximately 500,000 yellow perch had been killed in the past several days in a fresh water pond at the farms, near here, which, it is claimed, was due to the pollution of Abrams Creek, which feeds the pond.

Informed of the killing, Maj. A. Willis Robertson, of Richmond, State commissioner of game and inland fisheries, notified Warden Pingley to proceed to prosecute the agency believed guilty of pollutting the stream and killing the fish.

Game Warden Pingley procured a warrant from County Magistrate A. J. Havenner against the Virginia Apple Storage Co., operating a large plant on Abrams Creek, charging the corporation with having polluted the stream by emptying a solution of lime from their plant into the stream. The warrant was served on L. Jackson, manager.

Loudoun Schools Given $1,000 Fund

Money Will Be Used in Sanitary Work; Other Sum Provided.

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., July 17.—The school board of Loudoun County at a regular meeting here today accepted the offer of D. C. Sands, of Middleburg, to contribute through the County Health Association $1,000 for aid with school sanitary work, and ordered that the necessary sum of not more than $750 be appropriated out of funds for completion of the work in county schools.

The superintendent was authorized to purchase brooms from the School for the Blind at Charlottesville. All janitors except the one Unisonin Broomfield are to be reappointed for 1931-32.

Additional teachers were appointed as follows: Mount Hope, grades 1-7, Nellie Scott; McGrays Ridge, A. L. Hutton, jr., grades 1-7; Round Hill, science and history, Beasie B. Dickinson; Middleburg, Latin, Annie Ross Buckels; Purcellville, second grade, Ruth E. Dillon; Leesburg, mathematics, Olen E. Leonard; Negro, Hamilton, grades 1-7, Theodora Ross; Hillsboro, grades 1-7, Mrs. Effie R. Gray.

Fairfax Merchants Warned Against Slot Machine Use

Devices Seized Recently Declared Unlawful by Attorney General; Ruling Cites Gambling Feature in Form of Slugs or Tokens Given Customers.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

Fairfax County authorities yesterday repeated their warning to the merchants of the county relative to having so-called slot machines in their possession.

Last week a number of machines which, when operated, gave the player a package of mints, and if he were lucky he received a number of slugs "for amusement purposes only," were confiscated because they were not licensed in the county. The merchants in whose stores the machines were seized were summoned to Fairfax, where a hearing was held before Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd, of Accotink. The merchants were not fined, but released with a warning.

The law requires that all such machines must first be approved by the Commonwealth's attorney of the county before a license can be issued. Commonwealth's Attorney Farr last week appealed to Attorney General John R. Saunders, of Virginia, for a ruling on these machines. The reply received yesterday held that the machines violated the State code.

The attorney general admitted that in 1928 he had ruled that the machines did not violate the State code, because the slugs had no value and therefore there was no element of chance connected with the machines' operation.

The attorney general held that the gambling feature in these machines is found in the fact that although the player knows exactly what he will receive for the first nickel, he does not know what he may or may not procure in additional number of checks on a subsequent play.

Fairfax County authorities state that all machines found in the county will be seized where found, and the persons having them in their possession will be liable to prosecution.

Woman's Body Found In Shenandoah River

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 17.—The body of an unidentified woman was found in the Shenandoah River 2 miles below Elkton late today. The woman was rather heavy, from 50 to 55 years old, and had been dead apparently from ten to fifteen days. The body was clothed only in a kimono and stockings.

The body was found lodged with driftwood on a sand bar in the middle of the stream and apparently had been washed some distance. East Rockingham authorities said tonight they have no report of any missing persons.

Virginia Physician Is Shot to Death

Man With Whom He Is Said to Have Trouble Is Sought by Police.

Honaker, Va., July 17 (A.P.).—Dr. Jim Graham, about 55, a practicing physician at Belfast Mills, is dead from bullet wounds, and Leonard Settle, 21, was being sought by authorities in conenction with the shooting.

Dr. Graham was wounded at his home last night and died en route to a hospital at Richlands.

Details of the affair were meager, but it was learned that there was an altercation between the physician and Settle after a rock thrown by the young man at a third person struck Dr. Graham. Settle is said to have followed Dr. Graham home, where the shoting occurred.

Mansassas Contest Victors Are Named

Girls to Go to Blacksburg for State Short Course July 20 to 26.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., July 17.—The winners of the Girls' 4-H Club elimination contests held to select girls to represent Prince William County at the State Short Course at Blacksburg, July 20 to 26, were announced today by Miss Sarah Pitts, county home demonstration agent.

Goldie Knicely, of the Nokesville club, won first prize in the contest for packing a suit case, while Mildred Wood, also of the Nokesville Club, placed second. Geraldine Shepherd, Nokesville, who won first prize in the dress review, will represent the county clubs in the Blacksburg contest, as will Thesa Copen, of Hayfield, who wore a dress made from feed sacks, with total cost to her of 6 cents. Janet Russell and Doris Bubb, of Occoquan, will contest in the healthiest girl review, Miss Russell having been voted the healthiest 4-H girl in Prince William, while Miss Bubb was separated from first place by one-fourth of a point.

Miss Wilda Bourne, president of the Occoquan Club, has been invited to take part in the Short Course program, and will give a talk at Wednesday Vespers on "Friendship Among Races."

Store Manager Held On Charge of Arson

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., July 17.—Carroll H. Vaughan, 23, manager of Pender's Grocery Store, practically destroyed by fire, recently was held for grand jury action on a charge of arson today. He was bailed in the sum of $1,000.

The State offered ten witnesses from which a web of circumstantial evidence was developed. No defense testimony was offered. Police and firemen told of the finding of a material saturated with kerosene laying about that section of the store reached by the flames.

Leesburg, Va., Girl, 5, In Coma for 240 Hours

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., July 17.—After being in a coma for 240 hours, the condition of Helen Walsh, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walsh, remains unchanged.

The little girl was taken to the Loudoun County Hospital after being struck by an automobile, sustaining a fractured arm and leg and a fractured skull. Physicians report her pulse and respiration good. She moves her arms and legs. Other than that she shows no sign of life. Nourishment is given through the nose.

Group Fights Reversal Of Bowie School Plans

Opposing the Prince Georges County School Board's reversal of its decision to send part of the Bowie High School students to Laurel, a delegation from Bowie yesterday called on Nicholas Orem, county superintendent of schools.

The delegation was composed of Mrs. Roberta D. Everett, Mrs. James Regoli, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Overholser. Some weeks ago the board decided to convert the Bowie School into a junior high, sending pupils in the upper two years to the Laurel High School by a free bus.

RUM INFORMER HIT IN PRINCE GEORGES

Man Convicted While Case Based on His Efforts Is Dismissed.

A police informer was convicted on a liquor charge yesterday in Prince Georges County Police Court in Marlboro after the case he had made against another man collapsed. Another arrest made on his information resulted in a conviction, however.

The informer is Carl F. Catlin, 2907 Seventh street southeast, who was arrested early in June for carrying a gallon of contraband. He told police it was bought from Lee Soper, who lives near Fort Washington. Soper was convicted yesterday and fined $50. Catlin was also fined $50.

While Awaiting Trial.

Catlin attempted to make other purchases to aid police in their war on the liquor traffic. James W. Proctor was arrested on his complaint. The case against Proctor, however, was dismissed when the liquor said to have been bought was not produced in court.

William F. Boswell, farmer, Bald Eagle, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing a case of liquor and was fined $50. Boswell said the liquor had only been in his possession fifteen minutes when county police seized it.

Charles Diggs, colored, Marlboro, who shot another man while on parole from the House of Correction, was returned to that institution for six months. Diggs shot Charles Simmons in the head, wounding him slightly, at a dance in Marlboro last Saturday. Last fall Diggs was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction in an assault case, but was released after he had served six months. In addition to his present sentence, he will also serve the remainder of the previous term.

Tobacco Planter Sues For Damages by Flood

Alleging that work done by the board of commissioners on a road in Prince Georges County caused a stream to flow over a field he had planted to tobacco, Elzey Parker, of Ritchie Station, has filed suit for $1,250 against the board.

Mr. Parker asks $1,000 for damages and $250 for labor in getting rid of the flood. He is represented by Attorney S. Marvin Peach.

Funeral Is Set Today For Former Virginian

Special to The Washington Post.

Aldie, Va., July 17.—The funeral of Mrs. Olivia Ross Furr, wife of Irving Furr, of Cleveland, Ohio, who died at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Johnson Furr, in Aldie Thursday after an illness of several months, will be held at the Furr residence in Aldie tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Middleburg Cemetery.

Mrs. Furr, who was 33 years of age, was the daughter of Turner J. Ross, of The Trappe. She resided in Loudoun County until six years ago when she moved to Cleveland.

Patrons to Study High School Sites

Silver Spring Is Meeting Place for Motorcade This Afternoon.

Members of the general committee on school matters of the Takoma-Silver Spring-Woodside Area will assemble this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Silver Spring County Building for a tour of sites suggested as locations for a senior high school.

Automobiles are to be parked on the east side of Georgia avenue in front of the county building. Drivers are to report to William H. Reynolds, marshal, who will assign places in line.

Eighty-five autos are expected to be in line. County Engineer Harry B. Shaw is in charge of the itinerary and will act as pilot.

INSTITUTE TO STUDY BETTER RURAL LIFE

Session to Open July 28 in Virginia; Farming Topics Are on Program.

Blacksburg, Va., July 17 (A.P.).—How to promote better rural life will be discussed at the third annual Institute of Rural Affairs to be held at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, July 28-31. One part of the program through the four-day institute will be devoted to standards of living of rural people.

"The Status of Farming as a Business, and Farming as a Mode of Living in the Southeastern States," will be the topic of Dr. Carl C. Taylor, professor of rural sociology at North Carolina State College. Dr. Taylor will conaider the position farming has occupied in the past and the present, and what it will be in the future.

With Dr. Taylor on the same program Wednesday morning, Dr. E. C. Branson, of the sociology department of the University of North Carolina, will speak on the "High Grade Farm Life in Denmark." The pageant and celebration in honor of the centennial of the invention of the reaper by Cyrus Hall McCormick will be given Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Present systems of county governments will be discussed Thursday morning by Dr. R. H. Tucker, of Washington and Lee University. He will speak on "The Organization and Management of County Government."

Dr. M. S. Kendrick, Cornell University, will speak Thursday morning also on the taxation of farm people.

The young people on the farm will come in for their share of attention July 31, the final day of the institute, when two authorities will address the standards of living section on the problems of the farm youth. "Problems of the Adolescent" will be the topic of Dr. Caroline Hedger, of Chicago.

Dr. Hedger is a member of the staff of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund of Chicago, which has as its general purpose the improvement of child life in the United States. She has devoted much of her time to child welfare and educational work.

Following Dr. Hedger on the final program will be Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State superintendent of public instruction, who will speak on needed improvements in Southern rural education.

Shenandoah Picnic Is Set for July 25

Former Gov. Byrd to Address Farmers; Others Are on Program.

Special to The Washington Post.

Middletown, Va., July 17.—Former Gov. Harry F. Byrd and Louis J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, of Columbus, Ohio, will be among the speakers at the picnic of Shenandoah Valley farmers, which will be held at Woodman's Park, here on Saturday, July 25.

Others on the program include Joe Mitchell Chappie, editor of the National Magazine, Boston, Mass.; State Senator R. S. Wright, Gray Silver, Martinsburg, W. Va.; J. R. Horsley, master, Virginia State Grange; Col. H. J. Benchoff, and Fred Brenckman, Washington representative of the National Grange.

The picnic, which is being sponsored by Middletown Grange, headed by R. H. Baker, will be an all-day affair. The Grange cordially invites the public to attend.

Miss Rebecca Anderson Dies at Ancestral Home

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 17.—Miss Rebecca Anderson, 84, member of one of the oldest families of Hampshire County, W. Va., died this morning at the family ancestral estate on Timber Ridge, which was originally granted her grandfather, Joseph Clutter, by President James Monroe on November 13, 1825. The parchment grant is still in the possession of the family. The patent granting the land called for 200 acres and the estate still remains intact.

She is survived by her nephew, the Rev. C. H. Anderson, of this city, and two nieces, Mrs. Minnie Oates, Hampshire County, and Mrs. Lemuel Johnson, High View, W. Va.

Lightning Fire Burns Hatchery, 500 Chickens

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 17.—Lightning struck the brooder building of the park hatchery in Assembly Park, 1 mile northwest of Harrisonburg, this afternoon during an electrical storm, and fire destroyed the structure.

A. G. Heishman, owner, estimates the loss at $2,500, partly covered by insurance. More than 500 frying-size chickens were destroyed in the blaze. Harrisonburg firemen, laying half a mile of hose, conquered the blaze after an hour's battle and saved the adjoining incubator building.

Appearing Each Saturday Morning

WINNERS OF RECIPE PRIZE APPRECIATIVE

Made Readers Also Grateful for Hints About Cutting Table Costs.

Letters of appreciation appear in the mail of the Saturday food page editor daily showing the decided interest of the women—and in some cases, the men—readers of The Washington Post in the weekly page aimed to assist American households in providing better and more reasonable food for their members.

In these times of reduced incomes the prizes in cash given for the best recipes printed on these pages containing the ingredients and foodstuffs advertisted by far-seeing Washington merchants are very welcome.

Such a letter came yesterday from Mrs. E. R. Evans, of Washington, who wrote:

"Thank you very much for the check just received as prize in the recipe contest. I think your page is an inspiration to the 'tired housewife' and I hope I shall find the opportunity to compete again."

The book prizes are received with much pleasure also. From Mrs. Marie Eulalie Moran, of 2416 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, came this grateful expression about her book prize.

"Very many thanks for my prize book, which is very interesting. The food page is wonderful. I always turn to it first Saturday morning to see what products and recipes have scored. With best wishes for the food page."

PIQUANT SANDWICHES.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

1 package cream cheese
1 hard-cooked egg
1 sour pickle
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Schindler's peanut butter
1 tablespoon green pepper, dark pepper
Schneider's Dandee sliced bread.

Cream together the cream cheese and peanut butter. Chop very fine the egg, pepper and pickle and blend into the cream cheese. Add the salt and pepper, spread between buttered slices of bread.

MRS. C. K. GLOVER.
3636 Eldridge ave., Brentwood, Md.

LOBSTER DELIGHT.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

2 cups lobster meat
1 green pepper
1 small onion
1 cup mushrooms

Chop pepper, onion and mushrooms and mix with lobster meat. Fry mixture in 1 tablespoon of butter. When nearly done, add a cream dressing made of 1 cup of cream and 1 tablespoon of Washington Flour. Stir and add ¾ cup of grated cheese. Remove from stove and serve while hot spread on toasted Schneider's Dandee Loaf bread. Garnish with parsley and paprika.

Lobster may be substituted with crab or shrimp and will serve from six to eight people. This makes a delicious dish for Sunday night suppers or bridge luncheons.

MRS. JOHN E. FOWLER.
1424 Sixteenth street northwest, Washington, D. C.

A Frozen Dessert.
(Awarded Book Prize)

The unjust prejudice of thinking a frozen dessert difficult to prepare is completely overcome by the family's whole-hearted indorsement of this delicious concoction.

Prepare a thin custard as follows: 3 cups milk, bring to boil in double boiler, add ⅛ teaspoon salt.

1 teaspoon minute tapioca, cook 15 minutes. Add 2 well beaten eggs blended with ¾ cup granulated sugar. Cook few minutes longer, stirring constantly to prevent lumping. Remove from fire. Beat in ½ cup marshmallow whip (or ½ doz. marshmallows, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract and ½ teaspoon almond flavoring. Cool.

When cold beat in ½ cup chopped nutmeat, M. B. Frazier's blanched almonds, pecans or pistachio, according to taste.

12 Maraschino cherries, Peoples Drug Store.

½ pint or 1 cup crushed pineapple, American Stores.

Freeze in electric refrigerator freezing compartment or in freezer. If freezer is used allow 3 level measures ice to 1 of salt to insure proper consistency. Freeze 25 minutes, steady churning.

May be served plain or with marshmallow sauce or whipped cream garnished with cherries and nuts. Makes generous servings at very low cost.

Brentwood Woman Wins Prize for Smothered Dates

Mrs. Glover Awarded $5 for Recipe Which She Submitted.

The $5 prize offered by The Post for the best recipe using products offered on the Food Page was won this week by Mrs. C. K. Glover, of 3636 Eldridge Avenue, Brentwood, Md. Mrs. Glover offered the recipe for "smothered dates," which follows:

MRS. C. K. GLOVER

SMOTHERED DATES.

½ pint Zirkle's White Clover honey
½ pound dates (seeded)
1 egg white (beaten stiff)
Cocoanut

Boil honey until it snaps when dropped into cold water. Pour this into the stiffly beaten egg white and beat about 1 minute. Roll dates in this, then roll in the cocoanut. Either shredded cocoanut or fresh cocoanut put through food chopper may be used.

Egg Noodles, Shrimp Principal Ingredients

Egg Noodle Shrimp Wiggle.

1 package egg noodles (wide)
2 cups white sauce*
1½ cups shrimps, cut up (canned or fresh)
½ cup green peas, canned
Toast points

Boil the noodles for 9 minutes in 4 quarts rapidly boiling water to which 1 tablespoon salt has been added. Drain. Make a white sauce, add shrimps, peas and noodles. When thoroughly heated, pour over toast points and serve very hot.

*White Sauce.

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups hot milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika

Macaroni and Lamb Make Tempting Dish

Scalloped Macaroni and Lamb.

1 package macaroni, cooked
2 cups cold roast lamb, cut in cubes
1 can tomato soup
½ cup buttered breadcrumbs

In a well-greased baking dish place a layer of macaroni, then a layer of lamb, and continue until the ingredients are all used up, having macaroni on top. Add the tomato soup and cover with buttered breadcrumbs.

Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes until the crumbs are well browned.

JELLIED LAMB STEW HOT-WEATHER IDEA

Department of Agriculture Makes Suggestoin for Inexpensive Dish.

Dressing up the familiar lamb stew in jellied form is a hot weather prescription recently sent out by the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture offering tired homemakers a new inexpensive dish easily prepared in hot weather.

In keeping with the food guide outlined for families with limited incomes, the bureau recenty developed a series of six attractive one-dish meals that can be jellied. The ingredients are all inexpensive and the dishes are easy to prepare.

Enough for Five Persons.

Eggs, fish, rice, spaghetti, vegetables, and stewing meat are used in quantities sufficient to serve five persons very generously, so little additional food need be served. The salads are an excellent medium for utilizing left-over vegetables. Fish, other than halibut, may be used in the fish salad. Halibut was chosen because it is usually available throughout the country. Small whole fish may be substituted for the steak variety, but small fish must be thoroughly boned after cooking, usually a rather tedious task. Canned fish may also serve as a basis for a salad, but the canned form requires a little different treatment from fresh fish.

Supper
Black Bean Soup—Lemon
Toasted whole wheat bread
Berry pie
Tea (adults) Milk (children)

Lamb and Vegetables in Aspic

2 pounds breast of lamb
3 pints water
2½ teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup cooked flaky rice
1 cup cooked chopped spinach
1 cup cooked diced carrots
1 cup lean chopped lamb
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon onion pulp

Wipe the meat well, put in a saucepan, add the 3 pints of cold water, partly cover and simmer until the meat is tender. Remove the meat, add sufficient hot water to the broth to make one quart. Add the salt. Allow this to cool, and remove the fat. Soften the gelatin in the half cup of cold water for five minutes. Reheat the broth, pour over the gelatin and stir until the gelatin has dissolved. When the gelatin mixture has partly set add the vegetables, meat, lemon juice and onion pulp. Stir until well mixed and pour the mixture into a wet mold and put in a cold place to set. Turn out on crisp lettuce leaves and serve with salad dressing.

OFFICERS RECHOSEN BY BUSINESS BUREAU

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Directors of the Better Business Bureau, holding their annual meeting at the National Press Club yesterday, reelected all of their former officers. President Joshua Evans, jr., District National Bank, was reelected chairman of the board; President Francis G. Addison, jr., Security Savings & Commercial Bank, was reelected treasurer, and M. G. Gibbs, president, Peoples Drug Stores, Inc., vice chairman of the board.

The meeting of directors of the Title & Investment Co. of Maryland, which was to have been held yesterday to approve a working agreement between the District, Lawyers and Washington Title Insurance Cos., with a new corporation taking over title work of the first named company, has been postponed until Monday. Directors of the three last-named companies approved the plan Thursday.

Expenditures of more than $3,253,000 were made in the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia last year by the Western Electric Co. in its capacity as purchasing agent for the Chesapeake & Potomac and other Bell system companies. This was indicated by a survey just completed and illustrates the policy of the Bell system to purchase telephone supplies so far as possible in localities where the supplels are to be used.

Included in Purchases.

Included in the purchases made in Washington, according to John A. Remon, general manager, were stationery and printing matter, printed paper, packing boxes, scientific instruments, automobiles, machine products, hardware, galvanized sheet iron, furniture and chairs, first-aid supplies and electrical supplies.

Supplies purchased in Maryland included enamel signs, buffing supplies, machinery, tools, plumbing supplies, office furniture, chairs and fixtures, restaurant equipment, metal castings and steel products, linoleum and rugs, printing products, lead and zinc, fiber and metal gears and automobiles.

Automobile tires were purchased in Cumberland, manhole frames and covers in Frederick, locust cross-arm pins at Hagerstown, and landscaping materials at Towson.

Supplies From Virginia.

Supplies purchased in West Virginia included poles from Belington and Ceredo, axes and automobiles from Charleston, automobiles from Clarksburg, Huntington and Wheeling; sheeting and tin plates from Follansbee, porcelain insulators and knobs from Parkersburg, sprinkler system equipment and metal products from Wheeling, and lanterns and oil cans from Wellsburg.

Assets of Investors Syndicate, with local offices, show an increase of $4,005,400 since the first of the year, totaling $42,815,515.54 as of June 30, according to a report just issued by E. M. Richardson, secretary and treasurer of the company.

Gains in Assets.

Since the first of the year, assets have gained an average of $667,566.62 per month, the report showed. The June increase was $757,268.61, and compared favorably with the largest monthly increase of $758,997.57, made in March.

Capital, surplus and reserves increased in June from $5,585,212.45 to $5,646,083.19. Cash on hand amounted to $796,335.21. Bonds and securities totaled $3,059,286.15.

First mortgages and first trust deeds on city residential property increased during June from $32,186,114.37 to $32,943,372.25, according to the company's statement. The total loan holdings of the company average approximately 45 per cent of the appraised value of the mortgaged properties, Mr. Richardson said.

Mrs. Kennedy to Remarry Hudson When Row Is Ended

Los Angeles, Calif., July 17 (A.P.).—The romance of Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy and the Rev. Edward Hudson changed a few more scenes today.

One of the newlyweds, Mr. Hudson, went into seclusion, while Mrs. Kennedy continued to entertain reporters and talk about gold diggers "after my man," following disclosures that Mr. Hudson, when he married Mrs. Kennedy at midnight last June 28 at Longview, Wash., was a married man. A voluntary move yesterday by the couple to annul the ceremony was followed today by a threat of prosecution on charges of bigamy.

Cecil C. Hallin, country prosecutor in Longview, said he was investigating the wedding of the mother of the evangelist, Aimee Semple McPherson, and Mr. Hudson, and was preparing to ask Gov. Rowland H. Hartley to extradite the bridegroom for alleged bigamy. In the affidavit signed by Hudson at Longview the statement was made that he was divorced.

Mrs. Kennedy-Hudson, in starting process to annul the marriage, said she had found her husband still was married to Mrs. L. Margaret Newton Hudson, of Los Angeles, but, she said, "when all this trouble is over, we'll marry again and go on another honeymoon." The first honeymoon ended abruptly near San Diego when the bride saw newspaper stories that another woman had a prior claim on Mr. Hudson's wedded life.

Before the Longview prosecutor issued his statement, Mrs. Newton-Hudson's attorney, Jay C. Craig, said he had heard intimations that Mr. Hudson would try to get "one of those Nevada divorces," but that if any divorce was obtained Mrs. Newton-Hudson would get it.

Mrs. Newton-Hudson said she was thankful to Mrs. Kennedy for finding her husband but denied she was a gold digger.

The sheriff at Kelso, Wash., sent a telegram today to Mrs. Newton-Hudson asking her if she would appear as a prosecution witness in event of bigamy charges being filed against Hudson.

"The information is wanted here as the basis for filing charges in connection with the 'Ma' Kennedy-Hudson marriage," the telegram read. Although deputy sheriffs could not immediately locate the woman to obtain an answer to the telegram, her attorney said she would be willing to appear.

COMFORT AND PEACE INVITE TO WOODLAND

Sunday Trip to Post Beach Promises Escape From Summer Heat.

Spend tomorrow in comfort and peace at Woodland Beach where nature offers its best to those who have struggled all week in the heat and stress of the city.

The Washington Post, sponsor for this summer home site on the South River in Maryland, invites everyone to go out to Woodland Beach tomorrow and enjoy all its advantages.

Bring the family and let all the members bring their bathing suits. Bring a picnic lunch to be eaten in the shade of some of the beach's thousands of trees. All the members of the family may enjoy themselves along the beach's 4½ miles of waterfront, for there is excellent swimming; plenty of water for fishing and boating and, for the little ones, fine spots to wade and splash about.

Driving out to Woodland Beach, the motorist takes the Defense highway as far as Camp Parole, turning right there on Maryland State highway No. 2, across South River, and then left on Mayo road. Mayo road leads directly to the community clubhouse on the property, where guides are available to show you all the parts of the beach development, that you may have ample opportunity to look the place over before selecting the location of your future summer residence. If you travel by electric car, take the W. B. & A. line to Camp Parole, where each car tomorrow will be met by buses from the Beach.

Hundreds of Capital residents have taken advantage of the excellent terms offered in connection with the sale of lots at Woodland Beach.

Capital Man Is Held In Baltimore Death

Inquest in Auto Accident to Take H. A. Hill to Grand Jury.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., July 17.—Harry A. Hill, 1023 Ninth street northwest Washington, was ordered held for action of the Baltimore County grand jury today at an inquest conducted in the central police station by Dr. Germanus J. France, automobile coroner, in the death of Samuel Berman, 128 South Bond street.

The latter was fatally injured early the morning of July 4, when an automobile skidded into him as he was trying to fix his car on the bridge over the Pennsylvania Railroad at Halethorpe.

The driver, alleged to be Hill, drove on after the accident, and Hill was arrested through tracing license numbers furnished by Mrs. Berman. At the inquest today she testified that Hill was intoxicated, which he denied.

Girl Strike Chief Faces Deportation

Fiery Young Communist Given Hearing; Is Held Pending Inquiry.

Boston, July 17 (U.P.).—Ann Burlak, fiery young Communistic leader of textile strikers in Central Falls, R. I., and the twin city of Pawtucket, was held here tonight pending investigation of evidence presented at her hearing before immigration authorities today.

Miss Burlak, the "red flame" of recent strike outbreaks, today was called to answer charges that she is an alien and subject to deportation.

Following the closed hearing, Immigration Commissioner Anna C. Tillinghast refused to divulge the nature of the evidence presented.

Smithsonian Will Get Pioneer U. S. Autogiro

The first autogiro to be flown in the United States will make its last trip next Wednesday, landing in the small semicircular field in front of the Old National Museum, where, after a brief ceremony of presentation, it will be given a place of honor in the Smithsonian aircraft collections as a permanent exhibit.

The plane will be flown to the grounds by James G. Ray, vice president of the Autogiro Co. of America. Secretary Charles G. Abbot will receive it for the Smithsonian.

"ANNABELLE'S AFFAIRS." Fox picturization of Clare Kummer's stage play, "Good Gracious, Annabelle," adaptation and dialogue by Leon Gordon, starring Jeanette MacDonald and Victor McLaglen, supported by Roland Young, Sam Hardy, William Collier, sr., Ruth Warren, Joyce Compton, Sally Blane, Hank Mann and Jed Prouty. Directed by Alfred Werker. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Sprightly, scintillant and just a little bit insane, this farcically amusing screen version of the old stage hit, "Good Gracious, Annabelle," is seasonable and delightful entertainment. It has distinction, smartness and finesse—as what picture wouldn't with such a cast!

Unless the 3,500 of us who filled every seat in the theater yesterday afternoon, and laughed almost without cessation, have gone completely balmy—and, of course, that is a possibility—"Annabelle's Affairs" is the best light comedy that has happened to a local screen in months.

The story is nowhere near so important as the manner in which it is done. The dialogue frames a succession of the flimsiest and most ridiculous of incidents, but sparkles and snaps and crackles just the same, making extremely hilarious a merry tale of a young woman who had been married to a bewhiskered giant of the Far West for all of eleven hours and just now is masquerading as cook in the Long Island establishment of his bitterest business rival, because she is unable to make both ends meet on her meager allowance of a million dollars a quarter, or some such sum! As crazy as that.

The husband, needless to say, puts in an appearance, is shaved, manicured and gardeniaed, gets a job as captain of his rival's yacht and is never recognized until the last few inches of film. But never mind the story.

Jeanette MacDonald, having only one cleverly spotted song to sing, here reveals herself as a comedienne whose range extends from fairly legitimate romanticism to broad burlesque—but not too broad. Grouped with Sally Blane and Joyce Compton, as a couple of show girls also down on their luck, Miss MacDonald leads a devastating trio. Victor McLaglen does a great deal better than you might imagine with the role of John Rawson, the big mine your own business man from Montana—or was it Wyoming?—who wanted, and finally got, the 50 shares of stock Roland Wimbledon had just as good as stolen from his wife. Roland Young, as the perpetually crocked Mr. Wimbledon, contributes a glorious comedy portrayal, especially in the scenes where he takes Jed Prouty and Hank Mann out in his Rolls-Royce and brings them back in a motorcycle sidecar!

Sam Hardy, Wimbledon's man, Ludgate; William Collier, sr., as a house detective with a system, and Ruth Warren, as the pampered assistant cook in a menage in which all of the servants had servants and each only labored four hours a day, turn in performances that are classics of flippancy gone serious.

On the stage, Fanchon & Marco's "Love Letters" Idea is more notable for its colorful scenes than for any exceptional individual proficiency. Billy Nelson and Irene Knight form a clever comedy song and dance team; Jerry Coe, a dancing accordianist, is such a speed merchant that his slow motion stunts aren't slow; Jeanne Devereaux, singing and dancing juvenile, set the pace in many episodes, and Jim French's Aeroplane Girls, who happen to be on roller skates, execute a stunning finale, while Eugenia Reynolds and Mildred Stencel dangle precariously from two revolving trapezes.

The orchestra, under the direction of Al Mitchell, offers a special arrangement of "Ain't Misbehavin'," with Leon Brusiloff as violin soloist, and salvos of applause for all concerned, and Bob Hamilton scores no less than an ovation with his organ presentation of "Josh Sniggins' Hitchin' Bee, or a Hickville Wedding," a well-contrived bucolic comedy in chromatics.

The Fox Movietone News and, at 11 a. m. and 5:30 p. m., shows only, "Ubangi," an African subject, complete a bill that is exactly what the doctor ordered.

Commissioners Order Promotions of Police

Lieut. M. L. Raedy, of the Thirteenth Precinct, yesterday was promoted to the rank of captain to succeed Capt. Frank M. Dent, of the Eleventh Precinct, who is scheduled to retire July 31 by order of the District Commissioners.

Two other promotions also were ordered to fill vacancies created by the promotion of Lieut. Raedy. Sergt. A. E. Miller was made a lieutenant, while Private I. H. Umbaugh was given the rank of sergeant. The promotions become effective August 1.

Alleged Alcohol Delivery Nabbed.

William H. Maddox, 23, 1226 H street northwest, was arrested by Policeman W. McEwen, of the Third Precinct, last night and charged with illegal possession of five gallons of alcohol. McEwen, who was off duty, said he seized Maddox as he was about to make a delivery in an apartment house at Fourteenth and Clifton streets northwest.

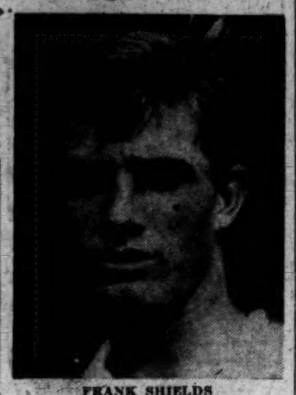
U. S. AND ENGLAND DIVIDE OPENING DAVIS CUP SINGLES

Wood Upset by Austin As Shields Wins Over Perry in Straight Sets

U. S. Youth Defeated in Surprise, 2-6, 6-0, 8-6, 7-5.

Shields Is Winner by 10-8, 6-4, 6-2; Doubles Today.



FRANK SHIELDS

PARIS, July 17 (A.P.).—Honors were even today at the end of the first pair of singles matches in the tennis battle between England and the United States for the right to challenge France for the Davis Cup.

Henry Bunny Austin, England's blond young stylist, defeated Sydney Wood, his American counterpart, 2—6, 6—0, 8—6, 7—5, but strapping Frank Shields beat England's big fellow, Fred Perry, in the second battle of the youngsters, winning in straight sets, 10—8, 6—4, 6—2.

Match to Be Completed Tomorrow.

Thus the final result of the American and European interzone play will not be known until Sunday, when today's opponents will be reversed for the final pair of singles. Victory either way in the doubles match tomorrow, however, may all but clinch the right to meet the injury-handicapped French for the historic trophy next week.

The big Roland Carros Stadium was only half full today, with only about 5,000 in the bleacher sections, but the scene was colorful and enthusiasm ran high. The boxes and more expensive seats held a fashionable crowd, including many American tourists.

The Stars and Stripes flew over the clubhouse along with the union jack, but the crowd was distinctly partisan toward the English youngsters.

Wood and Austin, the first pair out on the hard red court, were like a couple of lightweight boxers, each a supreme stylist, each a deft and graceful shotmaker. Austin's steady flow of perfectly produced ground strokes and accuracy carried him to victory with one great sweep after Wood had grabbed the first set in convincing manner.

Wood in Great Rally to Win First Set.

Then the heavyweights took over the arena. The delicate thrust and counter of Wood and Austin gave way to the pounding blows of Perry and Shields. The feature of this match was the great way the American boy recovered from a 1—5 disadvantage in games in the first set to win it, 10—8.

The dashing Perry with his merry grin had raced into a big lead, but he could not maintain the pace. While Shields was making errors, including too many double faults, his reserve of power and fine strokes, particularly his trusty backhand, saved him in the crisis of the first set.

The other two sets were not particularly interesting. Something of Perry's buoyant exuberance disappeared after the rugged first set and the contest dragged along toward a result that seemed inevitable after the American's fine comeback.

The Wood-Austin match was the best tennis of the day. They started on a damp court and slipped and slid through the first few games. Wood being the better acrobat. He captured the first set without a lapse, then it was the Englishman's turn to take the offensive and he took it with a vengeance.

The real treat for the French tennis fans came after the Anglo-American play was over for the day and the great Henri Cochet came out to practice. France looks to him to save the Davis Cup, despite an ailing shoulder that is just rounding into form. On his showing today against his profes-

SARAZEN'S 70 LEADS MET GOLFERS

Former Open Champion Has 143 Total; 2 Tied for 2d.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., July 17 (A.P.).—Gene Sarazen, of Lakeville, former national open champion, scored a spectacular 70, two under par, today for a two-round total of 143, to jump into the lead as 53 survivors in the metropolitan open-golf championship prepared to start down the 36-hole home stretch final tomorrow... ....

For the second day in a row Sarazen dominated the tournament. Emerging from the first round with a 73 after taking 40 shots on the outgoing nine, Sarazen required a 71 or better to tie or sail by Paul Runyan, of the Metropolis Club, and Johnny Farrell, of Quaker Ridge, who played in the morning and were deadlocked at 144 each for first honors.

Sarazen took the lead by stroking an unerring putt that traveled 30 feet from the back of the eighteenth green to the bottom of the cup for a birdie 4.

Macfarlane in 4th Place.

Standing alone behind Farrell and Runyan was Willie Macfarlane, of Oak Ridge, the defending champion, whose 73 today added to this first-round par 72 gave him a total of 145. Willie made only one mistake today, at the second green, where he took three putts for a five, the same as yesterday. He played the remainder of the round in par.

A stroke behind Macfarlane finished Clarence Clark, Oklahoma giant, of the Forest Hills Club, Newark, who carded a useful 72 to give him a two-day total of 146. Behind him by a stroke was Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., Western open champion, who also registered a 72 for a total of 148.

Robins Stop Cards, 4-1, to Even Series

St. Louis, July 17 (A.P.).—Adolfo Luque and John Pleus Quinn, two aged veterans of the baseball wars, held the league-leading Cardinals in check today and the Brooklyn Robins squared the series at two victories each by taking the fourth and final game, 4 to 1.

Led by Lefty O'Doul, who continued his hitting streak with a double and three singles, the Robins pecked away at Flint Rhem for two runs in the second inning and one each in the third and ninth. In only one inning, the second, were the Cards able to get more than one hit. Hafey's double and Adam's triple gave them their lone run in that frame.

Mrs. Moody Finalist in Doubles

Doeg and Coen Play Vines and Gledhill at Brookline.

Sarah Palfrey Meets Dorothy Andrus in Singles Finals.

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Mrs. George W. Wightman, who between them have collected an amazing total of national tennis championships, today gained the final round of the Longwood Bowl invitation doubles play by defeating Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., and Baroness Levi, New York, 6—3, 6—1.

The victors will clash with Sarah and Mianne Palfrey, for these Brookline sisters became finalists by wearing out Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., and Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, last year's winners, for a 4—6, 6—3, 9—7 victory.

The play of the former Helen Wills indicated that she has slumped from lack of stern competition, although her doubles play has never been as effective as her individual game. Miss Cruickshank and the baroness were keen competitors, but they did not have the strokes required to take advantage of Mrs. Moody's unsteady overhead game and her lack of control. Many times during the first set the former queen of the courts made unforced errors, but these slips were nullified by her wonderful forehand strokes, which appeared as sharp as ever.

Helen's forehand and Mrs. Wightman's deadly net play ripped off five straight games in the second set, during which the baroness' service was broken twice and Miss Cruickshank's once.

Doeg and Vines Meet In Doubles.

Champion Johnny Doeg and Ellsworth Vines, clay court titlists, who became finalists in yesterday's Longwood Bowl singles play, won the right to clash in another final. Doeg and W. F. Coen, jr., Kansas City, romped over Dr. William Rosenbaum and Fred C. Baggs, New York veterans, 6—2, 7—5, 7—5, in one doubles semi-final and Vines teamed with his Californian neighbor, Keith Gledhill, for a 6—4, 8—6, 6—4 win over Jan Kozeluh, Czechoslovakia, and Eugene McCauliff, Yonkers, N. Y., in the other.

A pair of Eastern players will fill the women's singles final, for Sarah Palfrey trounced Mary Greef, Kansas City, 6—4, 6—3, thereby avenging herself for last week's setback at Providence, and the unseeded Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., put on a sudden spurt that gave her an 8—6, 6—1 victory over Miss Cruickshank.

Miss Moody topped off her day's play with another one-set victory over G. Holmes Perkins, light hitting Massachusetts champion. She broke her opponent's service in the final game of the set for her 6—4 victory.

Browns Take Series Final From Red Sox

Boston, July 17 (A.P.).—St. Louis defeated the Red Sox, 6-2, in the final game of their series at Fenway Park today, giving the Browns four out of five victories.

Rip Collins won his second straight victory of the series although he failed to finish both today and in the first game. Boston's only runs, scored on three successive singles and a double after two were out in the sixth, sent him to the showers and Coffman finished.

Kress knocked a homer in the third inning and Goslin's two doubles each brought in a run for the Browns.

MRS. FEDERMAN WINS.

Eastern Point, Conn., July 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. Leo G. Federman, of Flushing, Long Island, today defeated Miss Edith Quier, of Reading, Pa., defending champion, 2 and 1, in the final match of the Griswold Cup golf tournament at the Shenecossett Country Club.

Navy Rules Slight Favorite In Leech Cup Tennis Today

THE LEECH CUP.

THE Leech Cup, only trophy in sport which brings together teams of the Army and Navy on a mutual playing field, will be contested for this afternoon at the Chevy Chase Country Club, as the tennis teams of the two branches of the national defense come together in seven matches, four of which are singles, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Placed in competition in 1924 the cup, the gift of Abner Y. Leech, jr., of this city, has been won five times by Navy, including last year, and twice by Army. Army's victories came in 1924 and 1925. It is one of the most beautiful trophies now in competition, and the occasion is one of the choicest plums of the local net season.

Today's matches promise to see Army go far toward making a better showing than has been its lot to promulgate during the last five years. Army has materially strengthened the upper recesses of its team. Maj. R. C. Van Vliet, long holder of No. 1 position, is slated today to appear in No. 4 position, although his game has shown no appreciable loss in effectiveness. First position in the Army line-up goes to Dolf Muehleisen, flying cadet, who is ranked 27 in the United States.

Lieut. Robinson No. 2 Player.

Army's No. 2 man will be Lieut. S. K. Robinson, singles and doubles champion of the service, with Lieut. D. D. Hedekin, the officer he beat in the final round, playing No. 3.

Only one major change has developed in the Navy line-up. Lieut. (Junior Grade) John A. McCue, who was unable to make the team in 1929, will play No. 2 position. His development as a match player has been marked in the last year. First place, as of the last three years, is held by Lieut. Richard M. Watts jr., one of

TRIBE BEATS YANKEES BY 2-1 SCORE

Ferrell Gives 3 Hits, Slams Home Run; No. 23 for Ruth.

NEW YORK, July 17 (A.P.).—Wes Ferrell, young Cleveland ace, made a personal matter of defeating the Yankees today, 2 to 1, to give the Indians three games out of five for the series.

Through eight innings, until rain halted hostilities, Ferrell allowed the Yankees only three hits, one of them a home run by Babe Ruth (his twenty-third of the season) that tied the score in the fourth. Then, in the seventh, he parked one of Herb Pennock's curves in the left-field bleachers to provide the winning score. The victory was number 13 for Ferrell against seven losses.

Singles by Averill and Morgan, Vosmik's sacrifice and Luke Sewell's infield out gave the visitors their first run in the fourth.

GROVE BEATS TIGERS FOR 19TH WIN

Macks Bunch Hits Off Uhle to Triumph by 6-3 Score.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17 (A.P.).—Lefty Grove registered his nineteenth victory of the season and tenth in succession here today by hurling the Athletics to a 6-3 decision over the Detroit Tigers. The champions thus won the series here by four games out of five.

Uhle pitched for Detroit and was bumped for four hits that produced as many runs in the second inning. The victory was also Grove's fourth of the season over the Tigers.

Kearns Tells of Finance With Dempsey, Rickard; They Didn't Have a Dime

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, July ..—He sat at a table in a restaurant, his fingers monkeying with a little paper of matches. More money had run through those fingers than most of us will ever see.

"How much did you and Dempsey handle, altogether?"

"Close on to four million," Jack Kearns said. "Counting fights, movies and all, just about four million. We cut it all right down the middle until he married that girl and we split. I never bore him any grudge for that. Everybody knows how it is when a man thinks he can't live unless he marries some girl or other. It was just like two business men breaking up a partnership. Our only difference was that he owed me some money when we quit and wouldn't pay off. I knew I couldn't get a verdict when I sued. He had the popular side.

"Still, I made a couple of million myself and had a good time. And now if Mickey Walker knocks off Sharkey I'll be back in the money again." Mr. Kearns grew reminiscent. A dozen years before he had come to Broadway with a crude, ignorant kid prize fighter, an occasional laborer and field hand, calling himself Young Dempsey.

"All-Comers" Kayoed Each Time.

"We were playing in a burlesque show, meeting all comers," he said. "We carried a sparring partner for the role of all-comers. The guy would get out of a seat and yell, 'I can lick that mugg' and come up on the stage. Then Dempsey would slap him over. But our show was stranded in Newark one night. We were short $80 for the electricians, and I came over to New York to get the money.

"In the Biltmore bar I met John McGraw and borrowed $25. He said, 'You know Tex Rickard, don't you?' and I said, 'Yes; and I know he's no good.'

"Rickard turned around and looked at me. I looked at him and said, 'Yes; I said you're no good.' I knew him up in Nome.

"McGraw said Rickard could get me a lot of money, and Tex began to talk. He wanted to put Jess Willard in the ring for another heavyweight championship, but he thought Dempsey was too small. Jack weighed only 186 then. Rickard wanted to use Fred Fulton. He never knew anything about fighters, anyway. I said, 'Why, Dempsey just knocked Fulton off in 18 seconds, and you say he's too small.'

"Well, anyway, Rickard didn't have $500 to his name, but I told him if he would let me send a telegram to Willard, using his name, I would promote a fight for him. So I offered Willard $100,000 to fight Dempsey, and Willard wired back for Tex to meet him in Chicago. Still, Rickard didn't know what he was going to use for money until Frank Flournoy promoted a banker down in Memphis for the expenses. Afterward Tex dropped Frank.

Dempsey "Broke" Before Carpentier Bout.

"Before the fight came off, Tex went down into Oklahoma and promoted some oil leases. Then he dropped the stock in the New York Curb, ran it up from about $9 to $20 and let go.

"When I got the title I was still

Bannockburn Golf Club To Ask Courts for Receiver

THE members of the Bannockburn Golf Club at a special meeting held last night at the clubhouse unanimously adopted a resolution authorizing the board of governors to take steps and close the affairs of the club. It is proposed to ask the courts to appoint a receiver for the organization and it is expected that when this receiver is appointed he will be a member of the club who will serve without pay.

Principal indebtedness of the club consists of a first mortgage upon the property of $75000 and a second mortgage of $48000. No interest has been paid upon these mortgages since the first of last January and they matured on the first of July last. This fact compelled the action of the club last night especially as its membership is now reduced to less than 50.

Assurance was given by the holder of the first mortgage that there would be no attempt to foreclose upon the property and it is hoped that some arrangements can be made to meet the outstanding indebtedness of the club so as to keep the course open until some reorganization can be affected.

Grove Faces Smallwood At Fort

Local Boys Again to Feature Show on Monday Night.

McKenna, Vance and Irving Also Show Ring Wares.

A REVISED card calling for 32 rounds of action was announced last night as the fistic offering of the Fort Washington Athletic Association for Monday night at the nearby Maryland Army post. Listed in the feature bout of eight rounds, which will decide, if you wish, the welterweight championship of the District, are Joe Smallwood and Harry (Kid) Grove.

As has ben the rule, fort officials have collected mostly local talent for this show, no less than eight Capital mitt-slingers having been signed. Thus far the presentation of local talent has proved popular with the fans.

Smallwood and Grove, both of Washington, and experienced welterweights, occupy the main spot vacated by Billy Landers, of Norfolk, and Frankie De Angelo, of this city, who were prevented from fighting because of injuries to their hands, sustained in training.

Sailor McKenna, Washington, and Andy Kell, Baltimore, both lightweights, will mix in the eight-round semifinal. Four preliminaries of four rounds each complete the card.

Vance and Irving On Card.

Frank Vance and Henry Irving, those willing sluggers who brought the fans out of their chairs last Monday night, again are down for action, though not against each other. Vance, who was stopped by Irving in the final round, is to engage W. L. Tucker, protege of Goldie Ahearn. Irving will face Fighting Dick, an unknown quantity from Charlotte, N. C.

Billy Hoe, of the Mohawk Club, will oppose Soldier Clark, of the fort, and K. O. Riley, another Mohawker, will battle Whitey Sailor, of Birmingham, Ala.

The main event holds possibilities of plenty of thrilling moments, as both Smallwood and Grove are capable of clever performances. Smallwood likely will be the favorite because of his supposedly better condition. Grove, who has had only three fights since 1928, probably will concede his rival something in the way of fighting trim.

Jack Kearns Defendant In $150,000 Suit

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—A $150,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Eleen Dorothy Hayes, wife of "Teddy" Hayes, boxing trainer, against John L. McKernon, known in sporting circles as Jack Kearns, manager of boxers, was disclosed today in the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Hayes charged McKernon was the father of her child, that he and "one Hayes" conspired to marry her to Hayes and after the ceremony Hayes abandoned her. She said she was unmarried in July, 1928, when McKernon and she allegedly agreed at Asbury Park, N. J., to marry. She asserted he repeated his promise in Manhattan and other places subsequently.

Filing of a complaint became known when attorneys for McKernon took action to have the suit transferred to Federal court on the ground that McKernon is a resident of Chicago and Mrs. Hayes lives in New York.

Neither attorneys for McKernon nor McKernon himself could be reached for a statement and Mrs. Hayes' counsel declined to comment for publication.

Phils Beat Bucs, 4-1; Elliott Again Winner

Girl, 14, Sets World Mark To Dethrone Eleanor Holm

NEW YORK, July 17, (A.P.).—Katherine Rawls, 14-year-old New York school girl, who claims Hollywood, Fla., as her home, tonight dethroned Eleanor Holm as national 300-meter medley champion, and in doing it set a new world's record of 4 minutes 45 4-5 seconds.

Miss Rawls' mark, made in the national A. A. U. outdoor swimming and diving championships, clipped four full seconds from Miss Holm's universal standard, set at Honolulu in the 1929 championships.

Miss Rawls was participating in her first national championship and her unexpected victory was a popular one with the crowd. She is less than 5 feet tall and weighs around 90 pounds. She lives in New York in the summer and in Hollywood in the winter.

Miss Rawls' victory cut into the expected point column of the Women's Swimming Association, of which Miss Holm is the star, and made the fight between the W. S. A. and the Los Angeles Athletic Club a close one.

West and Kuhel Leaders As 21-Hit Attack Gives Crowder Easy Triumph

SAMMY WEST

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

COMING out of their hitting slump yesterday, the Nationals pounded four White Sox pitchers for a total of 21 hits to take the final of the series, 12 to 7, and thus keep pace with the leading Mackmen, who again scored over the Tigers. While the Nationals could not reduce the seven-game margin which the leaders hold over them, they widened the gap between them and the third-place Yankees to 5½ games.

Every member of the Johnson cast took a hand in the big attack, with Sam West and Joe Kuhel having field days. Each was credited with a quartet of safeties, with West getting one of the only two extra-base blows chalked up on the natives' ledger, Heinie Manush hit safely thrice, with two singles each falling to the lot of Harry Rice, Ossie Bluege and Jack Hayes.

Frasier Routed in Second.

Donie Bush called on Jim Frasier, who beat the Nats in Chicago, to start on the hill, and he was wild and ineffective from the start and did not last through the second round. Jim Moore, his relief, was little better, three Washington runs being coined off his slants, while an eighth-inning rally made life anything but pleasant for Hal (Sweet Kitty) McKain. Only Bill Wehde, a rookie, who hurled but one round, escaped punishment.

"General" Alvin Crowder went the route for the Nats and the fact that he was knicked for fourteen hits was due to the 10-run lead his mates gave him. For five frames there was no doubt but that the "General" was in command of the game, for he pitched three-hit ball, but in the fifth he decided to do a little loafing and let down. The Sox immediately pounced on him and it was not until after they had scored six runs that he could pull himself together again.

Washington scored four runs in the first with little batting effort. West opened with a double, Manush's intended sacrifice was a safe bunt and Cronin was hit, filling the bases. Harry Rice walked, forcing over a run, Kuhel scored another with a scratch bounder over Frasier's head for a hit, and then a third run was forced in when Bluege coaxed a pass. After Hayes fanned, a fourth run registered on Spencer's out.

Five Nat Runs After Two Are Out.

The five native runs molded in the second, which saw Moore relieve Frasier, all were coined after two were out. Then Cronin walked, Harry Rice singled and stole and Kuhel scored both with a one-shot to center. Bluege, first to face Moore, strolled; Hayes singled Kuhel home and Bluege to third, and the third-sacker hustled over the plate on the front end of a double steal. Kerr's return peg was

TIGERS HERE TODAY FOR 4 GAMES

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

BUCKY HARRIS and his Detroit Tigers arrived here last night and this afternoon open a four-game series with the Nationals. The Jungle Cats have not been particularly hard for the Johnsons to beat so far this season, having succumbed seven times in ten meetings. Charley Gehringer has returned to the line-up since then, however, while the Nats have not been playing their best game, which means that some red-hot battles may be looked for.

The veteran, "Sad Sam" Jones, usually is quite effective against the Jungle Cats and for this reason Manager Johnson held him over from yesterday. Opposing him on the hill probably will be Art (Kippered) Herring, the midget right-hander who beat the Mackmen in Philadelphia early this week. It will be his first 1931 start against the natives, although he has faced them with only fair success in relief roles.

The second game of Thursday's double-header, which was rained out, will be played as part of a bargain-day bill here on Monday, September 21, the Washington Club announced yesterday.

Hayes made a brilliant over-the-shoulder catch of Tate's near-Texas Leaguer ending the Sox' second, taking the ball in short center.

West proved to be a real lead-off man yesterday. He was the first Nat up in the first three innings and each time came through with a safety, opening the game with a two-bagger, Sam was first up again in the fifth, but took a third strike this time.

When Hayes stole second in the fourth it was the second theft credited him and the f

SIX HORSES CHALLENGE TWENTY GRAND IN $86,000 RACE

Whitney Ace Is Odds-On Choice

By CHARLES DUNKLEY.

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 17 (A.P.).—Twenty Grand will go after seventy-three "grand" tomorrow, with the prospect that he will run away from his small, yet highly select field and win off by himself. The horse that in succession won the Wood Memorial Stake, the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and Dwyer Stakes, earning $134,193 to rank him as America's leading money winner of the season, will go to the post in the $70,000 added Arlington Classic an overwhelming favorite to defeat six others that will be sent against him.

The race, at a mile and quarter, is the richest three-year-old stake in the world and promises to attract a crowd upward of 60,000. If the terrific heat abates, there may be 75,000 on hand to cheer, or groan, as Twenty Grand comes thundering down the stretch.

Victory to Clinch 3-Year-Old Title for Twenty Grand.

The gross value of the race, with seven starters, will be $86,200. If Twenty Grand is triumphant, he will earn $73,650 for Mrs. Payne Whitney, owner of the Greentree Stable, and clinch the three-year-old championship of America, which is disputed only by that colt named Mate, the conqueror of Twenty Grand in the Preakness early in May.

Six crack 3-year-olds—one a stable mate—will line up at the barrier to conquer Twenty Grand, if possible. The stable mate is St. Brideaux, which will run with Twenty Grand as the Greentree entry.

The others are A. C. Bostwick's Mate; Spanish Play, winner of the Louisiana and Latonia Derbies, owned by Richard Norris, of Chicago, and Pat Knebelkamp, of Louisville; Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt's Sun Meadow; Sir Ashley, owned by the Belair Stud, and C. C. Vanmeter's sensational cutup of the Western turf season, Joey Bibbs. Only two of the seven starters, Spanish Play and Joey Bibbs, are Western owned. The other five wear the colors of Eastern millionaires.

Twenty Grand, hailed by the turf as perhaps the greatest horse America ever has produced, will either carry the pink and black colors of Mrs. Payne Whitney to victory, or he will shock the Nation.

If he fails to triumph, it will be one of the biggest upsets of the turf season, as the betting indicated tonight that the big son of St. Germain's—Bonus will go to the post a 6 to 5 favorite, with Mate ranking as the probable second choice.

There will be heavy support for Mate if the weather conditions enter into the race. Rain is predicted and if the track should turn muddy, Mate's chances of beating Twenty Grand appear to be brighter. Mate is regarded as an excellent mud runner.

The only time Twenty Grand ran in the mud this season was in the Woods Memorial. Yet he won that contest and young Jimmy Rowe, his trainer, says the big colt can run in the mud as well as on a fast track.

Twenty Grand engaged in his final workout today, breezing a half in 0:48. Trainer Rowe says that his colt is ready to run and that he will be the most disappointed man in the country if he fails to triumph. He said the horse is trained perfectly and that he never appeared to be in better condition.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SOPHIST, $9.54, $5.00, $4.58; WITEON, $12.00, $8.84; CHATTER QUEEN, $6.48.

SOPHIST gained a prominent position soon after the start and, taking a good lead in the stretch, won easily. WHITEON could not keep up in the early running, but finished fast to outgame the others, although racing wide in the stretch. CHATTER QUEEN set the pace and held on fairly well.

SECOND RACE—About two miles (short course). Purse, $2,000; claiming. Iroquois Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:47. Off at 2:47½. Winner, Fox Chapel Stud's b. g. (6), by Ukko—Piesole. Trained by M. Henderson. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $175; fourth, $75. Time, 4:01 4-5 (13 Jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FICHET, $13.58, $3.14, $2.64; NAT CLYMAN, $2.90, $2.66; HILLOCK, $2.88.

FICHET, showing improvement in his jumping and good speed on the flat, led most of the way by a wide margin and had enough left at the finish to hold NAT CLYMAN. Latter, allowed to take his time for the first mile and a half, permitted FICHET to assume too great an advantage and, although finishing well, could not close the gap separating him from the winner.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,600; allowances. Peoria Purse. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:17. Off at 3:17½. Winner, A. Feletteri's b. f. (2), by Sweep On—Prenez Garde. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 4-5, 0:59 3-5, 1:06.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COLONIAL BELLE, $8.84, $4.34, $3.38; OSCILLATION, $4.12, $3.18; GALA FLIGHT, $6.30.

COLONIAL BELLE, always in a contending position, came with a rush through the stretch to wear down OSCILLATION and got up in the closing strides and was drawing away at the end. OSCILLATION moved up fast on the inside after leaving back stretch and, lucky to find an opening near the rail at the stretch turn, saved much ground to take command, but could not last. GALA FLIGHT raced wide throughout, but showed speed. MISS CORINNE was knocked back by OSCILLATION on far turn, but came again and was going well at the end.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Pegg's Pride. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:46. Off at 3:50½. Winner, H. P. Headley's b. g. (5), by Tryster—Select Shot. Trained by W. W. Taylor. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 2-5, 0:45 2-5, 1:11.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HOT SHOT, $5.84, $2.74, $2.78; FRENCH LASS, $2.62, $2.78; BLACK COMET, $12.62.

HOT SHOT, breaking quickly, soon took a short lead and, shaking off BLACK COMET in the stretch, had enough left to hold FRENCH LASS. Latter raced wide in the stretch, but was gaining at finish. BLACK COMET showed improvement early, but weakened in final furlong. DICK MORRIS stopped badly.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,800. Michigan Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:17. Off at 4:17½. Winner, A. Bartelstein's ch. g. (7), by Golden Guinea—Round the World. Trained by H. Unna. Value to winner, $1,300; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:39 3-5, 1:52 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOLDEN PRINCE, $6.68, $4.62, $2.46; GONE AWAY, $6.46, $2.76; PANCHIO, $2.32.

GOLDEN PRINCE, racing close to the leaders in the early stages, moved up strongly on the outside after going half the distance and, catching PANCHIO in the stretch, drew out in the final sixteenth. GONE AWAY came fast in the stretch and staged a game finish. PANCHIO showed good speed in pacemaking and held on fairly well in the final drive. CULLODEN tired.

SIXTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500. Special weights. For maiden 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:46. Off at 4:49½. Winner, J. F. Adams' ch. c. (3), by Sunference—Perigourdine. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 2-5, 1:11 3-5, 1:38.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUNEROS, $16.38, $8.86, $4.74; THUNWIN, $4.88, $3.52; BUGS LEARY, $3.26.

SUNEROS, running as if easily best, drew away from his opposition entering the stretch and won in hand. THUNWIN could not keep up in the early running, but came fast in the last quarter to best the others. BUGS LEARY raced evenly and was going fairly well at the finish. BACHELOR'S TOY tired.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Theo Red. Won driving; place, same. Winner, C. O. Feaver's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—STAR LASSIE, $33.10, $14.06, $7.82; FLAG PORTER, $6.22, $4.10; LAURA NEGLEY, $5.02.

STAR LASSIE took the lead after going a quarter and, withstanding several challenges, lasted to hold FLAGG PORTER. Latter, probably best, closed gamely on his own courage and would have won in a few more strides. LAURA NEGLEY displayed early speed, but was in close quarters during the stretch run. PRIMEVAL acted badly at the barrier, was started from the outside, and closed a big gap. PRINCE TOKALON never threatened. CHERRY MAY had early speed.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:48. Off at 5:48. Wild Rose Farm's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MACEDON, $5.90, $5.26, $3.06; GOVERNOR SETH, $13.04, $7.46; PELLEGRINO, $6.02.

MACEDON gained steadily in the early running and, coming fast through the stretch, wore down GOVERNOR SETH and was going away at the finish. GOVERNOR SETH came fast approaching the stretch turn and took a short lead when straightened out for home, but could not resist winner.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SOPHIST, $9.54, $5.00, $4.58; WITEON, $12.00, $8.84; CHATTER QUEEN, $6.48.

SOPHIST gained a prominent position soon after the start and, taking a good lead in the stretch, won easily. WHITEON could not keep up in the early running, but finished fast to outgame the others, although racing wide in the stretch. CHATTER QUEEN set the pace and held on fairly well.

SECOND RACE—About two miles (short course). Purse, $2,000; claiming. Iroquois Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:47. Off at 2:47½. Winner, Fox Chapel Stud's b. g. (6), by Ukko—Piesole. Trained by M. Henderson. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $175; fourth, $75. Time, 4:01 4-5 (13 Jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FICHET, $13.58, $3.14, $2.64; NAT CLYMAN, $2.90, $2.66; HILLOCK, $2.88.

FICHET, showing improvement in his jumping and good speed on the flat, led most of the way by a wide margin and had enough left at the finish to hold NAT CLYMAN. Latter, allowed to take his time for the first mile and a half, permitted FICHET to assume too great an advantage and, although finishing well, could not close the gap separating him from the winner.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,600; allowances. Peoria Purse. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:17. Off at 3:17½. Winner, A. Feletteri's b. f. (2), by Sweep On—Prenez Garde. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 4-5, 0:59 3-5, 1:06.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COLONIAL BELLE, $8.84, $4.34, $3.38; OSCILLATION, $4.12, $3.18; GALA FLIGHT, $6.30.

COLONIAL BELLE, always in a contending position, came with a rush through the stretch to wear down OSCILLATION and got up in the closing strides and was drawing away at the end. OSCILLATION moved up fast on the inside after leaving back stretch and, lucky to find an opening near the rail at the stretch turn, saved much ground to take command, but could not last. GALA FLIGHT raced wide throughout, but showed speed. MISS CORINNE was knocked back by OSCILLATION on far turn, but came again and was going well at the end.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Pegg's Pride. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:46. Off at 3:50½. Winner, H. P. MARKEY DEFEATS WELSH IN PUBLIC PARKS NET TOURNEY

O'Neill Wins Over Trigg In 2 Sets

Rain Again Shortens Program; Men's Finals Shifted.

Martinez and Walker Choices in Women's Doubles Play.

THE daily rainstorm held off long enough yesterday afternoon to complete two stoutly contested matches in the ninth annual men's tennis championship of the public courts. The only match scheduled in the women's division was rained out with the score standing 4—3 in the third and final set.

Bud Markey, one of the prime favorites in the running for the men's singles, passed a serious obstacle in his path yesterday when he triumphed over Barney Welsh, hard-hitting Rockville youth, 7—5, 6—4, in a match in which there was more sock than science. In the other match completed, Maurice O'Neill outsteadied Hugh Trigg, 6—4, 6—4, in a well-played battle.

Rain put a halt to activities in the match in which Dorothy Kingsbury and Cecyle Raver were leading Margaret Graham and Maycita de Souza, 4 to 3, in the third set, after the two teams had divided two 6—4 sets. This match may be finished today.

To make way for today's Leech Cup matches at Chevy Chase, tomorrow's Tilden exhibition at Wardman Park Hotel, and today and tomorrow's Middle Atlantic doubles at the Country Club of Virginia, Richmond, no matches in men's singles or doubles will be played until next Tuesday. Weather permitting and contestants agreeing, today may see an end to the women's doubles, with Mrs. Ruth Martinez and Frances Walker hot favorites to take the title.

Play in women's doubles has advanced to the semifinal round. The winner of yesterday's incomplete match will meet the winner of a contest between the team of Martinez-Walker and that of Corella Morris and Dorette Miller.

It was not that Markey was steady yesterday, but that Welsh was unsteady, that the verdict went as it did. The match was played in almost twilight darkness and finished in a driving rain. Neither player hit his topnotch form and both made errors which ordinarily they do not make, but the tennis maintained a surprisingly high level of efficiency. Markey, finding Welsh's chops difficult to stroke from the backcourt, advanced to the net on nearly every shot, to nip short the full-blooded shots directed at him.

O'Neill's stone-wall steadiness and a prolonged midcourt argument over the score in the ladies' match were the respective features of the two remaining matches.

Mat Bouts Feature At Co. F Carnival

One of the outstanding features of the carnival of Company F, of the 121st Engineers, to be held at Third street and Maine avenue southwest, starting Monday night, will be a series of professional wrestling bouts between men who are well known in Washington.

These bouts will not be the type that is usually found on carnival lots, where a showman meets all comers, but will be men who are well known and who have performed at the Griffith Stadium during the summer and spring.

A number of novel attractions, including 5 big rides, as many shows and 40 games and booths, will be among the many attractions on the lot.

Capt. George W. Johns, who is in charge of all arrangements for the carnival, has several big surprises, in the way of free attractions for the two weeks that the show will run. All proceeds will go to the work being done by the District National Guard. Admission will be free of charge.

Indians Close Deals For 2 Minor Box Aces

Cleveland, July 17 (A.P.).—Efforts to bolster the Cleveland Indians' mound staff for next season were started today when General Manager Billy Evans announced the purchase of Leon Rhodes, 21-year-old right-hander of the Burlington Club, of the Mississippi Valley League, and the taking of an option on Marty Pearson, of the Oakland Club, of the Pacific Coast League. Rhodes will join the Indians at the close of the Mississippi Valley season. The Indians will have until September 15 to decide whether they want Pearson. Oakland asked $25,000 for him.

Evans also said he was bidding against the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics for Sarge Connally, formerly of the Chicago White Sox and now with Toledo. Connally is leading the American Association with twelve victories and four defeats.

Rollins, Jennings Go Into Belle Haven Final

Special to The Washington Post.

Belle Haven, Va., July 17.—Charlie Rollins entered the finals of the Belle Haven Bowl golf tournament today when he defeated Bill Burns in a semifinal match, 4 and 3.

Rollins' sensational shot on the third hole broke Burns' spirit and practically assured him the match. The Belle Haven golf team captain was in the trap with his ball barely showing through the mud. He selected a mashie niblick for the shot and nearly holed out on it.

The finals will be played Sunday, a 36-hole match. Rollins' opponent will be Lawrence Jennings, winner of the first bracket. Jennings is also a member of the golf team. Eighteen holes will be played in the morning and eighteen in the afternoon.

A large gallery is expected to see the match. Rollins won the Belle Haven Bowl last year. It must be won three times for permanent possession.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

WALTER EASLER can stick pins and needles through any part of his body without experiencing any pain whatsoever. Strangely enough, when he sews his mouth shut with an ordinary needle and thread, he not only fails to show any signs of discomfort, but calmly extricates the threads from the scarless wounds which do not produce a flow of blood.

FORMER C. U. STAR FIGHTS AT LAUREL

Fullam, Ex-Cardinal Ring Ace, on Card Wednesday.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY and Washington as a whole still remembers Frankie Fullam, kingpin middleweight, who shows here in a five-round preliminary to the Pete Latzo-Sam Weiss banner attraction at the Midcity Stadium's arena Wednesday night. Consequently, when the youngster makes his professional bow against Sam Finazzo, of Baltimore, he will be solidly backed by students, alumni and well-wishers of the Brookland institution.

Seated at the ringside as an invited guest of the Midcity Stadium will be "Teddy" Mitchell, who coached the Catholic team on which Fullam proved outstanding two years ago. Too, Athletic Director Arthur Bergman, who succeeded Jack McAuliffe as sports head at Brookland, will be an invited guest. While Bergman was not affiliated with Catholic when Frankie was making a name for himself, he since has followed the youngster's progress interestedly.

Fullam's Friends To Attend.

Although the advance ticket sale will not get under way until Monday, many of Fullam's followers already are preparing to attend the show. The genial lad, who this last spring was crowned National A. A. U. middleweight champion, will be handled by Dan Hickey, athletic director of the New York A. C. and manager of Paul Berlenbach.

Berlenbach, a stablemate of Fullam, will accompany the youngster here, and is expected to put in an appearance Tuesday. Recent milling has thoroughly prepared him for his five-round semifinal with Herman Weiner, Baltimore lad.

Chevy Chase, Takoma Nines Ready for Battles

The Chevy Chase Grays and Takoma Tigers will finish up a hard week of drilling this afternoon in preparation for tomorrow's important double-header on the former's diamond which will have an important bearing in the final outcome of the flag chase in the Montgomery County Section of The Post's Capital City League. The Grays have booked a practice game for today, while the champion Takoma Nine will content itself with a batting and fielding drill.

The largest crowd to ever witness a game on the Chevy Chase field is expected to be on hand for tomorrow's frays. A large delegation of rooters will accompany the Tigers to the scene of battle while Chevy Chase will be well represented.

Manager Ed Morris plans to send "Lefty" Stevens to the mound in an effort to stop Takoma in the opening encounter, while Ray Knight probably will get the call in the nightcap. The same team that performed against Old Colony last week will take the field tomorrow.

Manager Paul James, of the Tigers, has not as yet announced any plans for the game, but Ed Marosey is certain to twirl in one of the games.

TILDEN PLAY LINEMEN NAMED

Local Men to Handle Tennis at Wardman Park Tomorrow.

TEN prominent local netmen and officials have been appointed as linemen for the exhibition matches tomorrow at Wardman Park Hotel in which William T. Tilden, world's professional champion; Francis T. Hunter, former amateur doubles champion; Karel Kozeluh, former United States professional champion; Emmett Pare, former national clay-court champion, and Bobby Seller, Pacific Coast player, will appear.

Louis I. Doyle, Herbert L. Shepard, Capt. A. J. Gore, Mortimer D. Rathgeber, John Ladd, Stanley Haney, Dooly Mitchell, Alan Staubly, William O. Shreve and Winfree Johnson will handle the two singles and one doubles match at Wardman.

Burt Cortelyou, manager of the Tilden Tours, yesterday announced the order of play for tomorrow. Pare and Hunter will engage in a two-out-of-three set singles match to begin the afternoon's events.

First Match at 2:30 O'clock.

This match will start at 2:30 o'clock, followed by the feature tussle of the day, in which Tilden will meet Kozeluh in a three-out-of-five set match. Following a brief rest Tilden and Hunter will appear in doubles against Kozeluh and Seller.

Tickets for the matches will be on sale until noon today at Spalding's, Joe Turner's, the Tennis Shop, Fairway and the Sport Mart. After 12 o'clock all unsold seats will be thereafter on sale at Wardman Park Hotel. Box seats are being sold for $3, and the prices of grandstand seats are $1 and $2. These latter two classes are being sold on the first-come-first-served basis.

Three Knockouts Mark Silver Spring Fights

FRED PERRY,

JACK KEARNS TELLS OF OLD DAYS

broke. They murdered us with that trial in California, and the heavyweight champion didn't have a dime when he came to New York to catch Carpentier the next spring. I promoted that one, too.

"Carpentier had a gentleman's agreement to fight for Cochrane, the English promoter, in London for $40,000. I found Cochrane and said, 'If you are a friend of the boy, do you mean to say you are going to hold him to an agreement for a $40,000 fight when he can make $200,000 otherwise?' We were drinking wine.

"Cochrane got proud of his sportsmanship and called off the agreement, but he said, 'Who is going to give him the $200,000?' I said, 'I am going to guarantee it,' and as I was saying, I didn't have a dime.

"That night I dug up William A. Brady, and he agreed to promote the show $100,000 worth. Cochrane got auspicious and decided he would have to be a copromoter. Then I dug up Rickard and let him in for the third partner. They were glad to have him.

"All this time the champion was really digging up the challenger. Nobody had offered Dempsey any money yet, and I thought it was about time to say something about that. So when they had Carpentier, I said, 'Now all you boys have to get is the heavyweight champion and you will have a match. We will take $300,000 for our end.'

"Rickard nearly went crazy. Cochrane went back to London, got sick and pulled out of the deal. Brady got bashful, too, and turned the whole thing over to Tex. Still, Rickard was trying to argue me down. He showed how much it would cost to build the arena and put on the show, but I still said the champion would take $300,000.

"'And, moreover,' I said one night, 'If you think we can't get the money you wait 'til I see some people tomorrow morning. I am seeing some Cuban millionaires who want the show for Havana.'

"At the moment I didn't know where I could dig up a Cuban in New York, but Dan McKettrick knew a Cuban restaurant downtown and got hold of a couple of little waiters who looked good in spats. He coached them in what they were to say and wrote out a check for $500,000 on a bank in Havana for the flash.

"The waiters got us in a ballroom at the Claridge next morning. The sport writers and photographers were all there, and when this little waiter flashed his rubber check the flashlight bombs nearly blew the windows out of the hotel."

I nodded. I was one of the sport writers that day.

"So Tex gave us $300,000 for our end, and the show drew $1,600,000. And to think I could have taken 50 per cent!

Collecting Payment At Shelby Risky.

"Yes, indeed. Oh, yes, yes, indeed, we handled a large amount of funds together, Dempsey and Dr. Kearns. Why, that last day in Shelby, when they turned the house over to me, McKettrick and I and some boys stood behind the barbed-wire fence and sold $108,000 worth of tickets at $10 each through the fence, making change out of satchels right on the ground, with a couple of sheriffs and some Government men to guard us.

"Dempsey was waiting to go into the ring, but I told him to hold back until I sent him word. We already had $200,000 and when they couldn't raise the third $100,000 of the guarantee I took over the gate. That night I paid the Government tax in cash to the revenue agent. We counted money all night long in the little abandoned bank. McKettrick and I stood over the satchels with guns in our belts until morning.

"Then about 9 o'clock I got word that the revenue man was going to try to stick me up for the tax on $300,000 worth of tickets sold by the original promoters. So I hired a wild engine and caboose for $500 to run to Great Falls, and we tore out of the yard just as they came running down to the station with their attachment. In Great Falls I threw the satchels into Dempsey's compartment on another train, and away we went with Jerry the Greek and a couple of bushels of dough."

Mr. Kearns sighed. I didn't ask the logical question, "How much of all that money have you got now?" sensing that the answer would have been, "Not a dime."

Sharkey Called Too Good To Bow to Middleweight

Bostonian Looks as Good as at Any Time in Career While Training for Walker Bout Next Week.

By DIXON STEWART.

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., July 17 (U.P.).—Jack Sharkey may or may not be the world's best heavyweight fighter, but on the form displayed today the Bostonian is much too good to be defeated by a middleweight.

Sharkey, in training for his match with Mickey Walker at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, next Wednesday, held a brief workout this afternoon before some 800 paid spectators and a group of New York sports writers, who were guests of Promoter Jimmy Johnston.

Sharkey Looks Better Than Ever.

The big Bostonian looked as good as at any time in his career, toying with his sparring partners and showing the boxing skill and punching ability which earned him the reputation of being the world's best heavyweight.

Long before the drill was completed, the visiting writers were looking askance at Jimmy Jennings, who once was an honest, trustworthy newspaperman like the rest of us, but now is Promoter Johnston's publicity man at the Sharkey camp. Jimmy, it is, who has been sending out the reports that Sharkey was fat and out of condition, refused to take the forthcoming fight seriously and was "as effective against his sparring partners as an armless man against a swarm of angry bees."

Jimmy offered plenty of excuses, declaring that today's workout was the first in which Sharkey showed to advantage and denying that he had been ordered to "pull down" Sharkey while Walker was being "built up" in order to make the match appear a fair contest.

Fighters Appear to Be Mismatched.

The Sharkey-Walker bout appears to be a mismatch. Sharkey, one of the best heavyweights of the day, has every physical advantage over his opponent, who is nothing more than a slightly overgrown middleweight. In addition to having a 30-pound pull in weight he is much the better boxer, a harder hitter and considerably faster than Walker.

Jack himself is absolutely confident of victory.

"Jennings has been giving you fellows a buggy ride," he said. "I don't think I ever was in better condition than I am now. At that, I don't think I'd have to be in shape to win. How can anyone figure a little fellow like Walker to give me a workout. They wouldn't match "Kid" Chocolate and Jimmy McLarnin and this is even more one-sided. I told my manager, Johnny Buckley, and Jimmy Johnston that we'd be arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses, if the fight was billed as a real match. However, they made the match and I'll go ahead and knock Walker out for them. Then I want to get Carnera and Loughran. I don't suppose Schmeling will dare to get in the ring with me, but I'm going to knock off all the other contenders and make him admit that he's afraid to meet me."

Caerlon, 25-1, Wins British Race Classic

Caerlon was a 25-to-1 shot in the field of 11 starters, while Goyescas was quoted at 11 to 4.

The race, at a mile and a quarter, was worth £1,500.

All Women Champs Defend Titles in Meet

Jersey City, N. J., July 17 (U.P.).—All title winners of the 1930 national women's track and field championships will defend their laurels in the annual games to be held here next Saturday, it was announced today.

The chief event will be the 100-yard dash in which Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, will defend her title against such stars as Mary Carew, of Medford, Mass.; Eleanor Egg, of Paterson, N. J.; Alice Monk, of Newark, and Louise Stokes, of Boston.

Bebe Didrikson, of Dallas, Tex., will defend her titles in baseball throwing and the javelin against Nellie Sharka, of Newark; Evelyn Hall, of Chicago, and others.

British India to Enter Olympic Hockey Series

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—American Olympic headquarters today received word that British India would be represented by a field hockey team at the 1932 games in Los Angeles. British India won the Olympic championship at Amsterdam three years ago.

France and Austria have indicated they will also enter teams.

Harold Kirk Greer, chairman of the 1932 Olympic Games field Hockey committee, announced the first tryouts to select a team to represent the United States in this event would be held this fall in either New York or Philadelphia.

G. W. and Oklahoma Play Here Next Year

As part of its proposed bigger and better football program, George Washington University has scheduled a game with the University of Oklahoma to be played here on Thanksgiving Day, 1932, it was announced last night by Jim Pixlee, Colonial director of athletics.

The Sooners and the Colonials have signed a two-year home-and-home agreement, Pixlee stated. George Washington will return the visit in 1933.

In addition to the Oklahoma game, G. W. has scheduled Iowa University for a game in 1932. Other well-known teams will be brought here during the same season if plans of the Colonial athletic department are consummated.

already reached the sack, letting the former Nat carry on to second.

In view of the Nats' big lead, Manager Johnson decided to give Roy Spencer a rest, Cliff Bolton going behind the plate starting the sixth.

Harry Rice made a great try for Kerr's low, short looper in the seventh, but missed it by a whisker. It filled the bases for the visitors.

Kuhel and Bluege opened the home eighth with successive safe bunts.

Crowder deflected Fothergill's line drive in the ninth, Hayes racing over toward first to back him up and make a pretty play to kill the chubby fly-chaser at the doorway.

NAVY PLAYS ARMY FOR LEECH TROPHY

the greatest players the Navy ever has produced.

Lieut. Gerald W. Smith has been named for No. 3 position and Ensign W. E. Howard, jr., for No. 4. Ensign J. W. Farrin, rated as a sure member of the team early in the year, was unable to make the squad, his post-graduate studies confining him to Annapolis.

Bitterly-Contested Matches Expected.

Competitively speaking the matches should be bitterly contested. It is reasonable to suppose the most of them will be decided only in the third set. Navy still maintains a slight edge, being slightly stronger in doubles and rated, at worst, an equal in singles.

Every match promises to be "the feature," but it is foreshadowed that the engagement between Muehleisen and Watt will bring out some of the best tennis of the year. Muehleisen is known from coast to coast as the possessor of one of the greatest dropshots in the game. He is fast and strong and as consistent as possible. Watt can not be taken lightly. His classic continental strokes last year forced Johnny Doeg to go to four long sets in the third round of the national singles.

NAVY.

ARMY.

Singles—No. 1, Lieut. Richard M. Watt, jr.; 2, Lieut. (Junior Grade) J. A. McCue; 3, Lieut. (Junior Grade) Gerald W. Smith; 4, Ensign W. E. Howard, jr. Doubles—No. 1, Howard and Ensign J. W. Farrin; 2, Commander C. C. Gill and Smith; 2, Lieut. Comdr. V. H. Godfrey and Watt.

ALEX. LEGION NINE IN VA. SERIES

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 17.—Fifteen players will be carried by the Alexandria Legion Juniors to Danville, Va., on Monday for the three-day State championship junior series, which opens Tuesday.

The Alexandria boys won the honors in 1930 and advanced to the semifinals in the regional play, losing to the Gastonia, N. C., nine.

"My team is better balanced this season than last," declared Coach Prex Wilson today. "I have three pitchers, three catchers and necessary reserve men for outfield and infield berths. I am confident my boys will make a real bid for honors. The club as a whole is shiftier than last year and can hit."

The legion boys will hold their final practice tomorrow before leaving for Danville. This workout will be held on Haydon's Field.

Players to make the trip are: Tesh, Bruin, Hudson, Mendelson, Baber, Yartter, W. Lewis, Heflin, Backus, Chilcotte, Godfrey, Foltz, Morgan, Malcolm Carr, manager, and Pex Wilson, coach.

Lewis, Hudson and Heflin will perform the mound duties for the club in these games, with Backus catching.

The trip will be made in automobiles, a number of Legionnaires planning to convey the boys to the scene of the games.

Alexandria Playground Swimmers Win.

It was announced today that the tennis court at the Municipal Pool is in excellent condition and ready for the players to engage in matches. A tennis tourney is contemplated next month.

Manager Charlie Corbett, of the Celtics, announced today he had scheduled the Washington Red Sox for a game next Sunday. The Red Sox will bring a crack club here. This is the third of a five-game series.

GIRL, 14, SHATTERS SWIMMING MARK

At the end of the third night of competition the score was: W. S. A., 21 points; Los Angeles A. C., 17 points; Washington A. C., Seattle (Elelene Madison is the only representative in the championships), 15 points, and the remainder scattered among several other girls and associations.

Miss Madison, swimming against time, set a world's record of 13 minutes 23 4-5 seconds, for 1,000 yards free style which is 1 minute 25 3-5 seconds under the record set by Martha Norelius in 1927.

Miss Uorelius, however, was credited with her 1,000 yard record on her 1,000-meter time, which is almost 110 yards farther, because her record for the longer distance was better than the then existing record for 1,000 yards.

Helene would have had to travel considerably faster than she did to break Miss Norelius' 1,000-meter mark as the time would have been around 14:31 compared to the record of 14:39 2-5 if she had maintained her average pace to that distance.

was bad, letting Hayes carry on to third, and Spencer's single scored him.

West singled opening the third. Cronin's double and Harry Rice's long fly made the Nats 10 up, and this seemed to satisfy them until the eighth, when they tallied two more times. These markers were made from opening bunts by Kuhel and Bluege, Hayes' useful out and singles by Bolton, West and Manush.

Meanwhile, Crowder was going along in fine style until the sixth, when he began saving himself. The result was ten hits and six runs in the next two frames, with Smead Jolley, who hit a homer in Thursday's game, having a chance to duplicate it with two on in the seventh, when he was sent to the swinging block in Wehde's place. Had he done so, an early ten-run lead would have been reduced to a solitary marker—but he didn't, popping to Bluege to end the round.

Fonseca Has Perfect Day at Bat.

Three hard-hit balls to West sent the aliens down in order in the eighth and they were able to score but once in the ninth, the run resulting from Fonseca's double over Manush's head and two useful outs, Fonseca, by the way, recognized Crowder as a "cousin," and had a perfect day at bat, walking once and getting three singles in addition to his two-bagger. Reynolds, with a triple, double and single, also claimed some distant relationship to the "general," with Fothergill, Kerr and Tate getting two safeties each.

CONTROLLING HOOKWORM AND MALARIA.

IT is possible for any community in North America to bring malaria and hookworm under control. The only question is as to whether they are willing to take the trouble. There should be some evidence, else the above statement should not have been made. Here is the evidence:

The Florida State Board of Health decided to find an answer for the question, "Can malaria and hookworm be controlled?" They picked the Mill Creek neighborhood, in St. John County, as a fair place in which to make a trial. With the cooperation of the local health department, the physicians, and the people, they examined every person, regardless of age, in the community.

The examination was for infection with hookworm and malaria. Eighty-eight per cent of the entire population were found to have hookworm. The proportion of malarially infected was found to be high. A large part of those with hookworm and malaria were not aware of the facts—did not even suspect them. They had indigestion, liver troubles, anemia; they had no pep, had frequent headaches, but they did not know why.

Then followed the work of control. It consisted of treating the malarial, including the malaria carriers, of treatment for hookworm, of screening homes, draining the soil, killing mosquitoes, prevention of mosquito breeding and building sanitary toilets, providing good water supplies and advising children to wear shoes.

At the end of a year a resurvey was made. The percentage of people having hookworm had dropped from 88 to 5, and there was virtually no malaria. That statement interests the layman less than the following:

"The most striking feature of the entire demonstration was the marked change in the physical aspect of the people.

"Children, obviously hookworm and malaria infested, and now free of disease, were found to be mentally alert, rosk cheeked and full of the vigor of health; former repeaters in the schools were found to be among the brightest pupils, in many instances; better nutrition and gain in bodily weight were notable; the community as a whole showed improvement in personal appearance and renewed energy and vigor in their economic activities about the homes."

The experience in Mill Creek can be duplicated in every community in the State. The solution is plain. The plan is practical extension of adequate health service to the rural population through the agency of the whole-time county health units.

NERVOUS THROAT.

Mrs. F. S. writes: Could you please tell me what could be done for a nervous throat that gives one a choking feeling? Also the cause?

REPLY.

This is a classical symptom of hysteria. The only treatment called for hysteria is training. There is some opinion that there is a physical basis for the symptom, that it results from pressure. However, even if true that would not mean that any treatment is called for.

STOCK PRICES GAIN SLIGHTLY AT CLOSE

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The security markets relaxed today, awaiting the results of the diplomatic conferences at Paris and London.

Stocks were higher much of the day. Lower quotations prevailed at the close of trading in speculative commodities.

With German affairs calling for less immediate concern, share traders took things easy and the turnover dropped to just under 1,800,000. There was a rally in the morning and another in the afternoon, but the market lost its zest each time. The second advance encountered some profit-taking, which resulted in net losses in a few prominent stocks, although others maintained enough of their advances to effect a rise of a point in the composite. Rails were strong and held up well.

The Reichsbank statement clearly showed the necessity for the drastic action taken by the Bruening government. Foreign exchange holdings dropped $61,655,000 and gold nearly $14,000, while the paper circulation coverage was reduced to 35.8 per cent, a loss of 8 per cent in the week. The gold reserve requirement has since been lowered to 30 per cent.

Trade Figures Dismal.

American foreign trade figures for June made dismal reading. Exports of $187,000,000 were the smallest for any month since September, 1914, when business was feeling the paralysis of the war. Imports amounted to $176,000,000, the poorest June since 1915. Exports for the first half year were about 38 per cent below 1930 and imports nearly as much. Although the decline in commodity prices must be considered, the drop has been only about 17 per cent from a year ago, which means that other factors have weighed heavily.

Weekly review of retail and wholesale trade were fairly optimistic. Dun's said the normal summer contraction was "less marked than is usual at this period" and that the volume in some basic lines had exceedeed earlier expectations. Indices of commodity prices, however, showed another sag.

Revival of the Montgomery Ward-Sears Roebuck rumor, which has been appearing intermittently for some time, found both stocks responsive. It was reported that shareholders of the former company who favor a consolidation, had completed a survey of the problems involved, although no decision had been reached on what further steps will be taken.

Rail Issues Rise.

Several rail issues rose a couple of points or more, including New York Central, Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Rock Island and Norfolk & Western. Industrials were mostly firm, although U. S. Steel closed half a point lower after making an extreme gain of 1¾. There were fractional net advances in numerous other favorites.

American Telephone fared better, holding half of a 2-point gain. International Shoe, McKeesport and Midland Steel Products were strong.

Small fractional losses in wheat were attributed to renewed hedging, quiet foreign demand and favorable Canadian reports. Corn was heavy, down 1¼ to 2 cents on predictions of cooler weather and larger country offerings. Cotton was quiet, off 6 to up 2 at the close.

Foreign exchanges were comparatively quiet. Sterling dipped well under the theoretical gold point and the French franc again gave ground, but the Dutch guilder rallied to a new 1931 high. Swiss, Swedish and Italian currencies were also strong.

BOND PRICES HIGHER ON LIGHTER TRADING

New York, July 17 (A.P.).—The bond market provided a series of interesting movements. Trading was unusually restricted. Sales on the Stock Exchange aggregated $8,011,000, the smallest turnover for a full session since May 4, when the total was $6,891,000.

Closing prices were higher, although at times the movements of some groups were not definite. The average price of 30 representative issues consisting of ten bonds each of railroad, public utility and industrial obligations was 95.5, compared with 95.2 yesterday.

German loans made further gains during the forenoon, but lost most of them in the early afternoon before a late rally pushed them higher than yesterday's final sales. The trading at all times was much less nervous than earlier this week. The 5½ per cent issue of the national government made a net fractional gain and the 7s of 1949 jumped 2 points.

Other German loans closed irregularly higher, the net gains in many of them were much larger. Other foreign issues were somewhat higher also, with Argentine and Brizilian loans advancing sharply. Chilean obligations slumped to new low levels for this year as a result of the moratorium, announced yesterday.

Domestic corporate obligations displayed strength, although with few exceptions the trading in them was dull. Bonds of all groups and credit ratings shared in the movement.

American & Foreign Power 5s, Atchison general 4s Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, Certain-teed 5½s, International Telephone 5s of 1955, International Match convertible 5s, Missouri Pacific (series 1) 5s, Pennsylvania gold 6½s Southern Pacific 4½s of 1981 and Texas Corporation 5s and Standard Oil of New York 4½s were some of the more active issues to appreciate.

The bids opened yesterday for $20,000,000 of 3½ per cent bonds of the State of New Jersey have been rejected.

METROPOLITAN AREA POPULATION WILL BE MADE PUBLIC TODAY

Census Bureau Will Supply Official Figures to Commerce Body.

LITTLE CHANGE SEEN FROM POST ESTIMATE

Official population of Greater Washington, comprising the District of Columbia and surrounding territory in nearby Maryland and Virginia, will be revealed today in a compilation to be sent the Washington Chamber of Commerce by the Census Bureau, it was learned last night.

The data will be sent by William M. Steuart, director of the Census Bureau, to Dorsey W. Hyde, jr., executive secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce. The figures are expected to be approximately the same as those reported in The Post on January 28, which gave the Greater Washington area a population of 648,604.

The territory, embracing this population, includes a land area of 957.19 square miles with a density of 677.61 per square mile, according to The Post calculation. Of this territory an area of 601.85 square miles is in Maryland, with a total population of 91,589 and a density of 152.18. The territory in Virginia amounts to 293.34 square miles, with a population of 70,146 and a density of 239.13.

Figures Brought Complaint.

The census of 1930 gave the District of Columbia, representing a 62-square-mile area, a population of 486,869 and a population density of 7,852.72 per square mile. The Greater Washington estimates are an outgrowth of city-wide complaint that the 1930 census did not give a true population picture of Washington because it did not take in area that was really a part of the National Capital, despite the boundary line of the District. It was in response to this complaint that The Post, through the aid of census figures from the various surrounding sections, compiled a population of the Greater Washington area.

The territory in Maryland included in the Greater Washington area takes in portions of both Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties. Montgomery County contributes 215.95 square miles, with a total population of 36,012 and a density of 166.76. Prince Georges gives its bit in the form of 385.90 square miles with a population of 55,577 and a density of 144.02.

Territory in Virginia.

Out of Virginia the Greater Washington area slices Alexandria City, Arlington County and part of Fairfax County. Alexandria has a land area of 8 square miles, a total population of 24,149 and a population density of 3,018.63 per square mile. Arlington County has a land area of 25 square miles, a population of 26,615 and a density of 1,064.6 per square mile. The Washington territory in Fairfax County totals 260.34 square miles, a total population of 19,382 and a density of 74.45 per square mile.

The Washington territory in Montgomery County, Maryland, includes Rockville, with a population of 4,684; Colesville, 2,306; Bethesda, 12,018; Olney, 2,492; Potomac, 1,135; Wheaton, 13,377, and the incorporations of Brookeville, 112; Garret Park, 295; Glen Echo, 222; Kensington, 948; Northwest Park, 133; Rockville, 1,422; Somerset, 298; part of Takoma Park, 5,437.

Figures for Prince Georges.

The Washington territory in Prince Georges County, Md., includes Vansville, with 1,521 residents; Bladensburg, 4,318; Marlboro, 1,798; Piscataway, 2,297; Spalding, 3,921; Queen Ann, 1,672; Surratts, 1,480; Laurel, 3,151; Oxon Hill, 1,809; Kent, 1,816; Bowie, 2,672; Mellwood, 1,510; Hyattsville, 5,198; Chillum, 8,214; Seat Pleasant, 7,022; Riverdale, 2,895; Lanham, 1,135; Berwyn, 3,148; and the incorporations of Berwyn Heights, 228; Bladensburg, 816; Boulevard Heights, 227; Bowie, 694; Brentwood, 1,842; Capitol Heights, 1,611; Colmar Manor, 1,225; Cottage City, 938; Edmonston, 717; Fairmont Heights, 1,218; Hyattsville, 4,264; Laurel, 2,532; Mount Rainier, 3,832; North Brentwood, 641; Piscataway, 50; Riverdale, 1,533; Riverdale Heights, 405; Upper Marlboro, 420; part of Takoma Park, 978.

Arlington County, Va., includes Arlington District, with a population of 17,845; Jefferson District, with a population of 3,104, and the town of Falls Church, with a population of 5,666

The territory in Fairfax County, Va., includes Falls Church District, with a population of 4,173; Lee District, 2,912; Mount Vernon District, 5,079; Providence District, 7,218, and the towns of Fairfax, with a population of 640, and Vienna, with a population of 903.

Judge Scores Arrest Of Spiritualist Pastor

MRS. CAROL E. McKINSTRY, ordained minister of the Gospel of Spiritualism, who was cleared yesterday of a charge of operating as an "unlicensed medium." Inset is Policewoman Louise F. Kelly, who made the charge against Mrs. McKinstry.

Mattingly, Who Frees Woman, Denounces Entrapment.

Declaring that "there was an entrapment of the defendant in this case, with criminal intent originating in the mind of the entrapping person, and that the accused was lured into commission of the offense charged in order to prosecute her," Judge Robert E. Mattingly in the Police Court yesterday dismissed a charge of "unlicensed medium" against the Rev. Mrs. Carol E. McKinstry, ordained minister of the Gospel of Spiritualism.

In granting the motion of Attorney Paul J. Sedgwick, defense counsel, for dismissal of the charge, which grew out of the surprise arrest of his client last April, Judge Mattingly also found that, despite evidence by Policewoman Louise F. Kelly "that the defendant used certain cards and a glass crystal ball to foresee and tell the future," there was "not sufficient evidence to support the charge" and also that "one act of mediumship or fortune telling does not constitute 'engaging' within the meaning of the law."

The opinion further states that "the policewoman in this case urged and persuaded, if she did not beg, the defendant to tell her fortune in this case" and that "the prosecuting witness testified that, without identifying herself, she telephoned to the defendant in an attempt to secure a reading * * * that the defendant refused, saying she was not giving any readings now * * * and that the prosecuting witness persisted in her request for a reading on a 'particular day' because 'next week I will be doing my housecleaning.'"

In his motion for a directed finding of not guilty, Attorney Sedgwick, who represents the Nationalist Spiritualist Association, pleaded that "the information failed to charge and the evidence failed to prove that the defendant did engage as an unlicensed medium" and that "the defendant was entrapped into committing the offense."

The findings of Judge Mattingly were hailed yesterday by Attorney Sedgewick and the association he represents as another victory in their fight to evoke ultimately from the Supreme Court of the United States a definite opinion to emancipate members of the association from long oppressing conflicts of law in many States.

The case decided by Judge Mattingly is the fourth to occupy attention of courts in the District within the last two years and in three of them Mr. Sedgwick has been successful. Judge Gus A. Schuldt, in February, 1929, found the Rev. John J. Carroll and the Rev. Lillie Grant, both mediums and ordained ministers of Spiritualism, not guilty on charges of violating the District license act in not obtaining the $25 license required of clairvoyants, palmists, soothsayers and the like operating for profit.

Judge Ralph Given, in Police Court, in January, 1930, heard charges against another ordained minister of Spiritualism involving alleged violations of the District license act.

"As a minister of the Spiritualist Church, she has a right to conduct seances," he said. "The law does not forbid this lady from acting as a medium."

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, in the last Congress introduced a bill to amend the District code and designed to protect ministers of and accredited representatives of every religion, including Spiritualists.

Mrs. McKinstry is reputed to have gained prominence recently in writing a motion picture scenario based on messages allegedly coming to her from the spirit of Rudolph Valentino.

Mrs. Kelly, the policewoman who testified against Mrs. McKinstry, gained prominence at the time of her clash with Lieut. Mina Van Winkle, head of the Woman's Bureau, who accused her of neglect of duty, and of giving false statements to her superiors. She was cleared by the police trial board.

Commission Approves Two School Additions

Plans and specifications for two school additions were approved yesterday by the District Commissioners. One was for a ten-room addition, a gymnasium, a lunch room and kitchen at Macfarland Junior High School, Iowa avenue and Allison street northwest.

The other was for a gymnasium at Randall Junior High School, First and I streets southwest.

Man Seriously Hurt by Brick.

Struck on the head by a brick accidentally dropped from the sixth floor of a building under construction at Third street and Rhode Island avenue northeast yesterday afternon, Charles Patterson, colored, 38 years old, 435 L street northwest, is in a critical condition in Casualty Hospital. He has a fractured skull.

And corks, no matter what they seem,
Are bad, fried, boiled or stewed.

The box that holds your cigarettes
Is not a tonic, and
It will occasion deep regrets
To eat a rubber band.

The box that holds a pair of shoes
Is not a banquet treat;
The wrapper on your morning news
Is not so good to eat.

ONE should avoid the metal caps
That seal the ginger ale;
Who knows but that they may perhaps
Make gastric juices fail?

The straw around a case of rye
Should not be eaten hot;
The paper plates that hold a pie
Won't nourish you a lot.

A paper drinking cup, dear me!
Will not suffice for lunch,
And paper towels certainly
Are not a dish to munch.

The paper cover on a book
Lacks vitamins called A,
And quite regardless of the cook,
It makes a bum souffle.

The stopper on a bottle top
Is not an apple tart,
And wrappers on a lollipop
Are awful a-la-carte.

So if you'd go on living well
And choose to feel quite good,
Just stick to what the grocer sells
Provided it is food.

A Terrible Threat.

RACKETEERS have been operating in United States prisons, collecting from prisoners for favors and running the institutions with a high hand. Probably they told the inmates that if they didn't do as they were told they would get into trouble.

It is a good thing the authorities discovered the racketeering in penal institutions and called a halt before the racketeers made it impossible for man to get into prison without money.

Would you say that those courtesy cops appointed by Commissioner Mulrooney of New York were patrolling their Emily Posts?

A MAN struck a woman for smoking cigarettes in public in New York the other day. How about a new slogan for lady smokers, "Keep Missable?"

Whatever became of the Chinese war, and hasn't President Hoover been asked for a loan to keep it going?

Sign over the bar in a Broadway night club: "Don't Ask Me to Cash Checks; We'd Rather Argue a Debt Suspension."

Add similes: As exaggerated as the newspaper estimates of the cost of a racketeer's funeral.

Slaying Gun Brings Man 2-Year Term

Waddell Admits Theft of Pistol That Killed Brandenburg.

Pleading guilty to a charge of stealing a pistol from William E. Waddell, of 637 I street northwest, Nelson Harrison, 35 years old, who is under investigation by the grand jury in connection with the fatal shooting of Charles Frederick Brandenburg, 38 years old, and the father of seven children, was sentenced to serve a year in jail and pay a fine of $500 by Judge Robert E. Mattingly in Police Court yesterday.

In lieu of the fine, Harrison will have to serve an additional year.

Police say that Harrison was sitting in the rear seat of an automobile fingering the pistol and that Brandenburg was sitting in the front seat. The weapon was discharged, and the bullet entered Brandenburg's body. He died shortly afterward. A coroner's jury heard the case and ordered that Harrison be held for the action of the grand jury. The pistol that figured in the shooting is the one the man pleaded guilty to stealing.

BOARDS NOW AGREE ON ORDER TO BUSES

Rumored difficulties between the Public Utilities Commission and the District Commissioners over the manner of approval of the interstate bus order by the Joint Traffic Board, composed of the two bodies, were reported settled yesterday following a conference between Harleigh H. Hartman, vice chairman of the commission, and acting Corporation Counsel Vernon L. West.

Certain words were changed in the order so that it would be clear that the final authority in the matter of general traffic regulation rests with the Joint Board under the new traffic act. The order now reads that the document is "adopted" rather than "approved" by the board.

Another change was made to the effect that bus operators concerned must make reports by August 15 on their routes, terminals, and the like to "proper authorities" instead of to the Public Utilities Commission.

Disagreed on Form Only.

The only disagreement between the two District bodies was said to be over the form of the order rather than its content.

While the order has not yet been issued, officials of some of the bus lines affected were reported to be planning to challenge the authority of the Joint Board by erecting terminals in violation of the order in the congested zone.

L. C. Major, regional manager of the Greyhound Lines, which is in the zone that must be vacated by April 1, 1932, said that his company plans to erect a terminal in the first zone and would then let the District authorities try to oust the bus line.

One Line Defies Board.

Officials of the Great Eastern Stages, which so far has successfully defied the Public Utilities Commission in maintaining a terminal at 1349 E street, stated that they would stay where they are until instructed to move by the central office at Cleveland.

Counsel of the two District bodies, however, expressed confidence that the new order would be upheld by the courts if any of the bus operators defied it. Previously, they explained, there was a serious question as to where the power of regulating common carriers rested; but the new act clearly states that the authority to regulate the routes of interstate buses is vested in the utilities body save when an order affecting the general traffic situation is promulgated. In such a case the order must be adopted by the Joint Board.

AVENUE BLOCK PRICE IS SET AT $877,824

Eleven Parcels of Land in Building Area to Be Condemned.

A price of $877,824 will be paid by the Government for the block on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets and B street northwest. There are eleven parcels of land in the block and a condemnation jury yesterday reported to Justice James M. Proctor its estimated fair price for the land, which is to be used in the building progrom.

The Commercial Hotel, the Colonial Ice Cream Co. and the old American House are some of the properties that will be condemned. Parcel 5, belonging to the ice cream company, will cost the Government $289,540.

The American House site brought $102,190. Other awards were: Commercial Hotel, $95,000; 608 Pennsylvania avenue and 609 B street, $56,655; 612 Pennsylvania avenue and 613 B street, $53,540; 631 B street, $27,750; 201 Seventh street, $76,100; 205 Seventh street, $44,400; 211 Seventh street, $33,534; 213 Seventh street, $28,250; 637 Pennsylvania avenue, $70,050.

The jury was composed of George W. Huguely, John W. Hardell, B. P. Lamperton, Louis M. Thayer and Henry S. Miller. Henry H. Glassie, Arthur G. Lambert and Alexander H. Bell, jr., represented the Government.

Man Refused Plea For Jail Sentence

Rheem Noteholder Says He Will Violate Law to Get Food and Lodging.

Judge Ralph Given yesterday refused to send to jail a man who appeared before him and requested that he be sent away so that he would have a place to sleep and some food to eat.

The man, Ernst Beelitz, 58 years old, at one time owned a small farm in Florida. He and his wife, who is now with her mother in Eatonton, Ga., invested more than $7,000 in Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey mortgage notes, depending upon that for a meager income.

The income stopped, and now the German-born farmer finds himself almost helpless. He is too worn out to do arduous work, and he has roamed the streets ever since he came here to see about his investment. He promised that he would violate some law so that the judge could send him to jail. Police Court attaches said he vowed he would be back today with a charge against him.

Man Falls From Truck And Is Crushed to Death

Hine Jackson, colored, 20 years old, of 314 Fifty-third street northeast, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon when he fell from a truck at Fifth and R streets northwest. He was crushed beneath the wheels of the heavy vehicle

According to witnesses, Jackson, who had been riding on the truck, suddenly lost his balance, and as he fell the wheels of the machine passed over his body. Jackson was removed to the District Morgue by members of the Fire Rescue Squad, where an inquest will be held today.

DETECTIVES MUST FACE TRIAL BOARD

Recommendations were made yesterday by Inspector Louis J. Stoll, commander of the First Police District, that Detectives Robert L. Jones and Richard F. McCarty, of the Tenth Precinct, be brought before the Police Trial Board to answer charges of an alleged attack on two men and a 4-year-old girl, while investigating a reported robbery in a house at 1122 Spring road northwest, June 27.

Inspector Stoll, in his report to Maj. Henry G. Pratt, recommended the officers be taken before the trial board to clear up several conflicting statements made by the detectives and the complainants in their affidavits.

The charges grew out of an alleged attack on Mrs. Walter Sawyer and Miss Elsie Williams, both of the Spring road address, and Joseph Pesavage, a soldier attached to Walter Reed Hospital. In affidavits filed with Maj. Pratt early this week, it was charged that Jones and McCarty struck Walter Sawyer and Pesavage with brass knuckles, and that Jones kicked Sawyer's small daughter, Phyllis, in the face when she grabbed the policeman's leg. The two officers had been called to the house to investigate the robbery, and declared they found a party in progress when they arrived.

The two detectives will remain on duty, Inspector Stoll said, until their arraignment before the board next Wednesday.

Charges Piled Up On Signal Failure

Liquor Is Found in Car of Man Who Neglected to Wave Hand.

Five traffic charges and one liquor law violation charge were placed against William Mitchell, colored, in Police Court yesterday because he failed to hold out his hand when he turned into an alley.

His failure was noted by a policeman who set out after Mitchell. The latter led the policeman a merry chase before he was captured, and by that time he had broken the speed law, had gone the wrong way on a one-way street, had failed to stop coming out of an alley and had failed to signal. He was fined $40.

The police found, they said, two cases of liquor in the car. Mitchell's original violation occurred when he turned into an alley on T street, near Seventeenth street northwest, without signaling. The liquor charge has not yet been heard in court.

LAST OLD RESIDENCE DOWNTOWN IS SOLD

Foreclosure Auction Is Held for Property in Heart of Business Area.

Premises at 1344 G street northwest, a three-story and basement brick building, said to be the last residential structure in the heart of the downtown business district, was sold at public auction yesterday to Garfield I. Kass, real estate dealer, for $50,000. The property was foreclosed under a $100,000 first trust and Mr. Kass, owner of the trust, bought it in. The sale was advertised by the National Savings & Trust Co., as trustees.

The property, once the residence of Dr. Stanton, physician for the old Riggs House, is now vacant, save for a barber shop and hair dressing establishment in the basement.

The flight of steps leading from the front door to G street is said to have been the cause of a famous lawsuit. When the neighborhood became congested as a growing business center, some nearby establishment brought suit against the owner of the house for having steps running out on a business street. The resultant legal battle revealed that there was no District law preventing this.

A. C. Hagar, promoter and builder of the Washington Building, who was killed in an automobile accident, was among former owners of the building, although District records have the ownership listed in his wife's name. No official record shows the builder or architect, although the Riker Realty Co. is the first owner listed.

Current assessed value of the land and building is placed on the tax books at $105,540. Vernon G. Owen, of Thomas J. Owen & Son, conducted the sale.
